Scores Of Homes Demolished

5 Killed, 21 Others Hurt In Tornado-Torn States

By The Associated Press

Rains swept wide areas of the Mid-Continent Monday on the heels of tornadoes which slashed through six states over the weekend, killing five persons, injuring at least 21 and causing heavy property damage.

Scores of homes were demolished, huge semi-trailer trucks were tossed about like leaves and the four-building Iowa community of Fansler was wiped out in tornadoes which lashed Texas, Iowa, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and Wisconsin Sunday.

Tornadoes whipped through Oklahoma both Saturday and Sunday with roars which sounded to a farm wife "like a thousand winds blowing in all directions at the same time." It was in the Oklahoma town of Frisco that a twister killed five persons and injured nine.

Heavy hail storms followed the tornadoes in a number of communities. Then came the rains. Hail the size of baseballs fell in the vicinity of Corpus Christi, Tex., and egg-size hail covered the ground near Austin.

By states, this was the tornado-drawn picture:

TEXAS—Ten tornadoes danced through Texas, injuring at least six persons and causing an estimated $300,000 property damage. One smashed into a residential and industrial area in northern Austin and another lashed a rural area seven miles south of the community of Hearne. It was in that rural area that the six persons were hurt.

OKLAHOMA — The community of Frisco, in the southeastern section of the state about 12 miles south of Ada, suffered probably the heaviest tornado damage. Five persons were killed there and nine others injured. The twisters also whipped through the resort area around the Grand Lake in Northeastern Oklahoma, causing high property damage and injuring two.

IOWA—Buildings on 14 farms were flattened, the four-building community of Fansler was wiped out, and 70 head of cattle, 5,000 young turkeys and 700 hens destroyed in the weekend tornadoes. Only one man was injured. The communities of Guthrie Center, Yale, Rippey and Bagley also suffered property damage.

WISCONSIN — A tornado cut through sections of Green Bay and the suburbs of Preble and Ashwaubenom, injuring three persons, demolishing six homes and heavily damaging 50 others. Roofs were ripped from two paper company warehouses and four industrial buildings were demolished. High voltage wires were downed.

KANSAS and MISSOURI—Small tornadoes causing minor property damage in Elwood, Kan., across the Missouri River from St. Joseph, Mo., and at Elmo in the northwest corner of Missouri. At St. Joseph, winds unroofed an old theater.

Storm Sounded Like 'A Thousand Winds'

At her feet were a few dishes, some clothing and the door of the house where she and her husband lived. The rest of the structure was scattered over the countryside.

"I had time to get to my shelter. Then I heard it coming over," she said, referring to the tornado which had killed 5 of her neighbors and injured 9 others in the community of Frisco.

East Germany Stirs Deadlock

Herter Joins In Informal Discussions

Compromise Sought Over Russian Move On Satellite Rights

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers conference ran aground today on Soviet insistence that East Germany participate fully.

The formal opening of the meeting at the Palace of Nations was postponed. U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and his counterparts from the Soviet Union, Britain and France met informally at a British villa in an effort to solve the dispute.

Andrew H. Berding, assistant U.S. secretary of state, said he did not expect the formal opening ceremonies before Tuesday.

The Western powers, regarding East Germany as a Soviet satellite, opposed the Soviet demand that the regime have the right of full participation in the Big Four sessions. The West offered, however, to work out some compromise arrangement to give delegations from both East Germany and West Germany the right to speak under certain conditions.

A British delegation spokesman said the informal meeting was arranged during a brief discussion between British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The two had met in a futile effort to settle the dispute.

The spokesman said Lloyd and Gromyko decided that as things stand now there was no chance of the formal conference beginning on schedule and they agreed to postpone it.

The spokesman insisted that despite the postponement of the formal opening session, the conference actually has started.

"We are in the middle of one of the fundamental issues which we expected the Geneva conference would have to face," said one high official.

Diplomatic quarters also reported a complete tie-up in the four power liaison group which had been trying to agree on the size and shape of the table to be used at the conference.

The Soviet Union wants a round table on the theory it will make it easier to expand the conference. The Soviets would like to have Poland and Czechoslovakia, as well as East Germany, at the meetings. The West favors a square table, limiting the conference to four powers, one at each side.

The Big Four foreign ministers were being entertained at a luncheon by the Swiss Federal Council.

Georges Palthey, deputy chief of the U.N. headquarters here, went to the luncheon in the hope of getting a decision out of the minis-

Macmillan Backs Ike In Letter To Khrush

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan has sent Premier Khrushchev another letter apparently supporting President Eisenhower's latest call for agreement on a limited nuclear test ban.

A spokesman said Macmillan's letter "links up very much with the Washington announcement."

Congressional sources said in Washington Saturday that Eisenhower had made the point that the Russians should be willing to agree to a limited ban on readily detected tests in the atmosphere even if they were unwilling to accept an inspection agreement.

Palestine Man Loses Limb In Crash At Unity

Car Leaves Highway On Curve; Motorist Pinned In Wreck

A 32-year-old East Palestine area motorist is in "fairly good" condition today at Salem City Hospital with injuries—including loss of a leg—suffered when his car veered off a curve near Unity early yesterday morning.

Howard L. Bush of East Palestine R. D. suffered amputation of his right leg, fractures of the left ankle and abrasions of the back and hands when his car swerved off County Rd. 437 about two miles south of Unity at 1:45 a. m., the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Bush was pinned in the wrecked auto for a short time after it ripped out 15 feet of guard rail, officers said. He faces a charge of driving left of center.

Moderate damage occurred when a car driven by Patricia Allen, 17, of 416 W. 5th St. collided with another auto at the intersection of Routes 170 and 30 Sunday night at 7 p. m.

The patrol said the girl, driving southwest on Route 170, failed to halt for a stop sign and struck a car on Route 30 driven by Kyle Dotson, 29, of R. D. 2. She was cited for failure to halt for a stop sign.

2 Women Hospitalized In Crash At Wellsville

Two elderly Wellsville women were hospitalized with injuries received in a two-car collision at 16th St. and Maple Ave., Wellsville, Sunday at 12:30 p. m.

Police said cars driven by Richard R. Russell, 23, of 405 Buckeye Ave., and Ted Garner, 925½ Main St., collided as Garner was making a left turn off 16th St. onto Maple.

Passengers in Russell's car injured were Mrs. Rose Malone, 75, of 809 Commerce St., who is in "satisfactory" condition today at Osteopathic Hospital; Mrs. Mary Lewis, of 547 Buckeye Ave., who also is in "satisfactory" condition with a fractured wrist, and Mrs. Nan O. Russell, 61, who was examined and released.

Mrs. Malone and Mrs. Lewis are sisters.

Industry-Wide Talks

USW Stress Due On Shorter Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Industry-wide steel negotiations open today with the Steelworkers Union expected to demand shorter hours and more pay.

Four-man industry and union teams will attempt to agree on a new contract in time to prevent a strike by a half million steelworkers July 1.

The industry-wide talks replace the dozen company sessions held with the union last week.

David J. McDonald, president of the Steelworkers, said Sunday that unemployment is one of the most important issues. He said he wants employment security to be the first item on the agenda.

"Our view is that the way to achieve this desirable goal," he said, "is a balanced program of reducing hours, increasing purchasing power by improved wages and other benefits, and appropriate revisions in our pensions."

This was the first official indication that shorter hours would be sought. Previously the union had indicated only that it would ask for substantial wage increases.

A published report that the Steelworkers had demanded an immediate average work week of 38 hours at the present 40-hour wage level was denied by R. Conrad Cooper, chief negotiator for management. Cooper, a vice president of U.S. Steel, said he knew nothing of such a demand.

The preliminary talks last week were described as constructive by both sides, who pledged to work hard to reach agreement in the seven weeks before the old contract expires on June 30.

Both sides were clearly poles apart.

Last week industry again proposed an extension of present contracts for one year to prevent another wage-price spiral. The union again rejected it.

Cooper said increased steel labor costs would be inflationary, whether requiring price increases or not.

Steel profits are running at a record level and this, coupled productivity, McDonald said, means that substantial wage increases can be allowed without either raising prices or restricting profits.

Ohio Leaders Seek Answer To Tax Tangle

Legislators Move Into 19th Week Of Present Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A snarl of administration bills to boost taxes confronts Ohio legislators starting their 19th week of work today.

Leaders of the Democratic Majority were busy over the weekend seeking a solution to the tangle building up in the Senate for several weeks.

The House has passed measures to increase taxes on cigarettes, 3.2 beer, gasoline, diesel fuel, horse race betting and corporations. Representatives also expect to pass within two weeks Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's $1,808,496,000 budget bill to run the state for the next two years.

The Senate has yet to bring any of the House-passed measures to a vote on the floor. And, in addition, the Senate Taxation Committee continues to sit on a key measure in the governor's program to raise an extra 365 million dollars for his outlined state needs.

That measure is the Senate's own bill to increase sales taxes about 120 million dollars in the next two years. Opposition of Democrat committee members has left the bill one vote short of the six needed to recommend it for passage. Objections center on sections to lift tax exemptions on farm and factory machinery and to do away with the tax stamps redeemed by church, charitable and other organizations.

DiSalle remains adamant against cuts in his program and warns that he will not consider appropriations until he knows the fate of his revenue-raising measures.

Leaders of the Democrat Majority in the Legislature express concern over the situation but insist it has not yet become serious. They agree that a prolonged deadlock might expose tax-increase proposals to defeat or major revision. They cautiously predict a turning point within a week or two.

For the first order of business, the House scheduled a vote on a bill by Rep. Michael A. Sweeney (D-Cuyahoga) carrying stiff penalties for aggravated assault. The former assistant Cuyahoga County prosecutor said present law permits only a workhouse sentence

Winnie Urges Strong Tie As He Ends Visit

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill returned home today from what may have been his last visit to America.

Smiling and spruce in a homburg and gray suit with a red rose in his lapel, the British statesman was greeted at the airport by his wife, who kissed him on both cheeks.

U. S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney also came out to welcome Churchill home.

Sir Winston was misty-eyed Sunday night as he boarded the British jetliner at New York's Idlewild Airport.

This was Churchill's ninth visit to the United States since the first dark days of World War II.

Churchill, 84 and ailing, paused at the ramp as he boarded the plane, and delivered a brief message. Then he waved his black homburg at the crowd of several hundred gathered to see him off.

In Washington Churchill visited with President Eisenhower.

But there was much of the old warror evident as he stood on the ramp at the airport.

"Ladies and gentlemen, I must now leave you and return to Britain, my other country," he said. "I have had a happy stay in the United States, and I have been touched, much touched, by the warmth of your welcome."

Tears appeared in his eyes as he continued.

"I will now say goodbye to you all, and particularly to my old friend, Mr. Baruch, with whom I have worked over the years. I would like to bid you farewell in this key: as long as the United States and Great Britain are united and bound together, the future is one of high hopes both for ourselves and the whole free world."

Dulles Grows Weaker After Pneumonia

WASHINGTON (AP)—No change was reported today in the condition of John Foster Dulles, weakened by pneumonia in his fight against cancer.

The former secretary of state's sister, Eleanor Dulles, returned to Washington Sunday night because she felt "I should be nearer home at this time." She had been in Berlin representing the State Department at the 10th anniversary of the lifting of the Berlin blockade.

The State Department said Saturday that Dulles had developed a mild case of pneumonia, but his temperature had returned to normal after treatment.

Ike Asks U.S. Take Part In Bank System

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to approve U.S. participation in establishment of an inter-American development bank.

For the United States to join, Eisenhower said "will be a most significant step in the history of our economic relations with our Latin-American neighbors."

Establishment of the billion-dollar bank was recommended by representatives of the 21 American republics after a three-month conference here starting last Jan. 8. The participating nations would provide the capital.

The United States would invest 450 million dollars. The Latin-American republics would put up the rest.

The President said he is strongly of the opinion the United States should support creation of the bank because of this country's special relationship with Latin America, and because of "the pressing economic and social problems in the area."

Club's Steward Fined By Mayor At Wellsville

Earl Steffen, 611 15th St., Wellsville, steward at the Wellsville Eagles Lodge, was fined on a liquor law violation at a hearing Saturday before Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville.

He was assessed $25 for selling liquor to non-members. Steffen was cited Saturday afternoon by a State Liquor Control agent, according to Shoub.

Further Improvement Due In U.S. Job Picture

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new government report on the nation's job situation today is expected to show a booming business is providing more and more jobs to ease unemployment.

Served Here Until 1951

W. G. Fordyce Claimed; Former City School Head

Dr. W. G. Fordyce, superintendent of Euclid schools and head of city schools here from 1945 to 1951, died suddenly at 10 a. m. today at his home.

Dr. Fordyce has been head of Euclid schools since 1952 after serving one year as superintendent of Oak Ridge (Tenn.) schools. He was about 57.

Dr. Fordyce came to East Liverpool in the summer of 1945 from Euclid, a Cleveland suburb, where he was high school principal. He received a three-year contract here. It was renewed in 1948 and renewed again in 1951, but he resigned shortly afterward to accept the Tennessee post. Word of his death was received here about noon.

When he took the post here, he succeeded Martin W. Essex. Supt. Ralph W. Betts, then high school principal, was named to replace Fordyce when he resigned.

Commenting today on his death, Betts said, "He was one of the finest educators I ever worked with."

A native of Columbus, he was graduated from Ohio State University, completing his bachelor's master's and doctorate degrees there.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Betty Fordyce; two daughters and seven grandchildren.

Dulles Grows Weaker After Pneumonia

WASHINGTON (AP)—No change was reported today in the condition of John Foster Dulles, weakened by pneumonia in his fight against cancer.

The former secretary of state's sister, Eleanor Dulles, returned to Washington Sunday night because she felt "I should be nearer home at this time." She had been in Berlin representing the State Department at the 10th anniversary of the lifting of the Berlin blockade.

The State Department said Saturday that Dulles had developed a mild case of pneumonia, but his temperature had returned to normal after treatment.

Ike Asks U.S. Take Part In Bank System

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to approve U.S. participation in establishment of an inter-American development bank.

For the United States to join, Eisenhower said "will be a most significant step in the history of our economic relations with our Latin-American neighbors."

Establishment of the billion-dollar bank was recommended by representatives of the 21 American republics after a three-month conference here starting last Jan. 8. The participating nations would provide the capital.

The United States would invest 450 million dollars. The Latin-American republics would put up the rest.

The President said he is strongly of the opinion the United States should support creation of the bank because of this country's special relationship with Latin America, and because of "the pressing economic and social problems in the area."

8 Killed In Poland

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Eight persons were killed and 19 seriously injured Sunday when a train crashed into a truck at Hajnowka, in northeast Poland. Of the 28 persons on the truck, only the driver escaped unhurt.

W. G. Fordyce Claimed; Former City School Head

Dr. W. G. Fordyce, superintendent of Euclid schools and head of city schools here from 1945 to 1951, died suddenly at 10 a. m. today at his home.

Dr. Fordyce has been head of Euclid schools since 1952 after serving one year as superintendent of Oak Ridge (Tenn.) schools. He was about 57.

Dr. Fordyce came to East Liverpool in the summer of 1945 from Euclid, a Cleveland suburb, where he was high school principal. He received a three-year contract here. It was renewed in 1948 and renewed again in 1951, but he resigned shortly afterward to accept the Tennessee post. Word of his death was received here about noon.

When he took the post here, he succeeded Martin W. Essex. Supt. Ralph W. Betts, then high school principal, was named to replace Fordyce when he resigned.

Commenting today on his death, Betts said, "He was one of the finest educators I ever worked with."

A native of Columbus, he was graduated from Ohio State University, completing his bachelor's master's and doctorate degrees there.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Betty Fordyce; two daughters and seven grandchildren.

Council Aspirant Files For Cumberland Voting

NEW CUMBERLAND — Joseph Burskey of Eden Valley was the final candidate to file for office in the June 9 municipal non-partisan election as the deadline arrived Saturday at 5 p. m.

Burskey filed Saturday afternoon for Ward Two councilman. He will be opposed by Jacob Baxter, Jessie Cullen and Elmer Swearingen.

Voters will elect a mayor from three candidates in addition to four councilmen.

Survivors include a son, Robert Roland Hale of Clare, Mich.; two sisters, Mrs. Alice Thayer and Mrs. Kathryn Carson, both of New Cumberland; two brothers, W. G. Hale of New Cumberland, and Ronald George (Archie) Hale of Warren, and one grandchild.

Private services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Stewart & Turley Funeral Home. The Rev. William H. Flurkey of the Fairview Presbyterian Church in Pughtown will officiate. Burial arrangements are incomplete.

26-Year-Old Car, Driver, 13, Figure In Weekend Accidents

A broken tie rod on a 26-year-old auto and a tire blowout on a 1959 car operated by a 13-year-old boy were blamed for two of the city's six traffic mishaps over the weekend, police said.

A drunk driver was involved in another mishap and two other accidents were blamed on hit-skip motorists, officers said.

Thomas Henry Lawrence, 17, of 220 Haywood St. escaped injury at 11:45 a. m. Sunday when his car struck a tree on St. Clair Ave. near Burrows Ave., police said.

The youth told police he was headed south about 20 miles an hour in his 1933 coupe when it began to pull to the right. He said he applied the brakes but was unable to stop and struck the tree.

Officers said investigation showed the tie rod had broken and the driver had no control. The coupe was demolished, they added.

The front wheel assembly, bumper and fender of a 1959 sedan were damaged when it hit a curb after blowing a tire Saturday at the three-way intersection of Ambrose Ave., Vine St. and Maine Blvd.

James Karcher, 13, of 912 Bradshaw Ave. told police he was headed north on Vine St. and was at the intersection when the tire blew out and the auto struck the curb. In the excitement, he told officers he stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake. The car is owned by Robert Karcher of Cleveland, police said.

John W. Halfhill, 808 Commerce St., Wellsville, was fined $300 and costs and sentenced to jail for 10 days in Municipal Court today on a drunk driving charge as the aftermath of an accident Saturday night on W. 8th St. with another Wellsville man's auto.

James H. Wilson, 58, of 1016 Beech St. told police he was headed east and stopped behind Halfhill's car, which kept drifting backwards, finally hitting his car.

Patricia L. Watson, 742 St. Clair Ave., told officers the headlight of her parked 1957 car was broken when struck by a rock thrown by a car driven by Everett Jenkins of St. Mary's. The mishap occurred Saturday at 8 p. m., she said.

James E. Birkhimer, 38, of 804 Morton St. told police the right front fender of his car was damaged shortly after 5 p. m. Saturday at E. 5th and Washington Sts. when hit by a Pennsylvania auto.

Birkhimer told police the other motorist pulled from the curb and hit his fender. He said the driver stopped but refused to give his name and drove off. He gave police the license number of the auto.

Robert A. Ingram, 531 Washington St., Newell, told police his car was struck by a hit-skip driver while parked at Washington St. and Broadway Saturday afternoon.

Carroll Gets Contract On New Police Cruiser

A contract to furnish a new police cruiser has been let to Carroll Motor Sales, Inc., of Dresden Ave., Safety-Service Director Joseph F. Ross said today.

The company offered to provide a 1959 Ford Custom 300 with a 200-horsepower, 8-cylinder motor for $2,434, the lowest of five bids received Friday.

The contract was awarded by the Board of Control, composed of Mayor Fred P. Lawrence and the director. Council had appropriated $2,500 for the new cruiser.

Heavy Showers Slated For Eastern Ohio Area

Locally heavy thundershowers are due this afternoon and tonight in Eastern Ohio, the state's weather forecaster said, but he made no assertion they will hit the immediate East Liverpool district.

Today will be mostly cloudy, windy and mild, with a high of 78 to 84 degrees, the weatherman said. Tonight's low will be 60-65. Tuesday will be partly cloudy and cooler.

Dam 8 at Newell recorded a high of 78 at 6 p. m. Sunday. The overnight low was 57. Rain totaled eight hundredths of an inch.

During the Revolutionary War the pay of a U.S. Marine was a little over $7 dollars a month. Today, a Marine private's pay starts at $78 a month.

Tangled Legal Puzzle Raised In Speed Case

Because Liverpool Township trustees have not certified a copy of their traffic regulations to Municipal Court, a speeding charge against a Calcutta woman was dismissed today by Judge George L. Brokaw.

In dismissing the charge against Mrs. Sally Cloran, Judge Brokaw commented there is no evidence of the speed limit on township roads.

To complicate the problem, the alleged violation occurred on Armstrong Ln., the southern half of which is in the city and the northern half in the township.

Mrs. Cloran was cited by Constable Wilbert Taylor Sunday after he chased her from a point near Park Way to St. Clair Ave., clocking her at 40 miles an hour.

The constable said he noticed her parked on the northern side of the road in a no parking zone and asked her to move. He testified she drove off at a high rate of speed and he gave chase.

Her counsel, Atty. Lawrence W Smith, pointed out the infraction happened outside the city and state law sets a speed limit of 60 miles an hour.

Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark argued the violation was "a very peculiar situation," explaining one speed limit cannot be set for one half of the road and a different limit for the other half.

Two previous motions for dismissal by Atty. Smith were overruled by the judge.

William Stansbury, 157 Haywood St., is due for a hearing Tuesday at 9 a. m. on a reckless driving charge after entering a not guilty plea today.

Police charged Stansbury with making a turn at E. 5th and Walnut Sts. "at a high rate of speed, causing his car to weave and squeal the tires." He was cited at 9:30 p. m. Saturday in the Diamond.

Vernon L. Peterson, 651 Bradshaw Ave., also is to appear tomorrow on a similar charge. He was cited at 6:09 a. m. today on Harvey Ave., police said.

Frank Hull, 2621 St. Clair Ave., was fined $5 and costs by Judge Brokaw on charge of failing to stop for a red blinker light Saturday morning at State St. and Pennsylvania Ave.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

Watch Dale Robertson in Tales of Wells Fargo on NBC-TV Monday Nights

Along with the most talked about style on the road today goes performance new even to owners of previous Buicks . . . and too great for you to miss.

Buick '59 is livelier yet smoother, more powerful yet thriftier, as any previous Buick owner will tell you. And credit goes to the turbine smoothness of Buick transmissions, plus the new responsiveness of Buick "Wildcat" engines.

At the wheel, too, you'll find new handling ease and finned-brake sureness that owners put high on their "most liked" list.

But that's far from all these owners tell us. They talk about new operating economy from the most efficient power plant on the road today. About quality of finish and detail, and of quietness that even beats the best of Buick heretofore. They speak of reliability . . . and they speak of the pure pleasure of owning a Buick '59 . . . in ways that warm the heart.

But the best spokesman for Buick '59—and what it can do for you—is a Buick itself. Why not go to your Buick dealer and get the inside story, today?

She was born in Shay, Ohio, and had lived in the vicinity 55 years. She was a waredresser at the Homer Laughlin China Co. until her retirement 10 years ago. She was a member of the IBOP and the Calvary Methodist Church.

Besides her husband, at home, she leaves four sons, Ralph C. Swoger, Donald L. Swoger, Bernard G. Swoger and Carl F. Swoger, a brother, Glenn O'Hanlon, and two sisters, Mrs. Frank Figley and Mrs. Sarah Vogt, all of East Liverpool, and a grandson, William L. Swoger, at home, and 11 other grandchildren.

Services will be held Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. at the Martin Funeral Home by the Rev. Carl Beighley, pastor of the Calvary Methodist Church, assisted by the Rev. William A. Hewitt of the Central Methodist Church of Wellsville. Burial will be in Calcutta United Presbyterian Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday night.

Rudolph Ullmark

Rudolph Ullmark, 205 W. 3rd St., a former professional musician and teacher, died Sunday at 6:30 p. m. at Salem City Hospital following a year's illness. He was 77.

He was born at Rockford, Ill., and lived in this vicinity for 25 years. He was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Laura E. Ullmark, at home; a son, Paul J. Ullmark of Columbus; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Feisley of Lisbon, 8 grandchildren and 6 great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Wednesday at 1 p. m. at the Martin Funeral Home by Dr. Alexander K. Davison. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Miss Jennie Torrence

Miss Jennie Torrence of Gerry, N. Y., a native of Beaver County and a former resident of East Liverpool, died Friday at 5:55 p. m. at the Gerry Rest Home. She was 89.

Born near Hanover March 5, 1870, she was the last member of the immediate family. She was a member of the Gerry Free Methodist Church.

She was preceded in death by four brothers, Shaffer Torrence, William F. Torrence, John D. Torrence and Aaron G. Torrence, and two sisters, Mrs. Clark Tilton and Mrs. Nancy A. Beal.

She is survived by nieces and nephews.

Services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Sampsell and Jordan Funeral Home at Sinclairville, N. Y., by the Rev. Walker Jordan, pastor. Burial will be in Sinclairville Cemetery.

Earl Vernon

Earl Stanley Vernon of Newark, N. J., a native of Wellsville, died Sunday at 5:50 p. m. at the Martland Medical Center at Newark following a long illness. He was 42.

A World War II veteran, he was born in Wellsville, Feb. 22, 1917, son of Mrs. Florence Vernon of Anderson Ave. and the late James R. Vernon.

For the last 7 years he has been employed at the United States Metal Refinery at Carteret, N.J. He attended Wellsville schools.

Besides his mother, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Pearl Norwood of Toledo, and four brothers, Robert Vernon, Emmett Vernon and Leland Vernon, all of Wellsville, and Charles Vernon of Adena.

The MacLean Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements, which are incomplete.

Walter Holt

SALINEVILLE — Walter W. Holt, 192 E. Main St., former superintendent of the John M. Hirst Coal Co. at Salineville, died early this morning at Youngstown North Side Hospital. He was 66.

Mr. Holt had been superintendent at the coal firm until recent months, when he became electrician because of illness.

He was born in Salineville, Aug. 25, 1892, a son of the late James and Elizabeth Wallace Holt. A 32nd Degree Mason, he was a member of Salineville Masonic Lodge 348 and the Order of Eastern Star. He was a member of the Salineville Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mary Holt, at home; a daughter, Mrs. Edna Toolis of Lisbon; a sister, Mrs. James Gault of Alliance R. D. 5, and two grandchildren.

Winston R. Hale

NEW CUMBERLAND — Winston Roland Hale, a resident of the community most of his life, died Sunday in a rest home in Jackson, Miss. He was 51.

Survivors include a son, Robert Roland Hale of Clare, Mich.; two sisters, Mrs. Alice Thayer and Mrs. Kathryn Carson, both of New Cumberland; two brothers, W. G. Hale of New Cumberland, and Ronald George (Archie) Hale of Warren, and one grandchild.

Private services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Stewart & Turley Funeral Home. The Rev. William H. Flurkey of the Fairview Presbyterian Church in Pughtown will officiate. Burial arrangements are incomplete.

26-Year-Old Car, Driver, 13, Figure In Weekend Accidents

A broken tie rod on a 26-year-old auto and a tire blowout on a 1959 car operated by a 13-year-old boy were blamed for two of the city's six traffic mishaps over the weekend, police said.

A drunk driver was involved in another mishap and two other accidents were blamed on hit-skip motorists, officers said.

Thomas Henry Lawrence, 17, of 220 Haywood St. escaped injury at 11:45 a. m. Sunday when his car struck a tree on St. Clair Ave. near Burrows Ave., police said.

The youth told police he was headed south about 20 miles an hour in his 1933 coupe when it began to pull to the right. He said he applied the brakes but was unable to stop and struck the tree.

Officers said investigation showed the tie rod had broken and the driver had no control. The coupe was demolished, they added.

The front wheel assembly, bumper and fender of a 1959 sedan were damaged when it hit a curb after blowing a tire Saturday at the three-way intersection of Ambrose Ave., Vine St. and Maine Blvd.

James Karcher, 13, of 912 Bradshaw Ave. told police he was headed north on Vine St. and was at the intersection when the tire blew out and the auto struck the curb. In the excitement, he told officers he stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake. The car is owned by Robert Karcher of Cleveland, police said.

John W. Halfhill, 808 Commerce St., Wellsville, was fined $300 and costs and sentenced to jail for 10 days in Municipal Court today on a drunk driving charge as the aftermath of an accident Saturday night on W. 8th St. with another Wellsville man's auto.

James H. Wilson, 58, of 1016 Beech St. told police he was headed east and stopped behind Halfhill's car, which kept drifting backwards, finally hitting his car.

Patricia L. Watson, 742 St. Clair Ave., told officers the headlight of her parked 1957 car was broken when struck by a rock thrown by a car driven by Everett Jenkins of St. Mary's. The mishap occurred Saturday at 8 p. m., she said.

James E. Birkhimer, 38, of 804 Morton St. told police the right front fender of his car was damaged shortly after 5 p. m. Saturday at E. 5th and Washington Sts. when hit by a Pennsylvania auto.

Birkhimer told police the other motorist pulled from the curb and hit his fender. He said the driver stopped but refused to give his name and drove off. He gave police the license number of the auto.

Robert A. Ingram, 531 Washington St., Newell, told police his car was struck by a hit-skip driver while parked at Washington St. and Broadway Saturday afternoon.

During the Revolutionary War the pay of a U.S. Marine was a little over $7 dollars a month. Today, a Marine private's pay starts at $78 a month.

Carroll Gets Contract On New Police Cruiser

A contract to furnish a new police cruiser has been let to Carroll Motor Sales, Inc., of Dresden Ave., Safety-Service Director Joseph F. Ross said today.

The company offered to provide a 1959 Ford Custom 300 with a 200-horsepower, 8-cylinder motor for $2,434, the lowest of five bids received Friday.

The contract was awarded by the Board of Control, composed of Mayor Fred P. Lawrence and the director. Council had appropriated $2,500 for the new cruiser.

Heavy Showers Slated For Eastern Ohio Area

Locally heavy thundershowers are due this afternoon and tonight in Eastern Ohio, the state's weather forecaster said, but he made no assertion they will hit the immediate East Liverpool district.

Today will be mostly cloudy, windy and mild, with a high of 78 to 84 degrees, the weatherman said. Tonight's low will be 60-65. Tuesday will be partly cloudy and cooler.

Dam 8 at Newell recorded a high of 78 at 6 p. m. Sunday. The overnight low was 57. Rain totaled eight hundredths of an inch.

Tangled Legal Puzzle Raised In Speed Case

Because Liverpool Township trustees have not certified a copy of their traffic regulations to Municipal Court, a speeding charge against a Calcutta woman was dismissed today by Judge George L. Brokaw.

In dismissing the charge against Mrs. Sally Cloran, Judge Brokaw commented there is no evidence of the speed limit on township roads.

To complicate the problem, the alleged violation occurred on Armstrong Ln., the southern half of which is in the city and the northern half in the township.

Mrs. Cloran was cited by Constable Wilbert Taylor Sunday after he chased her from a point near Park Way to St. Clair Ave., clocking her at 40 miles an hour.

The constable said he noticed her parked on the northern side of the road in a no parking zone and asked her to move. He testified she drove off at a high rate of speed and he gave chase.

Her counsel, Atty. Lawrence W Smith, pointed out the infraction happened outside the city and state law sets a speed limit of 60 miles an hour.

Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark argued the violation was "a very peculiar situation," explaining one speed limit cannot be set for one half of the road and a different limit for the other half.

Two previous motions for dismissal by Atty. Smith were overruled by the judge.

William Stansbury, 157 Haywood St., is due for a hearing Tuesday at 9 a. m. on a reckless driving charge after entering a not guilty plea today.

Police charged Stansbury with making a turn at E. 5th and Walnut Sts. "at a high rate of speed, causing his car to weave and squeal the tires." He was cited at 9:30 p. m. Saturday in the Diamond.

Vernon L. Peterson, 651 Bradshaw Ave., also is to appear tomorrow on a similar charge. He was cited at 6:09 a. m. today on Harvey Ave., police said.

Frank Hull, 2621 St. Clair Ave., was fined $5 and costs by Judge Brokaw on charge of failing to stop for a red blinker light Saturday morning at State St. and Pennsylvania Ave.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name *Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

Along with the most talked about style on the road today goes performance new even to owners of previous Buicks . . . and too great for you to miss.

Buick '59 is livelier yet smoother, more powerful yet thriftier, as any previous Buick owner will tell you. And credit goes to the turbine smoothness of Buick transmissions, plus the new responsiveness of Buick "Wildcat" engines.

At the wheel, too, you'll find new handling ease and finned-brake sureness that owners put high on their "most liked" list.

But that's far from all these owners tell us. They talk about new operating economy from the most efficient power plant on the road today. About quality of finish and detail, and of quietness that even beats the best of Buick heretofore. They speak of reliability . . . and they speak of the pure pleasure of owning a Buick '59 . . . in ways that warm the heart.

But the best spokesman for Buick '59—and what it can do for you—is a Buick itself. Why not go to your Buick dealer and get the inside story, today?

But That Would Be Illegal!

The first idea that drew blood in contract negotiations between United Steelworkers and 12 steel companies was the possibility the companies might form a united front in the event of a strike. This would undercut the union's advantage of being able to play off one producer against another, which became the classical practice in the auto industry and has been used successful in the steel industry, too.

But if such a thing were tried, a battery of legal lights would be brought to a focus on possible violations of antitrust laws. Enterprise in the United States is closely limited in what it may do in concert. But unionism, which has become far more powerful than management ever was in its impact on competition, is unlimited.

Not only is it free to join its forces in any way that might seem to be advantageous, but its actions are immune in many respects to local and state laws that limit other organizations.

It is useless to speculate on what might have happened in the past had restraint of trade been outlawed as clearly in the operations of unions as in the operations of enterprise. It is equally useless to speculate on the difference it would make in the future. No such thing is going to happen.

But something equally significant is happening. Enterprise, resentful of its handicap in being divided against a common force, is finding ways to pool its resources. The steel negotiations, themselves, are a collective effort. Airlines believe they have discovered a legal way to turn over extra profits to a struck company. The Big Three in the auto industry have been increasingly willing to band together against United Auto Workers.

Necessity, the mother of invention, is devising ways to create counterforces to offset the massive power of industrywide unions.

Myron C. Taylor Took The Lead

With proper respect for the man who then was chairman of the board of United States Steel Corp. and now has died at the age of 85, some of the things that were said about him 22 years ago were not complimentary then and have not cooled off yet.

It was his role in the industrial drama of that era to take the lead in a policy that generated as much heat as anything that has happened in the 20th century. John L. Lewis, who had organized the Committee for Industrial Organization to push the American Federation of Labor to the wall, moved into the steel industry on a catch-as-catch-can basis. Things were done that could not bear the light of day then or now. Some of them eventually were seen darkly through the clouded glass of the now-famous trail of the 11 Communist defendants under Federal Judge Harold R. Medina's judicial direction. Previously all the looking had been done at management's reactions.

At one time in 1937 no less than 470,836 steelworkers were on strike. The bloodiest conflicts were in "little steel," to distinguish Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown Sheet & Tube from U.S. Steel Corp. And much of the bloodiness was attributed at the time to the rancor that had been generated by the surprising willingness of the board chairman of "big steel" to reach an agreement with the leader of the steel strikers. Jones & Laughlin then fell in line, leaving "little steel" high and dry with what turned out to be a Pyrrhic victory that could not be justified by what it had cost.

Today, the steel industry again stands together in mutual interest, to offset the massive bargaining power of the Steelworkers Union. Myron Taylor long since had passed out of the management picture. John L. Lewis has remained active in unionism, though overshadowed in recent years by younger men like Walter Reuther and George Meany, symbolizing the now-united AFL-CIO.

We do not know whether Mr. Taylor and Mr. Lewis ever exchanged reminiscences or greetings or whether they even thought of each other. But in this very merry month of May 22 years ago they made industrial history in a way whose impact still is being gauged with mixed emotions.

No Doors Opened By Derbies

An attack on England's bowler hat—the derby, as it is known here — has appeared in a leading British newspaper. The attacker says English conformity is so stuffy that an Englishman must wear a bowler to prove he is caste-certified.

But what makes the picture notable is that each is carrying a snap-brim fedora hat to be worn as soon as England has been left behind. It raises a question about head-dress here, where there occasionally is a drive to institute the hard hat as a sign of caste but where no sign of caste ever lasts much longer than the campaign to institute it.

In the '90s and carrying over into this century, many bankers and tycoons wore plug hats. Politicians in the 19th century wore stovepipe hats. Gangsters at one time favored pearl-gray snap-brims and Homburgs. Highway policemen, for an obscure reason, wear the same kind of Smoky-the-Bear hats as U.S. Forest Rangers wear.

But the American male is not known by the hat he wears. His head-dress opens no doors. It is not a badge of distinction. In the bitter weather of last winter many an American male turned back to the stocking cap for protection. Some refuse to wear any hat at all. Some wear caps, and among those who wear hats there is an unwritten law that the hat should have a well-lived-in look or be judged foppish.

That explains, of course, why the derby never gets much further here than a long sojourn in the hall closet, interrupted by an occasional wedding, funeral, black-tie assembly, or costume party.

The Once Over

Medical journal reports a doctor has succeeded in reducing weight of women through hypnotism. We tried it on the missus. "You're not hungry," we said fixing her with our hypnotic stare. "You have no appetite whatever."

"Can't we discuss this at lunch?" she said.

"Steady there! Concentrate on my message. You abhor lunch," we insisted.

"How about dinner?" she replied.

It went on from there like this:

"You're fighting this. Relax! Give in! Any desire you ever had for dinner has vanished."

"Oh, well, just excuse me while I go to the icebox for a glass of milk," she said.

"You loathe iceboxes. They exist only in your mind," we cried.

"Under my Svengali influence you are entering a world free from icebox clickings. You are under my spell. You desire to wear a size 10 dress. A strange wish grips you. What is it?"

"When do we eat?" she asked.

"Woman, you are shedding weight. You are determined to reduce," we persisted gazing intently into her eyes.

"Stop fooling. I've got to go to the store for some butter, potatoes, boiled ham and lemon meringue pie," she said.

Suddenly we noticed she had been staring us down and that we were beginning to feel dazed. Our Operation Hynotism seemed to be in trouble.

"Let's go," she said abruptly, making strange passes with her hands.

"Where?" we asked.

"I know where there's a clambake this afternoon and a barbecue tonight. Lets grab a couple of cheese sandwiches and get going," she said.

We went. Hypnotism can be amazing.

Ike Maps Steps In Steel Crisis

By Victor Riesel

It's beginning to filter through to all White House aides, experts, Cabinet members and special advisers that they now have a President who thinks for himself. Ever since Sherman Adams' brief memos went up in the smoke of acrid history, President Eisenhower has been making decisions in public which come as much of a surprise to his advisers as to the newsmen who cover him.

Victor Riesel

That's the behind-the-scenes story of the President's strategy in the current steel wage crisis — which could unbalance the country's national and international policies.

It is "Ike's" personal tactic not to permit the big steel negotiations in New York's Hotel Roosevelt to go subliminal. He plans to keep the spotlight on them until new contracts are signed for all 1,200,000 Steel Workers.

Furthermore, he has privately dispatched word that he wants a peaceful settlement. No strike. No price increase. And a "reasonable" wage hike.

THERE ARE credible "inside" reports that the President feels so strongly about the thinning dollar that he will keep needling both Big Steel and the sprawling Steel Union every chance he gets. He will tell the people that their groceries, their homes, their clothes, mode of living really are on the long bargaining tables in the Hotel Roosevelt catacombs.

The President will keep the negotiations under glass.

That's why he told his Tuesday morning press conference that he steel bargaining, beginning that very hour, was a "basic matter affecting 175 million Americans.

When he said that the United States would have to do something about the steel crisis if it raised prices and wages so that the cost of living moved towards outer space, the President took his Cabinet and his staff unawares.

Those with him heard his threat of intervention for the first time. Cabinet members and other officials learned of it by telephone from newsmen or read the item off their Washington inter-city new tickers.

THEY WERE SURPRISED. The President has been saying since his days at SHAPE in Paris that the U.S. government must always be neutral in labor disputes.

Shortly after Gen. Eisenhower returned to the United States to campaign for the presidency, I talked to him at New York's Hotel Commodore. It was not too long after President Truman had seized the steel mills. Mr. Truman had used the extraordinary powers of his office — made more extraordinary by the fact that we were at war in Korea. The military had been pressuring Mr. Truman, warning him that the Chinese and Russians might make it a world war and a strike was intolerable. Mr. Truman moved.

Dwight Eisenhower told a small group of us that barring the most extreme war emergency he would always insist that both sides work the crisis out for themselves. For more than six years that has been his policy. What made him change his mind? He may not have.

He may not bring the government in at all. His plans now are to fight inflation in public.

Ever since the departure northward of Sherman Adams, the President has intrigued his visitors from Congress with his increasing knowledge of the intricacies of the economy, labor relations and even the Taft-Hartley law. At session after session with Republican legislative leaders, he has brought up the subject of hammering prices down and keeping wages on a level.

IN THE STEEL CRISIS the President will go to the country over radio and television to prevent a strike. If this tactical propaganda bombing fails, he'll then agree to name a prestige fact-finding board. If this isn't acceptable to both sides, he'll use the Taft-Hartley law to postpone a strike until late fall — taking it past the Berlin crisis and the recession.

At least on this front, it is a new Gen. Eisenhower. He's thinking it all out for himself instead of letting news of the domestic front be filtered through to him, regardless of the fuming in some of his official headquarters.

Pupils Now Like Books

By Jim Doyle

NEW YORK

For most Americans over the age of 30, the word "textbook" has a shudder-making potential second only to "castor oil."

For today's young-scholar set, however, textbooks are as easy to take as peppermint. The grimy, dry-as-dust tomes have been transformed into bright, attractive volumes by new printing techniques. Psychological research has made them easier to understand and expert editing has trimmed away most of the fat without losing any of the good red meat.

Some of them are downright interesting.

"The entire approach in textbook publishing today is to make the learning process more palatable," said Dr. Grant Brown, president of the country's largest exclusively educational publishing house.

"There's no learning without a desire to learn. We try to stimulate the desire to learn," he said in an interview.

Much of the stimulation is done subliminally or what might be called sneaky little psychological tricks. Today's texts have gay covers, more readable type, profuse illustrations and a liberal use of color which helps make points visually in everything from spelling to mathematical diagrams.

BUT MOST IMPORTANT is the editorial approach. "A textbook comes into being because of an educational need and a publishing need," Dr. Brown says. "The day when a scholar rode his own hobbyhorse into the production of a book and then sought a publisher is largely past.

"School men tell us what the educational need is and we produce a book to meet it—and one we hope we can make a profit on. We publish many a book which, in collaboration with education authorities, is conceived, planned and sometimes even largely written by our editors."

A typical example is a new mathematics text for advanced courses in high schools. It was designed to meet a specific educational need—a more thorough grounding for students who intend to go on to scientific and technical college work.

It takes the student far beyond what is usually thought of as high school mathematics but, because of careful planning and editing, it does so within the normal high school term.

"We think of textbooks as—next to the teacher—the most important thing in the classroom," Dr. Brown said. "And their relative importance is growing."

THERE ARE a number of reasons for this, he said. One is the over-crowding of schools and the consequent heavy pupil load each teacher has to handle. A second is the comparatively low financial and other rewards a teacher can expect, which is steadily forcing many of the best teachers to other field. But the most important, according to Dr. Brown, is the range of subjects which we expect our children to learn—no teacher can possibly be thoroughly competent in all of them.

"In many schools," Dr. Brown continued, "pupils don't get individual textbooks any more. Books are assigned to desks rather than pupils. As many as three pupils may share one book. The student can't take his book home with him every night. It has to be written lucidly enough so that he learns in a comparatively shorter time."

Dr. Brown points out that in many schools the football budge exceeds the textbook budget by three or four times and that the average textbook expenditure throughout the nation is half a cent for each dollar of operating expenditure.

How is the struggle for palatability going? Well, one of Dr. Brown's associates recently showed his grade school son a new arithmetic text. The boy's reaction was significant.

"I think it's harder than my book," he said, "but it's lots more interesting."

Pessimism Surrounds Geneva Meeting

WASHINGTON

The meeting of the Big Four foreign policy ministers in Geneva can hardly be described as cheerful.

No wonder. Before he left for Switzerland Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said he wasn't very optimistic.

At a Western luncheon Sunday, reports said, Herter looked tired. French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville looked serious, and only Lloyd seemed happy.

One of the greatest deadpans in the business, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, said when he got there he expected serious work.

But his boss, Premier Nikita Khrushchev, has already said he looks on the meetings as a nuisance and a delay in getting to the summit with President Eisenhower.

This was the mood before anyone really said anything. Then it got worse fast.

The West was willing for them to be at the conference, but only for consultation, if needed, and not as participants.

The West doesn't want Bolz sitting in directly because that might be interpreted as meaning the West recognizes East Germany, which it doesn't.

Gromyko began to get in some licks before he even met the Westerners.

Let's meet at a round table, Gromyko told the Westerners through his aides. The Westerners said: Let's have a square table.

So hassle No. 1 got started.

At a round table the Soviets, who want recognition for the East Germans, could argue that seating Bolz would just be a matter of shifting a couple of chairs around to make room for him.

At a square table — with the United States, Britain, France and the U.S.S.R. each occupying one side—the West could argue all the places were taken up and there was no room for Bolz.

This is symbolic reasoning on both sides but the Soviet and Western aides had to agree on some kind of table — before the ministers could even pull up chairs.

This was bad enough for a start. Then Gromyko let it be known he wanted East German Bolz sitting in as a full participant right from the start.

The first reaction among the Westerners in Geneva: unless the Soviets back down, here goes the meeting out the window.

But since things sometimes get better, and troubles sometimes fade away, maybe this Soviet demand will, too.

Maybe the best that can be expected is that the foreign ministers will somehow stumble through a lot of words, and some days, without agreeing on much or anything, but still not so unpleasantly as to make a later summit meeting impossible.

Mounds And Summits

By James E. Thorn

For more than a month now, baseball broadcasters have been telling us about "conferences on mounds." They will continue to do so until mid-autumn, unless some calamity intereferes with the national pastime.

These "mound conferences" occur each year and would not normally distinguish the summer of 1959. However, there is a good chance this summer will be distinguished by one such conference, this one of a large variety, to be known as a Big Mound Conference, or Summit Conference.

It might be well, as the May 27 warmup for the Big Season approaches, to consider the historical significance of mounds and their uses as conference centers.

The earliest known people who converged on mounds for meetings were the so-called Mound Builders.

Living in what is now the southern Ohio-West Virginia area, these pre-historic people found the hilly terrain there to their liking, but disdained to use the naturally created hills for their conferences.

Instead, they constructed symmetrically perfect mounds and thus became known as builders as well as conferees.

THEIR MEETINGS were of a different nature than those on our mounds today. They gathered on their mounds to bury their dead. The deceased was placed inside, with his wordly wealth, and the mound was sealed at the top.

This differing use may be due to the fact the original Mound Builders were bigger men than those who inhabit the earth today. They are reputed to have been seven to eight feet tall.

The early Mound Builders may be dismissed as having contributed little to today's mound conferences, except that they were the earliest to so use a mound.

We may learn much, however, from the use of mounds for meetings in baseball.

Almost every mound conference is precipitated by the same cause —trouble. Seldom does a catcher go to the mound to tell a pitcher he is doing a good job. He goes when events indicate the pitcher needs to do a better job.

To clarify further, mound conrences are precipitated not just by mere trouble, but by serious trouble. A single in the ninth inning against a pitcher who has two out, none on and a 10-0 lead will not rate a conference. But if the pitcher is leading 1-0 in the ninth and three walks load the bases with nobody out, the catcher probably will call a summit conference.

In other words, the catcher talks to the pitcher because he is a very important person. The catcher does not call the centerfielder in to the mound, because the centerfielder is not so important, will not be making the next pitch and more than likely will have no play after the next pitch.

The catcher will not talk to the centerfield in almost any case, because if the centerfielder, like an ambassador, makes a series of misplays, he can be replaced. It is more grievous if a pitcher must be replaced, because his is a most sensitive and unpredictable job. He is more like a head of state.

SOMETIMES, mound conferences are between players not on the same side. This situation usually develops when there is disagreement between two or more players.

This happened in two games last Sunday. In Cleveland, Jim Piersall entered into a disagreement with the Washington pitcher and approached the mound with his bat, for a conference. He was intercepted, and confusion ensued.

In Pittsburgh, Cardinal playing-manager Solly Hemus was forced to sit on the ground by a pitch from Pirate Benny Daniels. On the next pitch, Mr. Hemus sent his bat out to the mound by itself, as a symbol of his desire for a conference. Confusion ensued.

One final aspect of baseball mound conferences cannot, unfortunately, be applied to Summit Conferences. This was demonstrated in the Pittsburgh disagreement.

When the principals were having their conference, the spectators became excited and tried to make their sentiments known, too.

After the principals had ignored vocal demonstrations and flying objects from the stands, one spectator entered the field conflict and volunteered himself to the Pirates as one of their representatives in the conference.

He was hustled off the field. As Pirate broadcaster Bob Prince explained, the Pirates and the Cardinals could work out their disagreements at the summit, but neither side would welcome partisan outsiders.

BASEBALL MOUND conferences have arbitrators standing by — umpires, who are considered sacred.

That is, if a player disagrees too violently with an umpire he is forced to forfeit his player status in the particular game in progress. If he should become so abusive as to strike an umpire or to utter blasphemy, he is in danger of losing money to boot.

One hears of no such higher authority for a Summit Conference, and this is disturbing. Some of the principals, to be sure, acknowledge the existence of a Deity but do not hesitate to go against him on close decisions. Thus, there is a total absence of definitive control. No one can be thrown out of the game for going against the rules.

It is hard to see how there can be a Mound Conference of any consequence without an umpire.

But That Would Be Illegal!

The first idea that drew blood in contract negotiations between United Steelworkers and 12 steel companies was the possibility the companies might form a united front in the event of a strike. This would undercut the union's advantage of being able to play off one producer against another, which became the classical practice in the auto industry and has been used successful in the steel industry, too.

But if such a thing were tried, a battery of legal lights would be brought to a focus on possible violations of antitrust laws. Enterprise in the United States is closely limited in what it may do in concert. But unionism, which has become far more powerful than management ever was in its impact on competition, is unlimited.

Not only is it free to join its forces in any way that might seem to be advantageous, but its actions are immune in many respects to local and state laws that limit other organizations.

It is useless to speculate on what might have happened in the past had restraint of trade been outlawed as clearly in the operations of unions as in the operations of enterprise. It is equally useless to speculate on the difference it would make in the future. No such thing is going to happen.

But something equally significant is happening. Enterprise, resentful of its handicap in being divided against a common force, is finding ways to pool its resources. The steel negotiations, themselves, are a collective effort. Airlines believe they have discovered a legal way to turn over extra profits to a struck company. The Big Three in the auto industry have been increasingly willing to band together against United Auto Workers.

Necessity, the mother of invention, is devising ways to create counterforces to offset the massive power of industrywide unions.

Myron C. Taylor Took The Lead

With proper respect for the man who then was chairman of the board of United States Steel Corp. and now has died at the age of 85, some of the things that were said about him 22 years ago were not complimentary then and have not cooled off yet.

It was his role in the industrial drama of that era to take the lead in a policy that generated as much heat as anything that has happened in the 20th century. John L. Lewis, who had organized the Committee for Industrial Organization to push the American Federation of Labor to the wall, moved into the steel industry on a catch-as-catch-can basis. Things were done that could not bear the light of day then or now. Some of them eventually were seen darkly through the clouded glass of the now-famous trail of the 11 Communist defendants under Federal Judge Harold R. Medina's judicial direction. Previously all the looking had been done at management's reactions.

At one time in 1937 no less than 470,836 steelworkers were on strike. The bloodiest conflicts were in "little steel," to distinguish Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown Sheet & Tube from U.S. Steel Corp. And much of the bloodiness was attributed at the time to the rancor that had been generated by the surprising willingness of the board chairman of "big steel" to reach an agreement with the leader of the steel strikers. Jones & Laughlin then fell in line, leaving "little steel" high and dry with what turned out to be a Pyrrhic victory that could not be justified by what it had cost.

Today, the steel industry again stands together in mutual interest, to offset the massive bargaining power of the Steelworkers Union. Myron Taylor long since had passed out of the management picture. John L. Lewis has remained active in unionism, though overshadowed in recent years by younger men like Walter Reuther and George Meany, symbolizing the now-united AFL-CIO.

We do not know whether Mr. Taylor and Mr. Lewis ever exchanged reminiscences or greetings or whether they even thought of each other. But in this very merry month of May 22 years ago they made industrial history in a way whose impact still is being gauged with mixed emotions.

No Doors Opened By Derbies

An attack on England's bowler hat—the derby, as it is known here — has appeared in a leading British newspaper. The attacker says English conformity is so stuffy that an Englishman must wear a bowler to prove he is caste-certified.

But what makes the picture notable is that each is carrying a snap-brim fedora hat to be worn as soon as England has been left behind. It raises a question about head-dress here, where there occasionally is a drive to institute the hard hat as a sign of caste but where no sign of caste ever lasts much longer than the campaign to institute it.

In the '90s and carrying over into this century, many bankers and tycoons wore plug hats. Politicians in the 19th century wore stovepipe hats. Gangsters at one time favored pearl-gray snap-brims and Homburgs. Highway policemen, for an obscure reason, wear the same kind of Smoky-the-Bear hats as U.S. Forest Rangers wear.

But the American male is not known by the hat he wears. His head-dress opens no doors. It is not a badge of distinction. In the bitter weather of last winter many an American male turned back to the stocking cap for protection. Some refuse to wear any hat at all. Some wear caps, and among those who wear hats there is an unwritten law that the hat should have a well-lived-in look or be judged foppish.

That explains, of course, why the derby never gets much further here than a long sojourn in the hall closet, interrupted by an occasional wedding, funeral, black-tie assembly, or costume party.

The Once Over

Medical journal reports a doctor has succeeded in reducing weight of women through hypnotism. We tried it on the missus. "You're not hungry," we said fixing her with our hypnotic stare. "You have no appetite whatever."

"Can't we discuss this at lunch?" she said.

"Steady there! Concentrate on my message. You abhor lunch," we insisted.

"How about dinner?" she replied.

It went on from there like this:

"You're fighting this. Relax! Give in! Any desire you ever had for dinner has vanished."

"Oh, well, just excuse me while I go to the icebox for a glass of milk," she said.

"You loathe iceboxes. They exist only in your mind," we cried.

"Under my Svengali influence you are entering a world free from icebox clickings. You are under my spell. You desire to wear a size 10 dress. A strange wish grips you. What is it?"

"When do we eat?" she asked.

"Woman, you are shedding weight. You are determined to reduce," we persisted gazing intently into her eyes.

"Stop fooling. I've got to go to the store for some butter, potatoes, boiled ham and lemon meringue pie," she said.

Suddenly we noticed she had been staring us down and that we were beginning to feel dazed. Our Operation Hynotism seemed to be in trouble.

"Let's go," she said abruptly, making strange passes with her hands.

"Where?" we asked.

"I know where there's a clambake this afternoon and a barbecue tonight. Lets grab a couple of cheese sandwiches and get going," she said.

We went. Hypnotism can be amazing.

By Victor Riesel

It's beginning to filter through to all White House aides, experts, Cabinet members and special advisers that they now have a President who thinks for himself. Ever since Sherman Adams' brief memos went up in the smoke of acrid history, President Eisenhower has been making decisions in public which come as much of a surprise to his advisers as to the newsmen who cover him.

Victor Riesel

That's the behind-the-scenes story of the President's strategy in the current steel wage crisis — which could unbalance the country's national and international policies.

It is "Ike's" personal tactic not to permit the big steel negotiations in New York's Hotel Roosevelt to go subliminal. He plans to keep the spotlight on them until new contracts are signed for all 1,200,000 Steel Workers.

Furthermore, he has privately dispatched word that he wants a peaceful settlement. No strike. No price increase. And a "reasonable" wage hike.

THERE ARE credible "inside" reports that the President feels so strongly about the thinning dollar that he will keep needling both Big Steel and the sprawling Steel Union every chance he gets. He will tell the people that their groceries, their homes, their clothes, mode of living really are on the long bargaining tables in the Hotel Roosevelt catacombs.

The President will keep the negotiations under glass.

That's why he told his Tuesday morning press conference that he steel bargaining, beginning that very hour, was a "basic matter affecting 175 million Americans.

When he said that the United States would have to do something about the steel crisis if it raised prices and wages so that the cost of living moved towards outer space, the President took his Cabinet and his staff unawares.

Those with him heard his threat of intervention for the first time. Cabinet members and other officials learned of it by telephone from newsmen or read the item off their Washington inter-city new tickers.

THEY WERE SURPRISED. The President has been saying since his days at SHAPE in Paris that the U.S. government must always be neutral in labor disputes.

Shortly after Gen. Eisenhower returned to the United States to campaign for the presidency, I talked to him at New York's Hotel Commodore. It was not too long after President Truman had seized the steel mills. Mr. Truman had used the extraordinary powers of his office — made more extraordinary by the fact that we were at war in Korea. The military had been pressuring Mr. Truman, warning him that the Chinese and Russians might make it a world war and a strike was intolerable. Mr. Truman moved.

Dwight Eisenhower told a small group of us that barring the most extreme war emergency he would always insist that both sides work the crisis out for themselves. For more than six years that has been his policy. What made him change his mind? He may not have.

He may not bring the government in at all. His plans now are to fight inflation in public.

Ever since the departure northward of Sherman Adams, the President has intrigued his visitors from Congress with his increasing knowledge of the intricacies of the economy, labor relations and even the Taft-Hartley law. At session after session with Republican legislative leaders, he has brought up the subject of hammering prices down and keeping wages on a level.

IN THE STEEL CRISIS the President will go to the country over radio and television to prevent a strike. If this tactical propaganda bombing fails, he'll then agree to name a prestige fact-finding board. If this isn't acceptable to both sides, he'll use the Taft-Hartley law to postpone a strike until late fall — taking it past the Berlin crisis and the recession.

At least on this front, it is a new Gen. Eisenhower. He's thinking it all out for himself instead of letting news of the domestic front be filtered through to him, regardless of the fuming in some of his official headquarters.

Pupils Now Like Books

By Jim Doyle

NEW YORK

For most Americans over the age of 30, the word "textbook" has a shudder-making potential second only to "castor oil."

For today's young-scholar set, however, textbooks are as easy to take as peppermint. The grimy, dry-as-dust tomes have been transformed into bright, attractive volumes by new printing techniques. Psychological research has made them easier to understand and expert editing has trimmed away most of the fat without losing any of the good red meat.

Some of them are downright interesting.

"The entire approach in textbook publishing today is to make the learning process more palatable," said Dr. Grant Brown, president of the country's largest exclusively educational publishing house.

"There's no learning without a desire to learn. We try to stimulate the desire to learn," he said in an interview.

Much of the stimulation is done subliminally or what might be called sneaky little psychological tricks. Today's texts have gay covers, more readable type, profuse illustrations and a liberal use of color which helps make points visually in everything from spelling to mathematical diagrams.

BUT MOST IMPORTANT is the editorial approach. "A textbook comes into being because of an educational need and a publishing need," Dr. Brown says. "The day when a scholar rode his own hobbyhorse into the production of a book and then sought a publisher is largely past.

"School men tell us what the educational need is and we produce a book to meet it—and one we hope we can make a profit on. We publish many a book which, in collaboration with education authorities, is conceived, planned and sometimes even largely written by our editors."

A typical example is a new mathematics text for advanced courses in high schools. It was designed to meet a specific educational need—a more thorough grounding for students who intend to go on to scientific and technical college work.

It takes the student far beyond what is usually thought of as high school mathematics but, because of careful planning and editing, it does so within the normal high school term.

"We think of textbooks as—next to the teacher—the most important thing in the classroom," Dr. Brown said. "And their relative importance is growing."

THERE ARE a number of reasons for this, he said. One is the over-crowding of schools and the consequent heavy pupil load each teacher has to handle. A second is the comparatively low financial and other rewards a teacher can expect, which is steadily forcing many of the best teachers to other field. But the most important, according to Dr. Brown, is the range of subjects which we expect our children to learn—no teacher can possibly be thoroughly competent in all of them.

"In many schools," Dr. Brown continued, "pupils don't get individual textbooks any more. Books are assigned to desks rather than pupils. As many as three pupils may share one book. The student can't take his book home with him every night. It has to be written lucidly enough so that he learns in a comparatively shorter time."

Dr. Brown points out that in many schools the football budge exceeds the textbook budget by three or four times and that the average textbook expenditure throughout the nation is half a cent for each dollar of operating expenditure.

How is the struggle for palatability going? Well, one of Dr. Brown's associates recently showed his grade school son a new arithmetic text. The boy's reaction was significant.

"I think it's harder than my book," he said, "but it's lots more interesting."

That is, if a player disagrees too violently with an umpire he is forced to forfeit his player status in the particular game in progress. If he should become so abusive as to strike an umpire or to utter blasphemy, he is in danger of losing money to boot.

One hears of no such higher authority for a Summit Conference, and this is disturbing. Some of the principals, to be sure, acknowledge the existence of a Deity but do not hesitate to go against him on close decisions. Thus, there is a total absence of definitive control. No one can be thrown out of the game for going against the rules.

It is hard to see how there can be a Mound Conference of any consequence without an umpire.

Hoover Proposes Sterner Policies In Juvenile Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sterner treatment of youthful lawbreakers including full public disclosure of their identities, has been urged before Congress by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

In recent testimony made public by the House Appropriations Committee, the nation's chief G-man delivered a sharp indictment of the way juvenile offenders are handled.

"We can no longer afford to let 'tender age' make plunder into a trifling prank, reduce mayhem to a mischievous act, and pass off murder as a boyish misdemeanor," Hoover said.

"In recent years, reports on youth crimes have indicated a mounting savagery, a senseless brutality, which leaves little doubt that, in the interest of self preservation, it is now time for sterner measures to be taken by the communities and the courts."

HOOVER rapped those social workers and juvenile court authorities who have strong views against disclosing the names of juvenile offenders.

"I see no reason for secrecy," Hoover declared.

"Youth should not be treated cruelly, but when they do not measure up to their responsibility of obeying the law, they must be made to accept the responsibility for their acts."

"The terrifying pace of youthful lawlessness," he said, is more serious than the 11 per cent increase in general crime in 1958 for the nation.

He suggested one thing to be done is to give more publicity to the work of youth organizations such as the Boys Club of America, the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, the YMCA and the YWCA.

HOOVER quoted Juvenile Judge Lester H. Loble of Montana as saying he had never had a Boy Scout, a Boys Club member or any member of an established youth group in his court.

In other phases of his testimony, Hoover reported there have been 108 bombings or attempted bombings "having a racial or religious aspect" since Jan. 1, 1957. Of these, he said 12 have involved schools and 16 have involved churches.

The other 80, Hoover said, involved private homes, amusement places, business establishments and other places.

Hoover, who was appointed FBI director 35 years ago today, in discussing juvenile problems, had a good word to say about youth generally. He said:

"The figures show that only 3.3 per cent of the youths under 18 were arrested in 1957, which indicates that about 97 per cent are growing up to be decent Americans and who resent, I think, very strongly, the unfavorable publicity that comes to them as juveniles due to the conduct of a small segment of their age group."

Benson To Speak At Jackson's Mill

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va. (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson will speak here tonight at a national work conference on rural development.

About 175 persons from 30 states who are actively engaged in rural development work were expected to attend the conference.

It opened this afternoon at the state 4-H camp and will continue until noon Friday.

Purpose of the conference is to provide "how-to-do-it" information for state and local leaders responsible for the progress of the rural development program in their areas.

Junior High Musicians Get 'Superior' Ratings

Joe Judge, cornet soloist, played "Carnival of Venice" variations and Karen Neff, Carol Baumgarner and Peggy Wright, violin soloists, performed "Serenade" (Pierne), "Sonatina" (Fibich) and "The Boy Paganini" (Mollenhauer).

Judge and Miss Neff are eighth grade students and Miss Baumgarner and Miss Wright are seventh graders at Westgate Junior High.

They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Allen of Vine St. Allen is supervisor of instrumental music in East Liverpool schools.

New Priest Assigned Sacred Heart Church

Fr. Eugene Jacobs, now serving at Elkins, W. Va., is slated to replace Fr. Alphonsus Domnick as pastor of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church at Chester.

Fr. Domnick said today he plans to visit his parents shortly before leaving for Rome, where he will take part in a worldwide meeting of Third Order Regular of St. Francis during the summer.

Fr. Domnick, scheduled to sail from New York May 27, said he will be reassigned upon his return in August.

Fr. Jacobs will conduct his first worship service in the Chester Church Sunday morning. Fr. Domnick has served Sacred Heart for a year and a half, replacing the late Fr. Thomas Garrett.

Weirton Man Wounded During Fight In Tavern

WEIRTON — A brawl in a Weir Ave. tavern Saturday sent one of the participants to the hospital with a gunshot wound of the head, police reported.

Jerry Jeter, 32, of Weirton is in "good" condition in Weirton General Hospital with a wound received when hit by a bullet from a .25-caliber pistol during the fray, police said.

Jeter was shot by George Grady Hunter, 59, owner of the Washington Bar, where the fracas occurred at 10 a. m. according to police. Jeter reportedly was fighting with Eli Mayo, 33, also of Weirton. The three were questioned by police and released.

West Virginia Utility Figure To Stay Same

CHARLESTON (AP) — Public utility assessments this year will be made as in the past despite a recent Supreme Court decision which cast doubt upon this procedure.

Such assessments total about one billion dollars and yield more than 17 million a year in taxes to the state.

The new factor in the situation is the insistance by the State Supreme Court that all property must be treated alike in figuring valuation for tax purposes.

This principle was reaffirmed two weeks ago after being used in June of 1958 the first time the Kanawha Valley Bank case came up.

The ruling both times was that the stock of the bank could not be assessed at 100 per cent of actual value when other property in Kanawha County was being assessed at a lesser rate.

Just what this means for utility assessments has not been determined. That some change might have to be made has been seen because such assessments are made differently than those for other property.

The Board of Public Works relies principally on capitalized value in determining how much the holdings of the utilities are worth. County assessors, on the other hand, largely use physical value in dealing with non-utility property.

The Tax Department, which prepared the information used by the board, has decided to hedge by collecting some data on the physical assets of utilities this year.

But it has little choice now but to procede as in the past for the assessments to be considered by the board at hearings in June. The deadline for these assessments—in their tentative state—is this coming Friday.

Tax Commissioner John A. Field Jr. does not intend that the department be caught again in the same predicament.

"The Board of Public Works has the final assessment decision," he said, "but we plan to provide the physical assets data in case it wants to consider that factor in efforts to arrive at proper valuations."

Some board members have said privately they anticipate no protests from utilities this year. Such a view was based on informal talks with utilities representatives.

What happens in the long run will bear directly on the localities where the properties involved are located. Taxes from utilities go back to schools, county courts and municipalities for current operating expenses.

House Numbering Plan To Be Discussed Again

Further details of a planned house numbering system for St. Clair Ave. Ext. and Harding Ave. in St. Clair Township will be worked out at a meeting of trustees tonight at the township office a Calcutta.

Arthur McDevitt and Harold Williams made a tentative study of the two areas Friday night and assignment of permanent official numbers is to be made later, they said.

The numbering system will be extended to Calcutta, then later to Glenmoor in a move designed to improve mail delivery, McDevitt said.

Pharmacist Stocks Leeches For 'Shiners'

The retail price is $1.50 per worm. Most of his sales are to people with shiners, who contend one leech usually will drain the coagulant from one black eye.

Other adult awards were received by Jack McDevitt, second award for landscape painting with "Wintertime;" Miss Ruth Urie, honorable mention for landscape painting, "Tales of Autumn." Miss Whit Harris was given a special jury award for creative use of materials with "Applique."

In the high school class, grades 9-12, awards went to Eugene Kiernan, first in still life painting with "Still Life;" Elsa Ann Rubin, first in landscape painting, "Sandy Point;" Joan Gilmore, honorable mention in landscape painting, "Autumn;" Reedy Shannon, first in graphic arts, "Psalms;" Bill McWhorter, first in drawing, "From the Window — Harlequin;" Doris Ramsey, second in drawing, "Pussywillows;" Doreen Eccleston, honorable mention in drawing, "Still Life;" Bill McWhorter, first in mosaics, "Citruses and Watermelon;" second, Bruce Roush, "Fishes;" honorable mention Pat Woolf, "Cat;" Holly Lampman received the special jury award for creative use of materials with "Ffity Fathoms—Mobile."

Awards in the elementary school division, grades 1-8, went to Catherine Toft, first award in landscape painting, "Autumn," Barbara Hacker, second, "Fall in Fredericktown" and Margie Mason, honorable mention, "Rock and Surf;" Barrie Smith, first for drawing, "Side Street," Debbie Banfield, second, "A Wild Stallion," and Bill Hopper, honorable mention, "My Naval Base." Barbara Hacker received the special jury award for creative use of materials in "Manny."

Professional artists exhibiting works by invitation and not in competition were: Vincent Broomhall, Bryce Browning, John Gilkes, Hans Hacker, Tad Okazaki, Mrs. June Richards, Don Schreckengost, Mitchell Smith, Mrs. Estella Unkefer and Richard D. Unkefer.

Judges were Gilkes, Schreckengost and Kenneth B. Koos. The show will be open daily through May 24, with members of the City Federation acting as hostesses.

Visitors have been invited to cast a vote for a popular choice in the main lobby, where daily registration is handled.

Ohio Murder Hearing Goes Into Third Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The first-degree murder trial of David S. Smith entered its third week today with attorneys for both the state and defense indicating it may go to the jury by Friday.

Prosecuting Atty. Earl W. Allison says he expects the last of the state witnesses to take the stand Tuesday. Defense counsel George Tyack says defense testimony will take a day and a half.

Smith, 21, a part-time university student, is accused on two counts of first-degree murder in the sex slaying of a neighbor, Mrs. Janice O. Porter, 24, in her home last Dec. 16.

Corn Grinding Mill Called Dying Business

OLD CHURCH, Va. (AP) — "We are doing more business every year, but consumption per capita is getting less. It is a dying business."

That's what John Beattie says of his corn grinding mill here. His father bought it in 1906 and father and son have operated it since.

"People just don't cook any more," Beattie said. "I think the time will come when they stop cooking entirely."

Blasts Television

ANNISTON, Ala. (AP) — Police are looking for a house-breaker who appears to have a sharp dislike for television. Joe S. Noland reported that he and his family returned home from an overnight trip and found somebody had broken into their house and blasted their television set apart with a shotgun.

Students Cited At United High

HANOVERTON — A total of 52 students at United High School achieved the honor roll for the fifth six-weeks grade period, Frank G. Solak, principal, reported. They were:

Seniors — Janet Gromley, Sue Haynam, Sandra Seevers, Anne Speidel and Elizabeth Zeigler, (all A's), and Joyce Cook, Shirley Hubbard, James Kovach, Gary Niswonger, Linda Pritchett, Philip Wack and Denver Whitsel.

Juniors — John Gates and Delores Hall, (all A's), and Mary Lou Alexander, Lloyd Berresford, Lester Blanchard, Don Conser, Susanna Eckman, Tom Maple, Nancy Milburn, James Russell, James Stamp, Joan Willis and Gretchen Young.

Young City Driver Cited After Bergholz Mishap

An East Liverpool youth was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his car hit the rear of another on Route 164 two miles north of Bergholz Sunday afternoon at 2:15, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Robert D. George, 16, of 635 Garner Ave. will appear in Probate Court at Steubenville, officers said. His car hit the rear of one driven by Shirley M. Hutson, 32, of Salineville, who was halted to allow cattle to cross the highway.

Heavy damage resulted to the George car, officers said.

Within His Rights

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Superior Court turned down an appeal by Frank Granieri, 41, from a municipal court conviction of being drunk in public. It acknowledged, however, that his contention that he had a constitutional right to the pursuit of happiness was "a somewhat novel approach."

Plan Changed In Distributing Surplus Food

Registration and distribution of surplus food commodities to area persons "in dire need" will be held at the Central Fire Station Thursday and Friday afternoons from 1 to 3, Robert Bycroft, Columbiana County welfare director, said today.

Distribution of surplus food to regular recipients will be held in the morning at the fire station, Bycroft said.

The registration and immediate distribution of food to needy persons is a relaxation of restrictions on the food program granted by state authorities for residents in extreme need of food, especially some pottery employes recently on strike.

Instead of having registration and a subsequent investigations on the eligibility of the applicants, persons in "dire need" may sign up and get the food the same afternoon, Bycroft said. The investigations will follow, he added.

Representatives of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, the Trades and Labor Council and the city Democrat Club conferred last week with county commissioners, who contacted state officials concerning the emergency clause in the program.

Bycroft said the commodities will include flour, rice, cornmeal, powdered milk and butter. He said it has not been determined how much food will be needed, but it will be distributed until the truck supply is exhausted.

The distribution will be held at Wellsville next Monday.

West Virginia Utility Figure To Stay Same

CHARLESTON (AP) — Public utility assessments this year will be made as in the past despite a recent Supreme Court decision which cast doubt upon this procedure.

Such assessments total about one billion dollars and yield more than 17 million a year in taxes to the state.

The new factor in the situation is the insistance by the State Supreme Court that all property must be treated alike in figuring valuation for tax purposes.

This principle was reaffirmed two weeks ago after being used in June of 1958 the first time the Kanawha Valley Bank case came up.

The ruling both times was that the stock of the bank could not be assessed at 100 per cent of actual value when other property in Kanawha County was being assessed at a lesser rate.

Just what this means for utility assessments has not been determined. That some change might have to be made has been seen because such assessments are made differently than those for other property.

The Board of Public Works relies principally on capitalized value in determining how much the holdings of the utilities are worth. County assessors, on the other hand, largely use physical value in dealing with non-utility property.

The Tax Department, which prepared the information used by the board, has decided to hedge by collecting some data on the physical assets of utilities this year.

But it has little choice now but to procede as in the past for the assessments to be considered by the board at hearings in June. The deadline for these assessments—in their tentative state—is this coming Friday.

Tax Commissioner John A. Field Jr. does not intend that the department be caught again in the same predicament.

"The Board of Public Works has the final assessment decision," he said, "but we plan to provide the physical assets data in case it wants to consider that factor in efforts to arrive at proper valuations."

Some board members have said privately they anticipate no protests from utilities this year. Such a view was based on informal talks with utilities representatives.

What happens in the long run will bear directly on the localities where the properties involved are located. Taxes from utilities go back to schools, county courts and municipalities for current operating expenses.

House Numbering Plan To Be Discussed Again

Further details of a planned house numbering system for St. Clair Ave. Ext. and Harding Ave. in St. Clair Township will be worked out at a meeting of trustees tonight at the township office a Calcutta.

Arthur McDevitt and Harold Williams made a tentative study of the two areas Friday night and assignment of permanent official numbers is to be made later, they said.

The numbering system will be extended to Calcutta, then later to Glenmoor in a move designed to improve mail delivery, McDevitt said.

Pharmacist Stocks Leeches For 'Shiners'

The retail price is $1.50 per worm. Most of his sales are to people with shiners, who contend one leech usually will drain the coagulant from one black eye.

Winners Selected At City's Art Show

Winning entries were announced Sunday when a Spring Open Art Show sponsored by the City Federation of Women's Clubs opened at Carnegie Public Library.

Mr. and Mrs. George Marshall, 310 Garfield St., visitors at the show, are shown above looking at the first prize winners in the adult class. At upper left is "Self Portrait" by Miss Sherill Shaw, which took first for portraits. At upper right is "Solitaire" by Ken O'Hara, first in landscapes. At the bottom is "Still Life No. 1" by Dr. A. L. Turner, first in the still life division.

Other adult awards were received by Jack McDevitt, second award for landscape painting with "Wintertime;" Miss Ruth Urie, honorable mention for landscape painting, "Tales of Autumn." Miss Whit Harris was given a special jury award for creative use of materials with "Applique."

In the high school class, grades 9-12, awards went to Eugene Kiernan, first in still life painting with "Still Life;" Elsa Ann Rubin, first in landscape painting, "Sandy Point;" Joan Gilmore, honorable mention in landscape painting, "Autumn;" Reedy Shannon, first in graphic arts, "Psalms;" Bill McWhorter, first in drawing, "From the Window — Harlequin;" Doris Ramsey, second in drawing, "Pussywillows;" Doreen Eccleston, honorable mention in drawing, "Still Life;" Bill McWhorter, first in mosaics, "Citruses and Watermelon;" second, Bruce Roush, "Fishes;" honorable mention Pat Woolf, "Cat;" Holly Lampman received the special jury award for creative use of materials with "Ffity Fathoms—Mobile."

Awards in the elementary school division, grades 1-8, went to Catherine Toft, first award in landscape painting, "Autumn," Barbara Hacker, second, "Fall in Fredericktown" and Margie Mason, honorable mention, "Rock and Surf;" Barrie Smith, first for drawing, "Side Street," Debbie Banfield, second, "A Wild Stallion," and Bill Hopper, honorable mention, "My Naval Base." Barbara Hacker received the special jury award for creative use of materials in "Manny."

Professional artists exhibiting works by invitation and not in competition were: Vincent Broomhall, Bryce Browning, John Gilkes, Hans Hacker, Tad Okazaki, Mrs. June Richards, Don Schreckengost, Mitchell Smith, Mrs. Estella Unkefer and Richard D. Unkefer.

Judges were Gilkes, Schreckengost and Kenneth B. Koos. The show will be open daily through May 24, with members of the City Federation acting as hostesses.

Visitors have been invited to cast a vote for a popular choice in the main lobby, where daily registration is handled.

Ohio Murder Hearing Goes Into Third Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The first-degree murder trial of David S. Smith entered its third week today with attorneys for both the state and defense indicating it may go to the jury by Friday.

Prosecuting Atty. Earl W. Allison says he expects the last of the state witnesses to take the stand Tuesday. Defense counsel George Tyack says defense testimony will take a day and a half.

Smith, 21, a part-time university student, is accused on two counts of first-degree murder in the sex slaying of a neighbor, Mrs. Janice O. Porter, 24, in her home last Dec. 16.

Corn Grinding Mill Called Dying Business

OLD CHURCH, Va. (AP) — "We are doing more business every year, but consumption per capita is getting less. It is a dying business."

That's what John Beattie says of his corn grinding mill here. His father bought it in 1906 and father and son have operated it since.

"People just don't cook any more," Beattie said. "I think the time will come when they stop cooking entirely."

Blasts Television

ANNISTON, Ala. (AP) — Police are looking for a house-breaker who appears to have a sharp dislike for television. Joe S. Noland reported that he and his family returned home from an overnight trip and found somebody had broken into their house and blasted their television set apart with a shotgun.

Students Cited At United High

HANOVERTON — A total of 52 students at United High School achieved the honor roll for the fifth six-weeks grade period, Frank G. Solak, principal, reported. They were:

Seniors — Janet Gromley, Sue Haynam, Sandra Seevers, Anne Speidel and Elizabeth Zeigler, (all A's), and Joyce Cook, Shirley Hubbard, James Kovach, Gary Niswonger, Linda Pritchett, Philip Wack and Denver Whitsel.

Young City Driver Cited After Bergholz Mishap

An East Liverpool youth was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his car hit the rear of another on Route 164 two miles north of Bergholz Sunday afternoon at 2:15, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Robert D. George, 16, of 635 Garner Ave. will appear in Probate Court at Steubenville, officers said. His car hit the rear of one driven by Shirley M. Hutson, 32, of Salineville, who was halted to allow cattle to cross the highway.

Heavy damage resulted to the George car, officers said.

Within His Rights

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Superior Court turned down an appeal by Frank Granieri, 41, from a municipal court conviction of being drunk in public. It acknowledged, however, that his contention that he had a constitutional right to the pursuit of happiness was "a somewhat novel approach."

Plan Changed In Distributing Surplus Food

Registration and distribution of surplus food commodities to area persons "in dire need" will be held at the Central Fire Station Thursday and Friday afternoons from 1 to 3, Robert Bycroft, Columbiana County welfare director, said today.

Distribution of surplus food to regular recipients will be held in the morning at the fire station, Bycroft said.

The registration and immediate distribution of food to needy persons is a relaxation of restrictions on the food program granted by state authorities for residents in extreme need of food, especially some pottery employes recently on strike.

Instead of having registration and a subsequent investigations on the eligibility of the applicants, persons in "dire need" may sign up and get the food the same afternoon, Bycroft said. The investigations will follow, he added.

Representatives of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, the Trades and Labor Council and the city Democrat Club conferred last week with county commissioners, who contacted state officials concerning the emergency clause in the program.

Bycroft said the commodities will include flour, rice, cornmeal, powdered milk and butter. He said it has not been determined how much food will be needed, but it will be distributed until the truck supply is exhausted.

The distribution will be held at Wellsville next Monday.

Professor Named ADA Head; Close Pal Of John Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Samuel H. Beer, 47, a Harvard professor and an avowed believer in political liberalism, is the new national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action.

Beer's election Sunday by the self-styled liberal organization brings to ADA's top leadership a close friend of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass). Kennedy is considered a likely contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

The ADA supported Stevenson in both his races for the presidency in 1952 and 1956. Before the Democratic convention in 1956, however, the ADA declined to state a preference by saying either Stevenson, Averell Harriman, or Sen. Estes Kefauver would be acceptable.

Beer told a reporter he favors a liberal candidate for president. In response to a question whether Kennedy would be acceptable to him, he replied Kennedy has called himself a liberal and "I think he would be in the liberal category."

As ADA head, Beer was named to succeed Robert R. Nathan, Washington economic consultant.

A native of Bucyrus, Ohio, Beer has been a professor at Harvard University since 1943. He is a Rhodes scholar, a former writer for the Democratic National Committee, and was a reporter for the New York Post in 1936-37.

Anderson Doubts Strauss Will Win

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Clinton Anderson (D-NM) says he has a feeling Lewis L. Strauss will not win Senate confirmation as secretary of commerce.

Anderson has been one of the strongest opponents to Strauss in hearings on the nomination.

The Senate Commerce Committee resumes its lengthy hearing today. Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash), chairman of the group, said he hopes the hearing will end by the middle of the week.

The nomination will go to the Senate after the committee makes its recommendation. Several senators have predicted Senate approval.

4 Buildings Torn As Lightning Hits Powder Magazine

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Dayton's west side shook early Sunday when lightning struck a powder magazine at the United Fireworks Co. touching off an explosion which destroyed three buildings, heavily damaged a fourth and broke windows in numerous homes.

Damage to the firm, reported to be the largest fireworks plant outside Japan, was estimated at $10,000 to $12,000 by Walter Beechler, president of the firm. The four buildings destroyed or damaged were among 35 the company has spread over a 52-acre site just west of the city limits.

No injuries were reported.

Mosher Charges DiSalle Has Held Up Tax Program

CLEVELAND (AP)—State Sen. Charles A. Mosher (R-Lorain) concedes that the state must find new tax sources, but he says Gov. Michael V. DiSalle himself is to blame for delayed action on the administration's tax program.

In a radio interview Sunday, Mosher said no one in the administration has come before the Senate Taxation Committee to "adequately justify" the program and that even certain key Democrats on the committee are not sure the omnibus tax bill is the right approach.

He said the governor has failed "to hit the basic heart of his program, which is an urgency to inform the public as to why new taxes are necessary."

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: We are two boys 9 and 10 years old. Our names are Jimmy and Ronnie. We are brothers. Our father says you are about his age which is quite old. He is 41. He said you would probably know the answer to this problem because you were a young girl in the olden days when he was a young boy.

Was there ever a song: "Does the Spearmint Lose Its Flavor on the Bedpost Overnight?" Dad says there was. We can't believe that people were ever so crazy as to let a song like that get popular. Please answer in the paper. Thank you. — JIMMY AND RONNIE.

Dear Jimmy and Ronnie: Yup your Dad is right. I, too, am a 41-year-old relic. And he's correct about the spearmint song, too.

But why do you think it's so crazy? After "Ooooh Eee Oooh Ahhh Ahh Walla Walla Bing Bang — Ting Tang," I think the spearmint number is downright intelligent. And compared with "Alvin" and the other chipmunk stuff, "Spearmint" is a musical classic.

Home Problems

Dear Ann: Our daughter is almost 16. She's been going steady for a year with a boy who has lots of home problems. I want her to break up with him because she's a nervous wreck as a result of his troubles. My husband has sided with her and I'm fighting this battle alone. Please help me.

This boy's father is an alcoholic. He calls up to tell her his father just passed out and looks like he may be dead. Or his mother got mad at him and took his car away for a month. Or nobody is at home and will she come over and fix him something to eat.

When I tell her this boy is no good for her she says if I don't stop nagging she'll leave home. I don't know where to turn next. Can you help me?—MRS. L. S.

DEAR L.S.: Your daughter is serving as a refuge for this unfortunate boy. This is no role for a 15-year-old girl. You don't help matters either.

Don't try to break up the relationship. Try, instead, to let her know you understand how tough life is for him. Be friendly and pleasant. Win her confidence. Then gradually encourage her to consider going out with others so that she'll have something on which to base a comparison. You'll catch more flies with honey than with vinegar, Mother.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

2 Streamliners Ram In Mountains

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) —Two Southern Pacific streamliners collided on a grade in the Santa Lucia Mountains Sunday, derailing four diesel units and three cars and injuring four persons.

The main line between San Francisco and Los Angeles was out of service for 15 hours. Trains went back into service both ways on temporary tracks.

The northbound and southbound Lark streamliners carrying 235 passengers and crewmen were traveling at reduced speed at 2:53 a.m. when they came together. The northbound train pulled out of a siding and raked the southbound train's last three Pullmans.

Woman Waits Hearing In Drunk Driving Case

An East Liverpool area woman is scheduled to receive a hearing today before Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville on a charge of drunken driving.

Dorothy Murdock of East Liverpool R. D. was arrested Sunday at 2:20 a. m. at 17th St. and Chester Ave., Wellsville, police said. She posted a $200 bond.

An East Liverpool man posted a $20 bond for a hearing today on a charge of intoxication. He was arrested early Sunday morning at 9th and Main Sts.

Dayton Policeman Shot During Robbery Probe

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Policeman Harold L. Walker, 29, was reported in good condition in St. Elizabeth Hospital here after he was shot in the leg while attempting to arrest a man.

Walker, investigating a $400 armed robbery of a grocery, was arresting James H. Treadwell, 30, for questioning Sunday when Treadwell pulled a .22 caliber revolver, police said. Walker tried to knock the gun from Treadwell's hand and in the process the gun discharged, hitting Walker in the thigh.

Treadwell is being held for investigation of shooting with intent to kill and armed robbery.

'It Was Flight From Fear,' Man Says As Wife Vanishes

NORWOOD, N.J. (AP) — "I think," said part-Negro ship officer Jean Brown, "it was a flight from fear."

It has been 16 days since his white wife and their three children disappeared from their comfortable suburban home. "There hasn't been a trace. Not a word," said Brown today.

"I think my wife fled because of a threat about our mixed marriage," Brown said. "It couldn't be anything else. We were a happy family."

A happy family but one that for several years has been harassed by phone calls at all hours of the day and night, "Sometimes as many as 60 a month," said Brown.

"My wife would answer the phone and some one would say something slanderous about 'that nigger husband of yours' and hang up. We tried but couldn't trace the calls."

Two weeks ago last Saturday, Mrs. Brown disappeared with their children, James, 14, Louise, 10, and Stella, 3. She went in the Brown's small car, leaving their new sedan behind.

Also gone was $4,800 from the family savings account. "We were saving the money to buy an inn in Mexico City."

Their last day together had been a happy one, Brown said. It was April 24. The next day was Mrs. Brown's 34th birthday. Brown and the children had baked her a cake.

"We'd lived here about 11 years. We'd gotten along fine. My wife was president of the women's society in the church and several months ago I was asked to be the town's scoutmaster.

"The calls began about two years ago. It was after I got shore duty and was home more often," said Brown, a chief engineer in the Maritime Service.

Brown is listed on his birth certificate as white. "But there is some Negro blood several generations back in my family. It has not shown up in any others in my family but it's pretty strong in me.

"In Europe they take me for an Indian and in India they think I'm a Spaniard."

Police have issued a 13-state alarm and Brown has hired a private detective and offered a $1,000 reward. He has checked his wife's family in Douglas, Wyoming, where the Browns were high school sweethearts. They haven't heard from her.

75 Attend Annual Fete Of Band At Wells High

An estimated 75 attended the annual party for the senior band of Wells High School, arranged by the Newell Band Parents, Saturday night in the high school auditorium.

Awards were presented first-year band members and Misses Carla Grimm and Marilyn Gibas, senior members. Miss Gibas is president of the band.

Mrs. Alyce Ann McDevitt, director, was presented a gift by Mrs. Mae Hupp, president of the Band Parents. George LaNeve, a faculty member, served as disc jockey for a record hop.

Lunch was served buffet style, with Mrs. Grace Gibas as chairman and Mrs. Salem Grimm, co-chairman.

Salineville

Mr. and Mrs. John William Carman are residing in a new home in Salineville following their marriage April 26 at the Hermitage Baptist Church in Camden, S. C.

The bride, the former Miss Ludie Virginia Hall of Camden, S. C., is the daughter of James Lewis Hall of Mebane, N. C., and the late Mrs. Hall and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Carman of Salineville.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ray O. Jones. Church decorations included arrangements of white gladiola and chrysanthemums and lighted tapers in seven-branched candelabra.

Allen Watson, cousin of the bride, was organist and Mrs. Ray Jones sang "O, Perfect Love" and "Seal Us, O Holy Spirit."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, appeared in a white gown of Chantilly lace over satin styled with fitted bodice, elbow-length sleeves and a full ballerina-length skirt. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a coronet of tulle and orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible topped with white rosebuds showered with white ribbon.

Mrs. Frances Owens, aunt of the bride, wore a gold nylon dress over taffeta with black accessories. Mrs. Marilyn Carman, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was attired in a black sheath dress with black and white accessories. Both wore white carnation corsages.

The bride was graduated from Dixie High School at Due West, S. C., and attended Montreat College at Montreat, S. C., for two years. Her husband is a graduate of Salineville High School and is employed at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

Burnings Eggs Smoke, Make East End Man Ill

An East End man is in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital after he was overcome Sunday afternoon about 4:45 by smoke from a pan of burning eggs.

John Caplinger, 49, of 718 Central Ave. was admitted to the hospital for smoke inhalation after receiving oxygen from city firemen.

Firemen first received a call to the Caplinger home at 4:04 p. m., when a neighbor noticed the kitchen was filled with smoke. The fire was out on arrival, firemen said. A pan of eggs had boiled dry on the stove and was creating a heavy smoke.

At 4:45, firemen were recalled to the home, when Caplinger became ill from the smoke.

Mental Health Issue Aired In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — The interim committee of the Governor's Conference on Mental Health met today — as Gov. Underwood put it — "to discuss the problem we have been through and the future of the program."

The "problem" was the controversy surrounding Dr. Margaret T. Ross, which culminated with her resignation last Friday as director of the Department of Mental Health.

Underwood is expected to discuss the Ross matter in a 30-minute "report to the people" scheduled for 8 (daylite time) tonight over a statewide television and radio network. Some stations will carry the speech on a delayed basis later.

The interim committee of the Conference on Mental Health is a 15-member group representing the professions, education, the clergy, mental health organizations, business and industry, and welfare agencies. Its chairmanship has been vacant since Ray Stewart of Huntington moved out of the state recently.

A woman member of the interim committee said that in the meeting with Underwood today she would take a stand against appointment of Dr. Richard J. Lilly as successor to Dr. Ross. The member is Mrs. Lillian Wester of Huntington, president of the West Virginia Association for Mental Health.

She said she is convinced Lilly doesn't place enough emphasis on out-patient treatment and rehabilitation in care of mental patients.

Dr. Ross' resignation is effective at midnight tonight. When Underwood received it Friday, he immediately canceled a hearing which had been scheduled for Saturday morning on charges he said had been brought against Dr. Ross.

Underwood appointed her last February with the agreement that she would resign when the governor's real choice for the $20,000 post, Lilly, completed a year of state residence and thereby became eligible.

Lilly completed his year last month, but Dr. Ross announced she had changed her mind and for the present did not plan to resign. Under the law, the mental health director may be removed only for "misconduct in office or other serious cause."

Next, Underwood announced that charges including misconduct in office had been brought against Dr. Ross.

Boy, 18, Wins Road-E-O

Andy Farina, 13, of 426 14th St., shown holding his certificate, scored a total of 444½ points out of a possible 500. Standing beside him is Robert Culp, project chairman.

Farina also was presented a plaque and a $25 cash prize. He will represent Wellsville in state finals June 7 at Mason.

Placing second was Ronnie James, 1606 Buckeye Ave., who scored 438 points and Albert Wayt, 326 Main St., who tallied 437. James and Wayt were given $15 and $10 cash prizes, respectively.

No girls entered the driving skill contest. Points are based on a written examination and the driving contest. Thirteen of the 20 boys who took the written exam appeared yesterday for the driving.

Culp said new cars were provided by Wells Motors and Grafton Motors of Wellsville and Mike Turk, Inc., of East Liverpool.

East Liverpool held its contest yesterday afternoon at the Loblaw Market lot on Bradshaw Ave., but the winners have not been determined because of a mixup in the entries.

Seventeen entered. But eight of the youths were from Beaver Local High School and it was learned that some of them already had taken the written exam and entered the driving skill contest at Lisbon.

An effort is being made to determine which of those entered here also participated at Lisbon. They either will be disqualified or given the lowest score made at either place.

Means Keep Off

SHIPSHOAL ISLAND, Va. (AP) — Warning signs on this and neighboring Plumtree Island in Chesapeake Bay really mean keep off. Unexploded bombs have been accumulating since the days of Billy Mitchell and the Air Force says they are a major hazard to any person who might go ashore.

Work Mishap Hurts Man, 56

A man injured at work this morning was treated at City Hospital, where eight youngsters and adults were treated over the weekend following separate mishaps.

C. H. McCune, 56, of 943 Dresden Ave. suffered a small laceration of the left ear in a fall against saggers this morning at New Castle Refractories.

Willis George, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis George, 866 Baxter St., received a cut of the right eyelid in a fall from a swing Sunday night.

Bitten by a neighbor's dog, Donnie Sanford, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Sanford of Coolidge Ave., Sub-station, was treated yesterday for a wound of the left hand.

William Brown, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, 1777 Chester Ave., Wellsville, received a cut of the scalp when struck by a brick at play Sunday.

Emmett Johnson, 58, of 725 E. 4th St., suffered a cut of a finger of the right hand on a water faucet at home yesterday morning.

Robert Reed, 47, of 466 Mulberry St. was treated last night for a laceration of the scalp received when accidentally struck by a water glass.

James Williamson, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Williamson, 732 Sophia St., was treated Sunday for a puncture wound of the left foot suffered when he stepped on a nail.

While playing football, William Carter, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Carter, 1166 Harker Ave., received a finger injury. He was treated Saturday.

High-Flying Baby

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (AP) — Baby-care items are used to keep Republic Aviation Corp.'s F-105 Thunderchief in flying trim. Diapers are used to wipe down canopies and instrument panels; talcum powder is used to ease friction when tight fitting fuel cells are installed and castile soap is used for pressure testing hoses and connections.

Grange At West Point Confers Degrees On 7

WEST POINT — Seventy-two attended the West Point Grange meeting Friday, when the third and fourth degrees were given to seven candidates by a team from Highlandtown Grange.

Guests were present from Guilford Grange. Mrs. Donald Custer won first place and Mrs. Donna Jean Burcher was second in the Grange sewing contest. William Martin, master, presided.

The next meeting will be Friday, May 22, when the Clarkson Grange will bring the "Traveling Chest" and present the program.

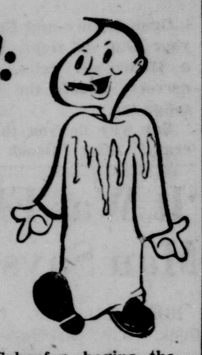
WIICy Says:



WIIC Televises Pitt-Penn State Track Meet Saturday at Noon

Complete Geneva Conference News On Channel 11

Track and field fans in the area are in for a real treat this Saturday, May 16, when Channel 11 scores another "first" by televising the University of Pittsburgh-Penn State University track meet direct from Pitt Stadium.

The meet, first in a series of special Bicentennial events to be carried by WIIC, will be televised from noon until 2 p. m. The remote telecast marks the first time such an event has ever been televised in the Pittsburgh area.

Commenting on the track meet, WIIC's general manager Robert A. Mortensen said, "We are extremely happy to be able to bring this exciting spring sports attraction to thousands of track and field fans in the Tri-State area. We feel it will also serve to focus even greater attention on Pittsburgh's celebration of its Bicentennial year".

Sportscaster Mal Alberts will team up with Len Johnson to broadcast the events. Area fans will get a chance to see Pitt's Mel Barnwell in the sprints as well as Penn State miler Ed Moran. Both are considered excellent 1960 Olympic prospects.

Channel 11's Mal Alberts has handled many other major track and field meets. Included are the Compton Relays, Compton, Cal.; the Los Angeles Coliseum Invitational and the United States Olympic trials.

Foreign Ministers on 11

With the Foreign Ministers' conference on West Berlin beginning May 11, viewers will be looking to newscasters for up-to-the-minute coverage of this important meeting. The award-winning news team of Chet Huntley and David Brinkley, seen on Channel 11 each weekday evening at 6:45 p. m., will undoubtedly bring the most complete reports on events as they happen.

Mark Schaefer begins the 30-minute daily news roundup at 6:30 p. m. with local news headlines and Mal Alberts steps in at 6:40 p. m. with a look at the sports world.

For the late news picture, WIIC presents Pittsburgh's only 15-minute nighttime newscast when Ed Conway takes over at 11 p. m. with local, regional and world news. And every newscast gives you brief but complete weather information.

Chet Huntley, winner of a DuPont Award and two Peabody Awards, is scheduled to speak before the Pittsburgh Advertising Club on May 19.

The affair will be held at the Penn-Sheraton Hotel.

WIICy Picks

Monday night's "Whirlybirds" at 7 p. m. features the story of a young bride who runs away from her husband, hires Chuck and P. T. to return her to him — and finds a corpse instead!

WIICY's pick for Wednesday evening is Channel 11's "Target" at 10:30 p. m. Boyd Harris, insanely jealous of his much-younger wife, plans to kill her in one of the most dramatic and tension-packed adventures ever screened.

Friday's top pick is Dane Clark and Joan Marshall in another exciting "Bold Venture" episode at 7 p. m. Sailor Duval buys a painting from an island artist and suddenly discovers herself caught in a web of murder and robbery.

Mental Health Issue Aired In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — The interim committee of the Governor's Conference on Mental Health met today — as Gov. Underwood put it — "to discuss the problem we have been through and the future of the program."

The "problem" was the controversy surrounding Dr. Margaret T. Ross, which culminated with her resignation last Friday as director of the Department of Mental Health.

Underwood is expected to discuss the Ross matter in a 30-minute "report to the people" scheduled for 8 (daylite time) tonight over a statewide television and radio network. Some stations will carry the speech on a delayed basis later.

The interim committee of the Conference on Mental Health is a 15-member group representing the professions, education, the clergy, mental health organizations, business and industry, and welfare agencies. Its chairmanship has been vacant since Ray Stewart of Huntington moved out of the state recently.

A woman member of the interim committee said that in the meeting with Underwood today she would take a stand against appointment of Dr. Richard J. Lilly as successor to Dr. Ross. The member is Mrs. Lillian Wester of Huntington, president of the West Virginia Association for Mental Health.

She said she is convinced Lilly doesn't place enough emphasis on out-patient treatment and rehabilitation in care of mental patients.

Dr. Ross' resignation is effective at midnight tonight. When Underwood received it Friday, he immediately canceled a hearing which had been scheduled for Saturday morning on charges he said had been brought against Dr. Ross.

Underwood appointed her last February with the agreement that she would resign when the governor's real choice for the $20,000 post, Lilly, completed a year of state residence and thereby became eligible.

Lilly completed his year last month, but Dr. Ross announced she had changed her mind and for the present did not plan to resign. Under the law, the mental health director may be removed only for "misconduct in office or other serious cause."

Next, Underwood announced that charges including misconduct in office had been brought against Dr. Ross.

Boy, 18, Wins Road-E-O

Andy Farina, 13, of 426 14th St., shown holding his certificate, scored a total of 444½ points out of a possible 500. Standing beside him is Robert Culp, project chairman.

Farina also was presented a plaque and a $25 cash prize. He will represent Wellsville in state finals June 7 at Mason.

Placing second was Ronnie James, 1606 Buckeye Ave., who scored 438 points and Albert Wayt, 326 Main St., who tallied 437. James and Wayt were given $15 and $10 cash prizes, respectively.

No girls entered the driving skill contest. Points are based on a written examination and the driving contest. Thirteen of the 20 boys who took the written exam appeared yesterday for the driving.

Culp said new cars were provided by Wells Motors and Grafton Motors of Wellsville and Mike Turk, Inc., of East Liverpool.

East Liverpool held its contest yesterday afternoon at the Loblaw Market lot on Bradshaw Ave., but the winners have not been determined because of a mixup in the entries.

Seventeen entered. But eight of the youths were from Beaver Local High School and it was learned that some of them already had taken the written exam and entered the driving skill contest at Lisbon.

An effort is being made to determine which of those entered here also participated at Lisbon. They either will be disqualified or given the lowest score made at either place.

Means Keep Off

Work Mishap Hurts Man, 56

A man injured at work this morning was treated at City Hospital, where eight youngsters and adults were treated over the weekend following separate mishaps.

C. H. McCune, 56, of 943 Dresden Ave. suffered a small laceration of the left ear in a fall against saggers this morning at New Castle Refractories.

Willis George, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis George, 866 Baxter St., received a cut of the right eyelid in a fall from a swing Sunday night.

Bitten by a neighbor's dog, Donnie Sanford, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Sanford of Coolidge Ave., Sub-station, was treated yesterday for a wound of the left hand.

William Brown, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, 1777 Chester Ave., Wellsville, received a cut of the scalp when struck by a brick at play Sunday.

Emmett Johnson, 58, of 725 E. 4th St., suffered a cut of a finger of the right hand on a water faucet at home yesterday morning.

Robert Reed, 47, of 466 Mulberry St. was treated last night for a laceration of the scalp received when accidentally struck by a water glass.

James Williamson, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Williamson, 732 Sophia St., was treated Sunday for a puncture wound of the left foot suffered when he stepped on a nail.

While playing football, William Carter, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Carter, 1166 Harker Ave., received a finger injury. He was treated Saturday.

High-Flying Baby

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (AP) — Baby-care items are used to keep Republic Aviation Corp.'s F-105 Thunderchief in flying trim. Diapers are used to wipe down canopies and instrument panels; talcum powder is used to ease friction when tight fitting fuel cells are installed and castile soap is used for pressure testing hoses and connections.

Grange At West Point Confers Degrees On 7

WEST POINT — Seventy-two attended the West Point Grange meeting Friday, when the third and fourth degrees were given to seven candidates by a team from Highlandtown Grange.

Guests were present from Guilford Grange. Mrs. Donald Custer won first place and Mrs. Donna Jean Burcher was second in the Grange sewing contest. William Martin, master, presided.

The next meeting will be Friday, May 22, when the Clarkson Grange will bring the "Traveling Chest" and present the program.

WIICy Says:
WIIC Televises Pitt-Penn State Track Meet Saturday at Noon

Complete Geneva Conference News On Channel 11

Track and field fans in the area are in for a real treat this Saturday, May 16, when Channel 11 scores another "first" by televising the University of Pittsburgh-Penn State University track meet direct from Pitt Stadium.

The meet, first in a series of special Bicentennial events to be carried by WIIC, will be televised from noon until 2 p. m. The remote telecast marks the first time such an event has ever been televised in the Pittsburgh area.

Commenting on the track meet, WIIC's general manager Robert A. Mortensen said, "We are extremely happy to be able to bring this exciting spring sports attraction to thousands of track and field fans in the Tri-State area. We feel it will also serve to focus even greater attention on Pittsburgh's celebration of its Bicentennial year".

Sportscaster Mal Alberts will team up with Len Johnson to broadcast the events. Area fans will get a chance to see Pitt's Mel Barnwell in the sprints as well as Penn State miler Ed Moran. Both are considered excellent 1960 Olympic prospects.

Channel 11's Mal Alberts has handled many other major track and field meets. Included are the Compton Relays, Compton, Cal.; the Los Angeles Coliseum Invitational and the United States Olympic trials.

Foreign Ministers on 11

With the Foreign Ministers' conference on West Berlin beginning May 11, viewers will be looking to newscasters for up-to-the-minute coverage of this important meeting. The award-winning news team of Chet Huntley and David Brinkley, seen on Channel 11 each weekday evening at 6:45 p. m., will undoubtedly bring the most complete reports on events as they happen.

Mark Schaefer begins the 30-minute daily news roundup at 6:30 p. m. with local news headlines and Mal Alberts steps in at 6:40 p. m. with a look at the sports world.

For the late news picture, WIIC presents Pittsburgh's only 15-minute nighttime newscast when Ed Conway takes over at 11 p. m. with local, regional and world news. And every newscast gives you brief but complete weather information.

Chet Huntley, winner of a DuPont Award and two Peabody Awards, is scheduled to speak before the Pittsburgh Advertising Club on May 19.

The affair will be held at the Penn-Sheraton Hotel.

Girl, Boy Killed By Truck Morning Of Wedding Day

Ohio Weekend Fatalities

Traffic	11
Fire	0
Miscellaneous	2
Total	13

By The Associated Press

It was a special Saturday morning walk they were taking along a country road outside Mansfield. It was their time to be alone before the most important afternoon of their lives.

In just a few hours, Miss Mattie Mingle, 19, and her fiance, Donald Leed, 20, were to be married.

Suddenly, their bright world ended. A truck, trying to pass a car, slammed into the young couple. Leed was injured. Lying nearby was Mattie. She was dead.

She was one of 13 to die accidentally in Ohio over the weekend, according to the Associated Press' count between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday. Eleven died in traffic accidents, one person drowned and another was struck by lightning.

Swelling the total was an Ohio Turnpike accident that claimed three lives. Eight persons have died in Turnpike accidents this year.

The fatalities:

Friday night:

Roy H. Fanslau, 27, Parma, in a headon crash on Ohio 14 north of Streetboro (Portage County).

Robert Carl Myers, 28, Bowling Green, when the car in which he was riding went out of control and crashed on Ohio 199 west of Walbridge (Wood County).

Harry Craig, 57, Springfield, when the car in which he was riding crashed into a truck on old U.S. 40, six miles west of Springfield.

Saturday

Kevin Davis, 6, Kent, drowned when he fell into the Cuyahoga River in Kent while playing on the bank.

Miss Mattie Mingle, 19, Mansfield, when struck by a truck as she and her fiance walked along a road just outside Mansfield a few hours before their wedding.

Deforest Mastin, 31, Washington Court House, when his car collided with another auto on U.S. 62, 1½ miles north of Leesburg (Highland County).

Fred Sharkey, 60, of near Adamsville (Muskingum County) when his car plunged off Ohio 75 and down a 50-foot embankment, about 10 miles north of Zanesville.

Sunday

Rhonda Jean Holton, 3, Rt. 3, Waverly, struck by a car when she started to run across U.S. 23 near the Pike-Ross County line.

Christopher Perryman, 49; Sennie Mitchell, 60, and Caroline Fortson, about 50, all of Detroit, when their car was struck from the rear by a truck on the Ohio Turnpike about seven miles west of the Lorain-Elyria Interchange.

Thomas N. Rudy, 42, Rt. 1, West Salem, when struck by a car while walking along U.S. 42 about a mile north of the Medina-Wayne County line.

Earlier, Lloyd had called a meeting of the Western foreign ministers to consider a formula for settling the German participation dispute.

The Western ministers met for just under an hour and discussed versions of a compromise proposal on the role of the German delegations at the conference. Then Lloyd went to see Gromyko.

Western officials said the Soviet maneuver to seat East Germany was aimed at compelling a degree of Western recognition of the German Red regime.

The move could force a quick breakdown of the conference, they declared, but most of them expected Gromyko to back down. The West is willing to invite the East and West Germans in as observers but not as full-fledged participants.

British informants said Gromyko and Lloyd had talked about something along this line: Gromyko would drop his demand to have the Germans seated at the conference table. The Western ministers in turn would agree that the German representatives could speak out in the conference instead of making their views known only through one of the Big Four ministers.

A U.S. spokesman told newsmen the United States would not want to see the Geneva conference break up on a procedural issue.

The opening speeches by Lloyd, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Gromyko and Couve de Murville were expected to swing attention back to the main issues. These include the Soviet bid for withdrawal of Western forces from West Berlin and a prospective proposal by the Western powers for step-by-step unification of East and West Germany.

The three Western leaders want to find out in the next week or two whether there is any possibility of winning Soviet acceptance of German unification at a summit conference. Agreement on a unity plan would almost automatically solve the Berlin problem since Berlin would be the capital of a reunited country.

Allied Leaders Honor 'Blockade-Busters'

Soviet barriers on the highway-rail corridor to West Germany came down one minute after midnight May 12, 1949. West Berliners planned solemn ceremonies Tuesday to recall the moment.

Because of the new Communist threat against West Berlin, the long-planned anniversary celebration was turned into a new demonstration of Western support for the isolated city.

Firemen Wondering If It Was Good Idea

The department allowed flood victims to use fire department equipment to battle the water.

Few of the borrowers returned the equipment.

the same time. I couldn't keep my lamp lighted. I kept trying to keep that lamp lighted but it would blow out. It isn't so bad with light, you know," she explained.

Her husband nodded. He was working in nearby Ada, Okla., when the twister hit Saturday night.

W. W. Scarbrough, a neighbor of the Thompsons, looked over on a hill a few hundred yards to the southeast. L. Tom Daniel, an old-timer in these parts, had lived there. He was dead, three members of his family hospitalized.

"It came in fast and we were running toward our shelter. The wind almost took some of us. We didn't know about the Daniels' place until later," said Scarbrough.

"Then we looked out the door. We could see his barn was gone. We went closer. Everything was gone."

Lisbon School Board Sets Meeting Tuesday

LISBON — Hiring of a new teacher and approval of remodeling of the science room in the High School will be the two main items of discussion when the village school board meets Tuesday night, according to Supt. Loren Early.

Eleven new text books also will be discussed. Replacement of typewriters and the purchase of items to be used in school work also will be discussed, Early said.

Beaver Local Slated In State Soil Contest

The Beaver Local Future Farmers of America soil judging team is slated to attend the state FFA soil judging contest at Columbus June 5.

The team won first place in a district contest at Hanoverton May 1. The team includes Gale Strader, Raymond Burkey, James Coie, Paul Milhoan and Dean Bowman. Ten schools participated in the district event, in which Carrollton was second and United Local, third.

Total	13

By The Associated Press

It was a special Saturday morning walk they were taking along a country road outside Mansfield. It was their time to be alone before the most important afternoon of their lives.

In just a few hours, Miss Mattie Mingle, 19, and her fiance, Donald Leed, 20, were to be married.

Suddenly, their bright world ended. A truck, trying to pass a car, slammed into the young couple. Leed was injured. Lying nearby was Mattie. She was dead.

She was one of 13 to die accidentally in Ohio over the weekend, according to the Associated Press' count between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday. Eleven died in traffic accidents, one person drowned and another was struck by lightning.

Swelling the total was an Ohio Turnpike accident that claimed three lives. Eight persons have died in Turnpike accidents this year.

The fatalities:

Friday night:

Roy H. Fanslau, 27, Parma, in a headon crash on Ohio 14 north of Streetboro (Portage County).

Robert Carl Myers, 28, Bowling Green, when the car in which he was riding went out of control and crashed on Ohio 199 west of Walbridge (Wood County).

Harry Craig, 57, Springfield, when the car in which he was riding crashed into a truck on old U.S. 40, six miles west of Springfield.

Saturday

Kevin Davis, 6, Kent, drowned when he fell into the Cuyahoga River in Kent while playing on the bank.

Miss Mattie Mingle, 19, Mansfield, when struck by a truck as she and her fiance walked along a road just outside Mansfield a few hours before their wedding.

Deforest Mastin, 31, Washington Court House, when his car collided with another auto on U.S. 62, 1½ miles north of Leesburg (Highland County).

Fred Sharkey, 60, of near Adamsville (Muskingum County) when his car plunged off Ohio 75 and down a 50-foot embankment, about 10 miles north of Zanesville.

Sunday

Rhonda Jean Holton, 3, Rt. 3, Waverly, struck by a car when she started to run across U.S. 23 near the Pike-Ross County line.

Christopher Perryman, 49; Sennie Mitchell, 60, and Caroline Fortson, about 50, all of Detroit, when their car was struck from the rear by a truck on the Ohio Turnpike about seven miles west of the Lorain-Elyria Interchange.

Thomas N. Rudy, 42, Rt. 1, West Salem, when struck by a car while walking along U.S. 42 about a mile north of the Medina-Wayne County line.

ters on a time for opening the conference.

Earlier, Lloyd had called a meeting of the Western foreign ministers to consider a formula for settling the German participation dispute.

The Western ministers met for just under an hour and discussed versions of a compromise proposal on the role of the German delegations at the conference. Then Lloyd went to see Gromyko.

Western officials said the Soviet maneuver to seat East Germany was aimed at compelling a degree of Western recognition of the German Red regime.

The move could force a quick breakdown of the conference, they declared, but most of them expected Gromyko to back down. The West is willing to invite the East and West Germans in as observers but not as full-fledged participants.

British informants said Gromyko and Lloyd had talked about something along this line: Gromyko would drop his demand to have the Germans seated at the conference table. The Western ministers in turn would agree that the German representatives could speak out in the conference instead of making their views known only through one of the Big Four ministers.

A U.S. spokesman told newsmen the United States would not want to see the Geneva conference break up on a procedural issue.

The opening speeches by Lloyd, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Gromyko and Couve de Murville were expected to swing attention back to the main issues. These include the Soviet bid for withdrawal of Western forces from West Berlin and a prospective proposal by the Western powers for step-by-step unification of East and West Germany.

The three Western leaders want to find out in the next week or two whether there is any possibility of winning Soviet acceptance of German unification at a summit conference. Agreement on a unity plan would almost automatically solve the Berlin problem since Berlin would be the capital of a reunited country.

Allied Leaders Honor 'Blockade-Busters'

Soviet barriers on the highway-rail corridor to West Germany came down one minute after midnight May 12, 1949. West Berliners planned solemn ceremonies Tuesday to recall the moment.

Because of the new Communist threat against West Berlin, the long-planned anniversary celebration was turned into a new demonstration of Western support for the isolated city.

Firemen Wondering If It Was Good Idea

The department allowed flood victims to use fire department equipment to battle the water.

Few of the borrowers returned the equipment.

the same time. I couldn't keep my lamp lighted. I kept trying to keep hat lamp lighted but it would blow out. It isn't so bad with light, you know," she explained.

Her husband nodded. He was working in nearby Ada, Okla., when the twister hit Saturday night.

W. W. Scarbrough, a neighbor of the Thompsons, looked over on a hill a few hundred yards to the southeast. L. Tom Daniel, an old-timer in these parts, had lived there. He was dead, three members of his family hospitalized.

"It came in fast and we were running toward our shelter. The wind almost took some of us. We didn't know about the Daniels' place until later," said Scarbrough.

"Then we looked out the door. We could see his barn was gone. We went closer. Everything was gone."

Lisbon School Board Sets Meeting Tuesday

LISBON — Hiring of a new teacher and approval of remodeling of the science room in the High School will be the two main items of discussion when the village school board meets Tuesday night, according to Supt. Loren Early.

Eleven new text books also will be discussed. Replacement of typewriters and the purchase of items to be used in school work also will be discussed, Early said.

Beaver Local Slated In State Soil Contest

Do-It-Yourself Clamor Backfires

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The do-it-yourself movement is "snare and delusion," at least to one "handy" woman who has just had her share of adventure in that field.

"I guess I was trapped into it because so many friends smirked when I said I was going to have a floor in my brownstone house remodeled," says Cecily Brownstone, Associated Press food editor.

" 'Why not do it yourself?' they challenged, as they rattled off the ease with which things could be done. 'Why, you could have a mink coat with what you would save on labor.' "

CECILY fell hard. After months of doing it herself though, she still doesn't see a prospect of furs, but does suffer from exhaustion, blighter epidermis and a depressed feeling that things will never be the same.

She hasn't begun to figure what it will cost to repair the ravages of "do - it - yourself." Her hands are rougher than nutmeg graters, she says.

Friends who were always on hand to prod her into action seemed to disappear once the project got under way. When they did come out of hiding, it was only to pass on more advice.

"They'd give me directions, then say—'But don't do it that way. I have a better way.' When that didn't work, they would say 'Well, the real secret is . . . .' They are cagier with their do-it-yourself tricks than a French chef with culinary secrets."

The most discouraging aspect of do-it-yourself for Cecily was that everything took longer than she could possibly imagine.

"I began to loathe preceding generations when I tried to remove the 30-odd coats of paint from the walls and black marble fireplace. When I hit bottom, I found a cassein paint, all the rage 100 or more years ago. The trouble was it would not respond to modern paint removers. The product I had to use not only removes paint, but dissolves skin and bones as well. I had to invest in a complete protective outfit cover-alls, hat and gloves."

THE UPSHOT of it all is that Cecily recently has been concentrating on the professional "help wanted" ads.

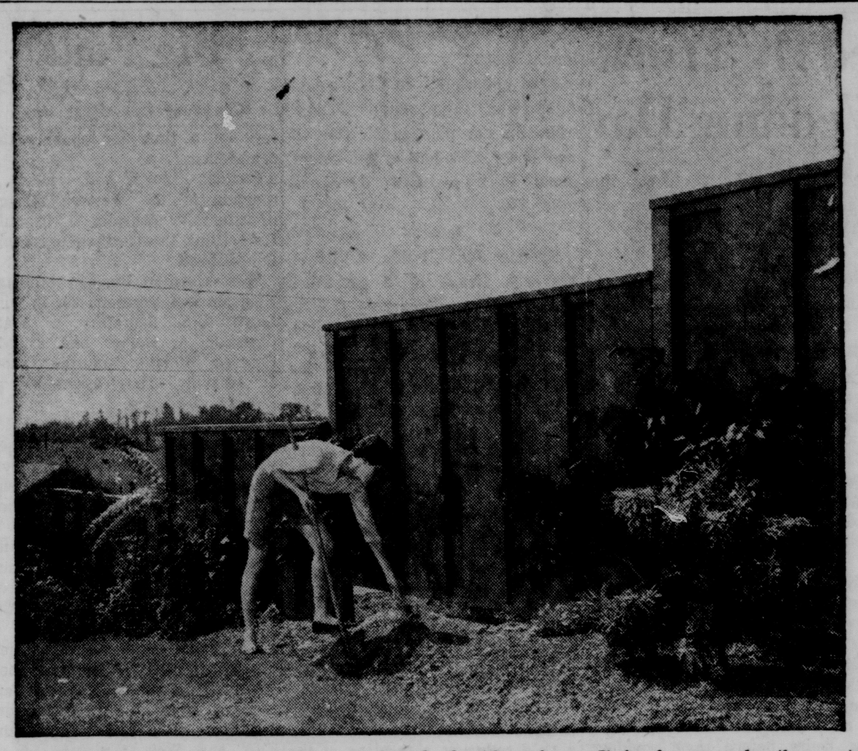
"The fireplace has become such a chore for me that my sister finally decided to refinish it as a birthday gift, mainly to save the $75 I was about to invest to have someone else do it. But there is still a long way to go, and I'll be glad to pay to have someone else take over."

Cecily, now dedicated to revealing all when she finds time to write about it, says that remodeling a home is definitely not a career girl's dish of tea, especially if she can make more profitable use of her time.

"One needs a husband's moral support or the energy of a football player," to survive the experience that snowballs from paint remover to plaster, wallpaper, and paint.

"I've become such a horrible bore with my many groans and complaints that my friends flee when they see me. I've been looking forward to the day when I can entertain gracefully again, but right now I'd be too tired to conduct the guided tour, even if my house looked like a palace."

A good help - yourself thirst-quenching snack to leave for the refrigerator raiders is a whole pared pineapple (covered with transparent plastic film) — everyone is invited to cut a slice.



A GOOD MANY landscaping problems can be solved with a fence. It is, for example, the most economical and space-saving means of setting off property lines. The beauty of a handsomely designed fence like this one of rugged western red cedar is not to be denied. Because of the sharp slope of this lot, the fence was built in 8-foot sections which step down the hill.

Proper Fence Will Answer Varied Needs

PORTLAND, Ore. — All over the country — California to Maine — a veritable procession of determined-looking men and women is streaming out back doors lugging spades and hoes and trundling wheelbarrows in front of them.

Joining this green-thumbed group is another jolly band also migrating to the back yard, but these carry hammers and saws, paint buckets and brushes.

It's not hard to guess the purposes of these two sects. The first is bent on improving and embellishing his home with varied flora, the second aims to protect the fruits of his labor with a sturdy fence.

As well as attempting to deter the wanderings of friendly canines and curious children, the fence builders also have in mind providing a handsome backdrop for their cherished shrubbery and blooms.

And home owners are learning that there's no more attractive compliment to their home than a beautifully - designed, well - constructed fence.

Riding high as favorites throughout the country are tall, dimensional fences built of rich, rugged woods like western red cedar and Douglas fir, and the popular patterns are designed to exploit the natural beauties of these woods.

One pattern gaining much attention for its individual attractiveness, as well as its ability to blend with and compliment various architectural styles, is the board-on-board.

To keep the setting as native as possible, most homeowners prefer using rough-sawn boards and either staining them to capture the natural coloring of the wood used or allowing the fence to weather naturally to a striking, silvery gray. Both the natural wood color and the weathered hue provide an excellent foil for greenery and flowers.

In cases of a sloping lot, board-on-board fences can be designed in sections which step down the slope of the yard. And, oftentimes, a stepped-down fence is built as a means of giving eye-interest to perfectly straight property lines.

But no matter what style is selected for the fence, those home owners who are putting them up now have the right idea, for the rain-softened soil of May and early June makes setting of fence posts a relatively easy task.

Precision-Made Doors Offer Variety Of Styles

They not only serve a vital functional purpose but they also are an important element in the styling of a house. Tastefully selected, they lend character and personality to a home.

This is particularly true of doors finished in natural tones to reveal the beauty of wood grain and coloring.

Fortunately for the home planner and remodeler today, top-quality wood doors adapted to all types of architectural design are readily available at moderate cost. Precision-made by modern factory methods, they come in a wide varity of styles to suit almost any need or preference.

In addition to the array of stock designs, custom-made wood doors can be obtained for any type of architectural expression.

On request, dealers can obtain them already mortised for locks and cut for hinges. Doors also can be ordered prefit to the exact dimensions required.

Flush doors, distinguished by their continuous smooth surface, are popular with most architect, designers and home owners nowadays. They can be cut to accommodate lights, louvers, panels and other special details if desired.

Most doors in today's homes are either of hardwood veneered or ponderosa pine construction.

The nation's major producers of wood doors, organized as the National Woodwork Manufacturers Association, adhere voluntarily to a rigid code of construction requirements known as commercial standards. These are designed to assure the consumer a high level of quality.

The standards include stock layouts and designs not only for flush doors but also for the panel and sash styles, all of which are produced both in hardwood veneer and in ponderosa pine.

A panel door is one made up of stiles, rails and one or more panels, with the stiles and rails forming the frame around the panels. A sash door is similar to a panel door except that one or more panels are replaced by glass.

Other available varieties produced in accordance with the standards include louver doors, cupboard doors, french or casement, combination doors with removable glass and screen inserts, storm, screen doors and garage doors. The latter can be obtained in swing-up or roll-up styles.

Among the popular designs, for example, are these panel arrangements: one large panel occupying a major portion of the door area; two panels, with the top one dominant in size; three square panels; five horizonal rectangular panels; and the six-panel colonial.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dieting Needs Balance Of Exercise

Many dieters make the mistake of cutting calories too low. They try to subsist on semi-starvation menus instead of eating protectively and shaping up with a little regular exercise.

Ida Jean Kain

To look and feel like your young self, eat a protective diet and get the exercise habit. This report from a Michigan reducer gives beautiful proof.

"I have never been a heavyweight, but I am one of those gals who has to watch it constantly, coming from a large family of heavyweights. Between calorie counting and a small amount of regular exercise, I manage to keep myself down to my best weight—135 pounds for my 5 feet 6½.

"I START WITH a series of exercises each morning, and every time I find myself in front of my bedroom or bathroom mirror, I do extra stretch-bends. While waiting for the few minutes for a load of washing to be done, I do a few more.

It's surprising what those extra stretch-bends can do for one's waistline! At 45 I have more pep and feel better than at 25.

"My reason for writing is to find the calories in barley. My congratulations to all your courageous dieters."

Barley contains 50 calories per tablespoon (uncooked), or approximately 185 calories per quarter cup. But a little barley goes a long way in soup and adds to satisfaction.

Now back to our dieters. To shape up as you lose weight, take six minutes of toning exercises daily, and add an extra stretch-bend now and then during the day as you go about your housework. It's slimming! As today's letter promises, you will not only trim off bulging inches, but you will feel dynamically alive.

Some ingenious gals chart their progress by the tape measure instead of the scales. One overweight who became discouraged with the scales report decided to reduce by inches instead of pounds, using the tape measure as her "scale." Her story is refreshingly different. . .

"I reduced waist, bust, abdomen and hips a total of 10 inches in 2½ months. Instead of 'dieting' I stopped overeating, changed my food habits and added stretching-bending exercises, not grimly with clenched teeth, but joyfully. I am a more relaxed, happier — and slimmer person."

ALL RIGHT friends. . .reach for the ceiling. First loosen belt if tight . . . then pull through the middle measurement as you stretch high with one arm, then the other arm, as if you were climbing a ladder.

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for illustrated exercise leaflet entitled "For A Slimmer Midriff." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove tar stains?

A. Material that has become stained with tar or car grease can be cleaned by rubbing well with lard and then washing in warm suds.

Q. How long should macaroni be cooked?

A. Cook macaroni in quickly boiling water for twenty minutes. Then drain and rinse well with cold water, and the macaroni will not be sticky nor starchy.

New officers of the WSCS of the Green Valley Methodist Church were elected and past presidents honored at a meeting Wednesday evening in the social rooms.

Officers include Mrs. Robert Christy, re-elected president; Mrs. Jack Morrow, vice president; Mrs. Floyd Rogers, secretary; Mrs. Gerald Rogers, treasurer, and Mrs. Clarence Christy, spiritual life secretary.

Mrs. Morrow was in charge of the program and gave the history of the Ladies Aid and a talk on what the WSCS means to the church. White mum corsages were given each past president. Mrs. Robert Christy was given a rosebud corsage by the 1958 officers. Mrs. Shirley Rogers sang "Hope of the Hopeless," accompanied by Mrs. Morrow at the piano.

Tables were decorated with summer flowers and lunch was served by Mrs. Robert Christy, Mrs. Morrow and Mrs. Rogers.

The society was started Nov. 6, 1928, under the name of the Ladies Aid with Mrs. Harry Rambo as first president. Mrs. Rambo was president also in 1929 and 1930.

Other presidents of the Ladies Aid were Mrs. Clarence Christy, 1931 and 1933; Mrs. Clair Gamble, 1932; Mrs. John Marker, 1934 and 1935, and Mrs. Carl Gardner, 1936 through 1939.

The group's name was changed to WSCS Nov. 6, 1940, at the home of Mrs. John Hayward. Officers then were Mrs. Marker, president; Mrs. Ruben Cotter, vice president; Mrs. Carl Gardner, secretary, and Mrs. Cathryn Calhoon, treasurer.

WSCS presidents have been Mrs. Marker, 1941 and 1942; Mrs. Dorothy Bates, 1943 and 1944; Mrs. John Espey, 1945, 1947 and 1951; Mrs. Smith Hayward, 1946 and 1953; Mrs. Agnes Jones, 1948 and and 1954; Mrs. Richard Morrow Jr., 1952 and 1955; Mrs. Phyllis Swearingen 1956 and 1957, and Mrs. Robert Christy, 1958.

About 15 attended a wiener roast Wednesday evening given by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Graham, honoring their daughter, Brenda, on her 11th birthday anniversary.

Games were played. Lunch was served by Mrs. Graham and daughter, Carol.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McElhaney and children of East Liverpool visited Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Scott Sunday.

Friends who were always on hand to prod her into action seemed to disappear once the project got under way. When they did come out of hiding, it was only to pass on more advice.

"They'd give me directions, then say—'But don't do it that way. I have a better way.' When that didn't work, they would say 'Well, the real secret is . . . .' They are cagier with their do-it-yourself tricks than a French chef with culinary secrets."

The most discouraging aspect of do-it-yourself for Cecily was that everything took longer than she could possibly imagine.

"I began to loathe preceding generations when I tried to remove the 30-odd coats of paint from the walls and black marble fireplace. When I hit bottom, I found a cassein paint, all the rage 100 or more years ago. The trouble was it would not respond to modern paint removers. The product I had to use not only removes paint, but dissolves skin and bones as well. I had to invest in a complete protective outfit cover-alls, hat and gloves."

THE UPSHOT of it all is that Cecily recently has been concentrating on the professional "help wanted" ads.

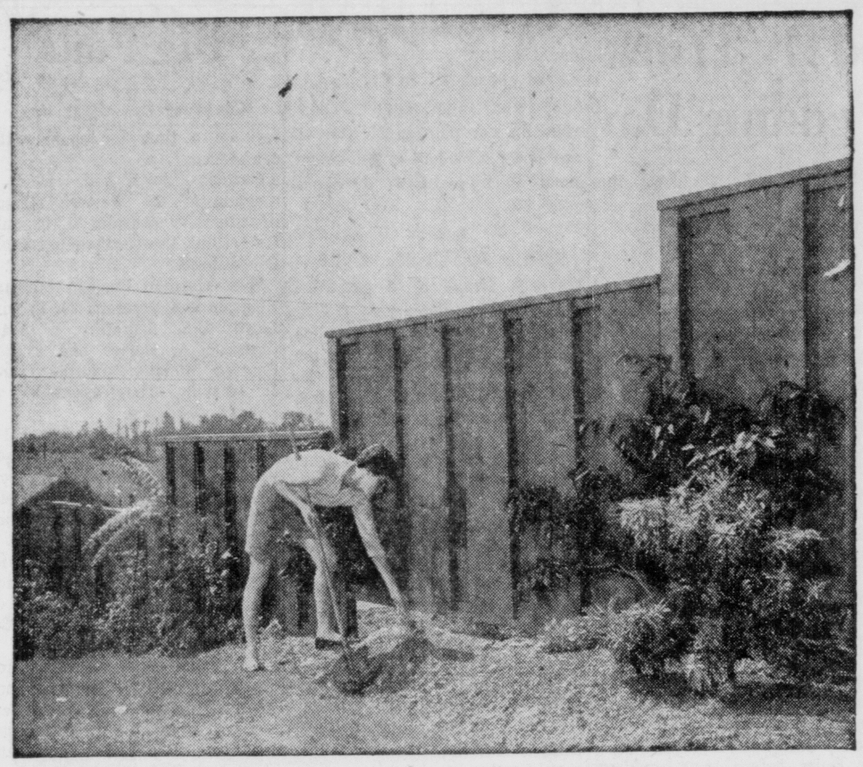
"The fireplace has become such a chore for me that my sister finally decided to refinish it as a birthday gift, mainly to save the $75 I was about to invest to have someone else do it. But there is still a long way to go, and I'll be glad to pay to have someone else take over."

Cecily, now dedicated to revealing all when she finds time to write about it, says that remodeling a home is definitely not a career girl's dish of tea, especially if she can make more profitable use of her time.

"One needs a husband's moral support or the energy of a football player," to survive the experience that snowballs from paint remover to plaster, wallpaper, and paint.

"I've become such a horrible bore with my many groans and complaints that my friends flee when they see me. I've been looking forward to the day when I can entertain gracefully again, but right now I'd be too tired to conduct the guided tour, even if my house looked like a palace."

A good help - yourself thirst-quenching snack to leave for the refrigerator raiders is a whole pared pineapple (covered with transparent plastic film) — everyone is invited to cut a slice.



A GOOD MANY landscaping problems can be solved with a fence. It is, for example, the most economical and space-saving means of setting off property lines. The beauty of a handsomely designed fence like this one of rugged western red cedar is not to be denied. Because of the sharp slope of this lot, the fence was built in 8-foot sections which step down the hill.

Precision-Made Doors Offer Variety Of Styles

They not only serve a vital functional purpose but they also are an important element in the styling of a house. Tastefully selected, they lend character and personality to a home.

This is particularly true of doors finished in natural tones to reveal the beauty of wood grain and coloring.

Fortunately for the home planner and remodeler today, top-quality wood doors adapted to all types of architectural design are readily available at moderate cost. Precision-made by modern factory methods, they come in a wide varity of styles to suit almost any need or preference.

In addition to the array of stock designs, custom-made wood doors can be obtained for any type of architectural expression.

On request, dealers can obtain them already mortised for locks and cut for hinges. Doors also can be ordered prefit to the exact dimensions required.

Flush doors, distinguished by their continuous smooth surface, are popular with most architect, designers and home owners nowadays. They can be cut to accommodate lights, louvers, panels and other special details if desired.

Most doors in today's homes are either of hardwood veneered or ponderosa pine construction.

The nation's major producers of wood doors, organized as the National Woodwork Manufacturers Association, adhere voluntarily to a rigid code of construction requirements known as commercial standards. These are designed to assure the consumer a high level of quality.

The standards include stock layouts and designs not only for flush doors but also for the panel and sash styles, all of which are produced both in hardwood veneer and in ponderosa pine.

A panel door is one made up of stiles, rails and one or more panels, with the stiles and rails forming the frame around the panels. A sash door is similar to a panel door except that one or more panels are replaced by glass.

Other available varieties produced in accordance with the standards include louver doors, cupboard doors, french or casement, combination doors with removable glass and screen inserts, storm, screen doors and garage doors. The latter can be obtained in swing-up or roll-up styles.

Among the popular designs, for example, are these panel arrangements: one large panel occupying a major portion of the door area; two panels, with the top one dominant in size; three square panels; five horizonal rectangular panels; and the six-panel colonial.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dieting Needs Balance Of Exercise

Many dieters make the mistake of cutting calories too low. They try to subsist on semi-starvation menus instead of eating protectively and shaping up with a little regular exercise.

Ida Jean Kain

To look and feel like your young self, eat a protective diet and get the exercise habit. This report from a Michigan reducer gives beautiful proof.

"I have never been a heavyweight, but I am one of those gals who has to watch it constantly, coming from a large family of heavyweights. Between calorie counting and a small amount of regular exercise, I manage to keep myself down to my best weight—135 pounds for my 5 feet 6½.

"I START WITH a series of exercises each morning, and every time I find myself in front of my bedroom or bathroom mirror, I do extra stretch-bends. While waiting the few minutes for a load of washing to be done, I do a few more.

It's surprising what those extra stretch-bends can do for one's waistline! At 45 I have more pep and feel better than at 25.

"My reason for writing is to find the calories in barley. My congratulations to all your courageous dieters."

Barley contains 50 calories per tablespoon (uncooked), or approximately 185 calories per quarter cup. But a little barley goes a long way in soup and adds to satisfaction.

Now back to our dieters. To shape up as you lose weight, take six minutes of toning exercises daily, and add an extra stretch-bend now and then during the day as you go about your housework. It's slimming! As today's letter promises, you will not only trim off bulging inches, but you will feel dynamically alive.

Some ingenious gals chart their progress by the tape measure instead of the scales. One overweight who became discouraged with the scales report decided to reduce by inches instead of pounds, using the tape measure as her "scale." Her story is refreshingly different. . .

"I reduced waist, bust, abdomen and hips a total of 10 inches in 2½ months. Instead of 'dieting' I stopped overeating, changed my food habits and added stretching-bending exercises, not grimly with clenched teeth, but joyfully. I am a more relaxed, happier — and slimmer person."

ALL RIGHT friends. . .reach for the ceiling. First loosen belt if tight . . . then pull through the middle measurement as you stretch high with one arm, then the other arm, as if you were climbing a ladder.

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for illustrated exercise leaflet entitled "For A Slimmer Midriff." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Proper Fence Will Answer Varied Needs

PORTLAND, Ore. — All over the country — California to Maine — a veritable procession of determined-looking men and women is streaming out back doors lugging spades and hoes and trundling wheelbarrows in front of them.

Joining this green-thumbed group is another jolly band also migrating to the back yard, but these carry hammers and saws, paint buckets and brushes.

It's not hard to guess the purposes of these two sects. The first is bent on improving and embellishing his home with varied flora, the second aims to protect the fruits of his labor with a sturdy fence.

As well as attempting to deter the wanderings of friendly canines and curious children, the fence builders also have in mind providing a handsome backdrop for their cherished shrubbery and blooms.

And home owners are learning that there's no more attractive compliment to their home than a beautifully - designed, well - constructed fence.

Riding high as favorites throughout the country are tall, dimensional fences built of rich, rugged woods like western red cedar and Douglas fir, and the popular patterns are designed to exploit the natural beauties of these woods.

One pattern gaining much attention for its individual attractiveness, as well as its ability to blend with and compliment various architectural styles, is the board-on-board.

To keep the setting as native as possible, most homeowners prefer using rough-sawn boards and either staining them to capture the natural coloring of the wood used or allowing the fence to weather naturally to a striking, silvery gray. Both the natural wood color and the weathered hue provide an excellent foil for greenery and flowers.

In cases of a sloping lot, board-on-board fences can be designed in sections which step down the slope of the yard. And, oftentimes, a stepped-down fence is built as a means of giving eye-interest to perfectly straight property lines.

But no matter what style is selected for the fence, those home owners who are putting them up now have the right idea, for the rain-softened soil of May and early June makes setting of fence posts a relatively easy task.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove tar stains?

A. Material that has become stained with tar or car grease can be cleaned by rubbing well with lard and then washing in warm suds.

Q. How long should macaroni be cooked?

A. Cook macaroni in quickly boiling water for twenty minutes. Then drain and rinse well with cold water, and the macaroni will not be sticky nor starchy.

New officers of the WSCS of the Green Valley Methodist Church were elected and past presidents honored at a meeting Wednesday evening in the social rooms.

Officers include Mrs. Robert Christy, re-elected president; Mrs. Jack Morrow, vice president; Mrs. Floyd Rogers, secretary; Mrs. Gerald Rogers, treasurer, and Mrs. Clarence Christy, spiritual life secretary.

Mrs. Morrow was in charge of the program and gave the history of the Ladies Aid and a talk on what the WSCS means to the church. White mum corsages were given each past president. Mrs. Robert Christy was given a rosebud corsage by the 1958 officers. Mrs. Shirley Rogers sang "Hope of the Hopeless," accompanied by Mrs. Morrow at the piano.

Tables were decorated with summer flowers and lunch was served by Mrs. Robert Christy, Mrs. Morrow and Mrs. Rogers.

The society was started Nov. 6, 1928, under the name of the Ladies Aid with Mrs. Harry Rambo as first president. Mrs. Rambo was president also in 1929 and 1930.

Other presidents of the Ladies Aid were Mrs. Clarence Christy, 1931 and 1933; Mrs. Clair Gamble, 1932; Mrs. John Marker, 1934 and 1935, and Mrs. Carl Gardner, 1936 through 1939.

The group's name was changed to WSCS Nov. 6, 1940, at the home of Mrs. John Hayward. Officers then were Mrs. Marker, president; Mrs. Ruben Cotter, vice president; Mrs. Carl Gardner, secretary, and Mrs. Cathryn Calhoon, treasurer.

WSCS presidents have been Mrs. Marker, 1941 and 1942; Mrs. Dorothy Bates, 1943 and 1944; Mrs. John Espey, 1945, 1947 and 1951; Mrs. Smith Hayward, 1946 and 1953; Mrs. Agnes Jones, 1948 and and 1954; Mrs. Richard Morrow Jr., 1952 and 1955; Mrs. Phyllis Swearingen 1956 and 1957, and Mrs. Robert Christy, 1958.

About 15 attended a wiener roast Wednesday evening given by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Graham, honoring their daughter, Brenda, on her 11th birthday anniversary.

Games were played. Lunch was served by Mrs. Graham and daughter, Carol.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McElhaney and children of East Liverpool visited Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Scott Sunday.

'Foundation' Drainage Will Protect Home

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Whether your house is built on a slab or with a basement, rains seeping into the ground can cause popping tiles, damp floors and wet cellars.

Inside waterproofing may help to an extent, depending on the severity of the condition.

But the real and permanent solution revolves around the concept known as "foundation drainage." Everyone who buys a home, either with a cellar or built on a slab, should know something about foundation drainage.

The discomforts of damp cellars and floors are well known. Less understood is the insidious long-term damage caused by dampness.

Paint blisters, windows and doors bind, sills rot, tiles pop up, plaster cracks—things that in a few years decrease the value and comfort of a home.

Foundation drainage is simply an underground pipeline.

The pipes are perforated to permit water to enter and are gently sloped to carry water away. These pipes are run around the outside of the foundation slightly below cellar floor level. For slab construction, the pipes run under the floor at intervals of several feet. Crushed stone surrounds the pipe to allow free water flow.

The collected water is run into a dry well—a hole filled with rock to allow harmless seepage.

Underground water pushes its way up into foundations and particularly under slabs. Engineers call this "hydrostatic pressure." By giving the water an escape route it flows away.

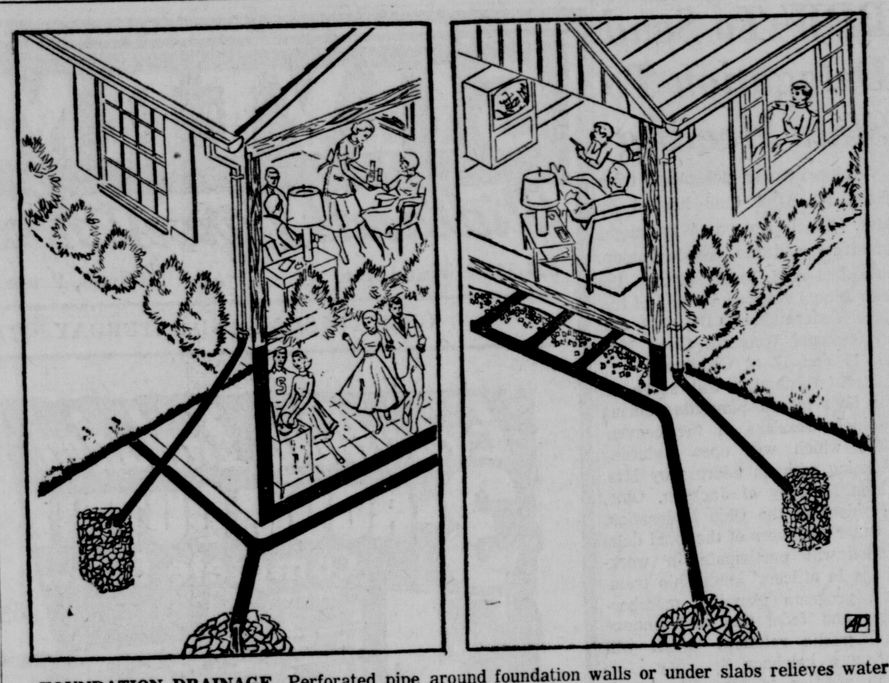
Thousands of homes are wasting valuable space because water seeps into the cellar or basement.

Even if this happens only once a year, the cellar is lost as a dependable storage or recreation area. If you want to banish moisture from your home to use this space, foundation drainage is the answer in most cases.

While many builders take care of this when erecting their houses many do not. It can be done later if a serious problem persists, but the cost naturally is higher than it would be during original construction.

The two kinds of pipe most commonly used for drainage systems are bituminized-fiber pipe and drainage tile, which actually is a pipe-like product.

The fiber pipe comes in perforated eight foot lengths joined with snap couplings. Drainage tile comes in short lengths laid with open joints to allow water to enter. These joints are covered with strips of tar paper to prevent soil from falling in and blocking the system.



FOUNDATION DRAINAGE. Perforated pipe around foundation walls or under slabs relieves water pressure and drains water into drywells. Downspouts also should empty into drywells.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Good Homework Habits Are Taught Early

Some years ago many parents were pleading with the school to omit homework, especially below high school, and to cut it down there appreciably. Gradually the school complied with these home pressures. In the meanwhile many studies on this subject appeared. Most of these concluded that homework was futile. This pleased both children and the parents. Before long, however, an increasing number of parents clamored for more homework, especially in the intermediate grades.

By Garry Meyers

Then came Sputnik, and a furor spread about the "need to crack down on the kids," especially at the high school level.

CONSEQUENTLY many youths have had homework piled on them, sometimes excessively. Of course, there always have been some teachers who have assigned an unreasonable amount of homework, especially written work.

Nevertheless, the average youth in the United States knows little about hard work on school studies at home.

The child who has very few chores required of him, and is not made to do anything at home he doesn't feel like doing, has had poor training for doing homework faithfully when he reaches high school.

The child who has not been required to remain home on evenings before a school day, or who has not learned to do some mental work from the time he is in the second or third grade, is not well prepared to do any systematic, serious homework when he reaches the ninth or tenth grade.

THE PROBLEM for parents is to see that the elementary school child remains at home on nights before school. When the child begins his homework, they must require him to do it faithfully, working first and playing afterwards.

Not all parents can help their children with homework, especially beyond the sixth or eighth grade. They can and should see that these youngsters do their homework at a regular time and place and follow a good program of home study.

Left to his own way, many a youth spends much time viewing television or in enjoying other amusements, putting off his homework till very late. Then, if he does it at all, he may stay up very late to finish it.

My bulletins, "Educating Your Child in Responsibility" and "Parents and the Child's Homework," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Latest Coal Machinery Shown At Convention

CLEVELAND (AP) — Anyone who still thinks coal mining is done with a pick and shovel could get an enlightening eyefull at the coal convention and exposition, where seven million dollars worth of the latest coal industry equipment is on display.

Being shown at the American Mining Congress show in Public Hall is automation machinery, strip mining equipment, trucks and tractors and other equipment used in mining. The machinery is displayed by 240 manufacturers.

More than 12,000 persons are expected to attend the convention and exposition opening today.

Rancher In Colorado Makes Guns On Side

RADIUM, Colo. (AP) — Henry Hinton runs a ranch in northwestern Colorado, but when he can, makes guns, especially heavy muzzle-loading rifles like those used by this nation's earliest settlers.

Hinton says he spends so much time on the old flint-and-ball muskets that no one could afford to buy one. So he occasionally gives one to a friend.

Flags Made In Japan Honor Civil War Vets

The flags were made in Japan.

These Rules Will Help If You're Hanging Door

Hanging a door may seem to be something of a difficult matter, but in reality it is quite simple if you follow a few rules.

To begin with, when the amateur carpenter is attempting this job, the first thing is to have the door one intends to use on hand, and work from its measurements. This saves a lot of laborious sawing and planing. The second rule is to attach the hinges to the door and not to the door frame.

When the door has been fitted with the hinges it should be set in the opening to make sure of the proper clearances and then wedged in while one screw is set in each hinge.

After the wedges are removed and the door swings easily, the hinges can be secured permanently. The man doing this job should remember that it makes a lot of difference which way a door opens.

If the door is at one end of a partition, it must swing in and against the wall, unless of course, it would swing against a closet door or a window. Changing the direction of swing often makes a great difference in the wall space available in a room. This point must be considered carefully.

After the direction of swing is established to the best advantage the stop-beads can be tacked along the frame and the lock assembly set in the door.

The setting of a striking-plate in the frame is left until the lock is installed on the door and the proper location made sure of.

Bedroom doors, bathroom doors or any door except linen closet doors never should open into a hallway. The reason for the exception is that linen closets are usually small and the shelves prevent the door from opening inward.

Whether your house is built on a slab or with a basement, rains seeping into the ground can cause popping tiles, damp floors and wet cellars.

Inside waterproofing may help to an extent, depending on the severity of the condition.

But the real and permanent solution revolves around the concept known as "foundation drainage." Everyone who buys a home, either with a cellar or built on a slab, should know something about foundation drainage.

The discomforts of damp cellars and floors are well known. Less understood is the insidious long-term damage caused by dampness.

Paint blisters, windows and doors bind, sills rot, tiles pop up, plaster cracks—things that in a few years decrease the value and comfort of a home.

Foundation drainage is simply an underground pipeline.

The pipes are perforated to permit water to enter and are gently sloped to carry water away. These pipes are run around the outside of the foundation slightly below cellar floor level. For slab construction, the pipes run under the floor at intervals of several feet. Crushed stone surrounds the pipe to allow free water flow.

The collected water is run into a dry well—a hole filled with rock to allow harmless seepage.

Underground water pushes its way up into foundations and particularly under slabs. Engineers call this "hydrostatic pressure." By giving the water an escape route it flows away.

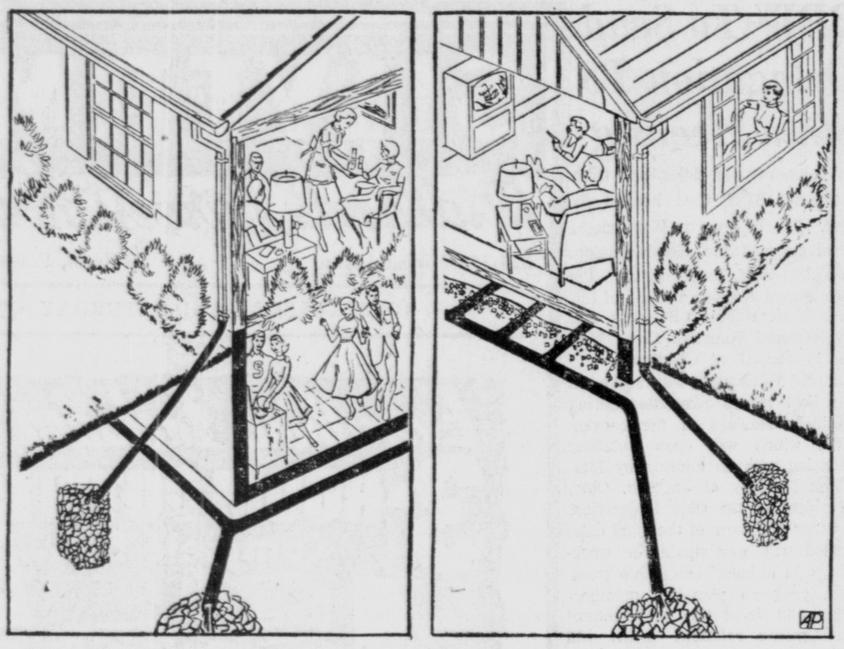
Thousands of homes are wasting valuable space because water seeps into the cellar or basement.

Even if this happens only once a year, the cellar is lost as a dependable storage or recreation area. If you want to banish moisture from your home to use this space, foundation drainage is the answer in most cases.

While many builders take care of this when erecting their houses many do not. It can be done later if a serious problem persists, but the cost naturally is higher than it would be during original construction.

The two kinds of pipe most commonly used for drainage systems are bituminized-fiber pipe and drainage tile, which actually is a pipe-like product.

The fiber pipe comes in perforated eight foot lengths joined with snap couplings. Drainage tile comes in short lengths laid with open joints to allow water to enter. These joints are covered with strips of tar paper to prevent soil from falling in and blocking the system.



FOUNDATION DRAINAGE. Perforated pipe around foundation walls or under slabs relieves water pressure and drains water into drywells. Downspouts also should empty into drywells.

Good Homework Habits Are Taught Early

Some years ago many parents were pleading with the school to omit homework, especially below high school, and to cut it down there appreciably. Gradually the school complied with these home pressures. In the meanwhile many studies on this subject appeared. Most of these concluded that homework was futile. This pleased both children and the parents. Before long, however, an increasing number of parents clamored for more homework, especially in the intermediate grades.

By Garry Meyers

Then came Sputnik, and a furor spread about the "need to crack down on the kids," especially at the high school level.

CONSEQUENTLY many youths have had homework piled on them, sometimes excessively. Of course, there always have been some teachers who have assigned an unreasonable amount of homework, especially written work.

Nevertheless, the average youth in the United States knows little about hard work on school studies at home.

The child who has very few chores required of him, and is not made to do anything at home he doesn't feel like doing, has had poor training for doing homework faithfully when he reaches high school.

The child who has not been required to remain home on evenings before a school day, or who has not learned to do some mental work from the time he is in the second or third grade, is not well prepared to do any systematic, serious homework when he reaches the ninth or tenth grade.

THE PROBLEM for parents is to see that the elementary school child remains at home on nights before school. When the child begins his homework, they must require him to do it faithfully, working first and playing afterwards.

Not all parents can help their children with homework, especially beyond the sixth or eighth grade. They can and should see that these youngsters do their homework at a regular time and place and follow a good program of home study.

Left to his own way, many a youth spends much time viewing television or in enjoying other amusements, putting off his homework till very late. Then, if he does it at all, he may stay up very late to finish it.

My bulletins, "Educating Your Child in Responsibility" and "Parents and the Child's Homework," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

More than 12,000 persons are expected to attend the convention and exposition opening today.

Rancher In Colorado Makes Guns On Side

RADIUM, Colo. (AP) — Henry Hinton runs a ranch in northwestern Colorado, but when he can, makes guns, especially heavy muzzle-loading rifles like those used by this nation's earliest settlers.

Hinton says he spends so much time on the old flint-and-ball muskets that no one could afford to buy one. So he occasionally gives one to a friend.

These Rules Will Help If You're Hanging Door

Hanging a door may seem to be something of a difficult matter, but in reality it is quite simple if you follow a few rules.

To begin with, when the amateur carpenter is attempting this job, the first thing is to have the door one intends to use on hand, and work from its measurements. This saves a lot of laborious sawing and planing. The second rule is to attach the hinges to the door and not to the door frame.

When the door has been fitted with the hinges it should be set in the opening to make sure of the proper clearances and then wedged in while one screw is set in each hinge.

After the wedges are removed and the door swings easily, the hinges can be secured permanently. The man doing this job should remember that it makes a lot of difference which way a door opens.

If the door is at one end of a partition, it must swing in and against the wall, unless of course, it would swing against a closet door or a window. Changing the direction of swing often makes a great difference in the wall space available in a room. This point must be considered carefully.

After the direction of swing is established to the best advantage the stop-beads can be tacked along the frame and the lock assembly set in the door.

The setting of a striking-plate in the frame is left until the lock is installed on the door and the proper location made sure of.

Bedroom doors, bathroom doors or any door except linen closet doors never should open into a hallway. The reason for the exception is that linen closets are usually small and the shelves prevent the door from opening inward.

Horse-Trading Session May Slash Tariffs More

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

The reference to the old American custom of trying to make the best horse deal is this:

If the United States wants to hold markets or create them it has plenty of opportunities to bargain with the six nations—Belgium, France, Italy, West Germany, Holland and Luxembourg.

They are embarked on a long term project of lowering and finally eliminating all trade barriers between themselves and in erecting a common tariff on imports from the outside.

Most of the nations outside the Iron Curtain will be represented at the upcoming meeting of Gatt—the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. This will be a large scale horse trading session aimed at further lowering of tariffs and trade restrictions through concessions by the individual nations amongst themselves.

Previous meetings have brought cuts in duties on many products. And some of the cuts have aroused pained outcries from American industrialists. They held that American import duties were being cut on products in competition with their own, thus threatening their home market. The cuts were made as concessions for lower trade barriers on American exports to other countries.

This is the sort of deal that an official of the common market expects the United States to make with the six nations. The six are all hardheaded traders.

Their announced long term aim is to lower trade barriers not only between themselves but with the 11 other European nations with whom they are associated in the Organization for European Economic Cooperation and then to lower barriers with the nations in the dollar area and those in the sterling area not connected with OEEC.

But while working out the many problems of unifying their own countries economically, the six appear to outsiders to be chiefly, and understandably, interested in the greatest good for themselves.

The products, economies, trade and currency positions of the six vary widely. Officials of the common market are struggling with the problem of unification—moving slowly and through an almost endless series of conferences.

The 11 OEEC members not in the common market, but heavy traders with it, are worried lest they, like the Americans, see their trade hamstrung. At the moment negotiations between the six and the 11 seem stalemated—but here, too, a spirit of horse trading appears to be building up.

At the headquarters here of the common market, officials admit the problems, internal and external, but insist that in the long run the interests of American businessmen won't be hurt.

But Americans, watching their export markets decline in many parts of the world, aren't so sure. Combined, the six nations will form an industrial unit equal in world trade terms with the United States and able to produce many goods cheaper.

Brown Moves Into Spotlight

Brown's recent indications that he is beginning to take himself seriously in this connection have proved disturbing to some of the more active aspirants for the party's presidential nomination. They would like to annex California's hefty convention vote for themselves.

If Brown can get divergent California Democratic factions behind him for a favorite son designation he will be nominally in the race for the presidential nomination himself.

As long as he can keep the California delegation behind him, it won't be able to start a swing toward some major candidate for the top prize. In such a case Brown would be in a trading position that might make him an attractive candidate for second place.

With Brown keeping himself in the picture, presidential aspirants like Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Stuart Symington of Missouri have to be content with trying to build up second choice strength for themselves in California.

Brown's possible availability for second place rests to a great extent on what happens to Kennedy. Both are Roman Catholics and no one expects the Democrats to nominate an all-Catholic ticket.

If Kennedy fails to make the grade for the top nomination, however, Brown may benefit from the spreading belief that one of his faith has a much better chance of election now than Al Smith had in 1928.

The religious issue has been explored publicly so thoroughly in the last couple of years that many Democrats now feel they would be inviting charges of bigotry if they didn't pick a Catholic on one end of their ticket.

Traffic Fatalities Drop 19% In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio motorists were in for a pat on the back today after safety officials reported that traffic fatalities for the first quarter of 1959 had dropped 19 per cent below 1958's first-quarter figure.

The Department of Highway Safety said there were 327 traffic deaths in the first three months of 1959 compared with 404 for the same period last year.

The department reported a 21 per cent reduction in rural fatalities and a 16 per cent drop in urban road deaths.

Drivers in the 25-34 age bracket had the worst record with 36 deaths. Pedestrian fatalities were highest in the 65-74 age group with 27 killed.

14% Of Ohio School Districts Benefit From Federal Funds

By PHIL GUNBY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—About 14 per cent of Ohio's school districts are getting money from the U.S. government because of federal activities in their localities.

There may be a military base nearby. Or an atomic plant. Or a defense industry operating on a federal reservation.

Whatever the facility is, it has brought more families to the area—and consequently more youngsters who must go to school.

To help the school districts adjust to the increased enrollment and financial burden. Congress enacted two laws in 1950. One is Public Law 874, which provides money to help the districts cope with increased enrollment. The other is Public Law 815, which helps provide building and equipment.

By June 30, says A. D. St. Clair, the State Education Department official who supervises federal assistance, 157 of Ohio's 1,092 school districts will have received more than 20 million dollars under Public Law 874.

"And this doesn't represent the total amount received by the district in all cases," St. Clair points out, "because some get money in lieu of taxes lost when the federal government acquired the land."

About 38 million dollars in projects have been undertaken with the help of Public Law 815, St. Clair adds. From 1950 to this coming June 30, he figures the federal government has—or will have — provided $23,447,586 for buildings and equipment.

The districts themselves have—or will have — provided another $13,995,754, and the state has chipped in $372,000 between 1950 and 1956, primarily to help districts which didn't have the money to hold up their end of the deal. Another two million for equipment and land inprovements brings the total to slightly over 38 million.

The government bases its payments on the number of children from families connected with the federal project.

The government pays the whole average cost per pupil for every youngster who has a parent living and working on the federal facility. It pays half the cost for those who have a parent living on, but working off the facility, or living off, but working on, the facility.

However, the district must have an increase in enrollment of 3 per cent or more, and this must amount to 10 or more youngsters.

To get money under Public Law 815, the district must absorb a 3½ per cent enrollment increase, which the government figures can be expected annually. Then it will get $1,360 for every youngsters who has a parent living and working on the federal facility: half of that for those who live off but work on.

If it's a wealthy district it must shoulder the whole cost of new buildings and equipment. But if it can show it needs money, it will receive government aid.

If more and more youngsters pour in as a result of federal activities, the district can apply again, using the increases in enrollment since the last aid was received.

Water Board Asks Offers May 26 On Power, Chemicals

The Board of Public Utilities, which administers the city water department, said today it will open bids at noon May 26 on a year's supply of chemicals for use at the filtration plant and a 10-year contract for furnishing electric power.

The separate requests for bids were authorized in legislation enacted by Council April 20.

The chemicals on which the board will take bids include: 250 tons of hydrate or pebble lime, 250 tons of aluminum sulfate, 50 tons of activated carbon, 18,000 pounds of liquid chlorine and 5,000 pounds of sodium chlorite.

It also asked bids on 1,150 feet of 4-inch cast iron pipe, 1,000 feet of 6-inch cast iron pipe and 100 water meters.

The contract for a 10-year power supply will become effective Aug. 1, the board said in its call for bids. Although the Ohio Power Co. is the only concern that could file an offer, the law requires sealed bids.

Their announced long term aim is to lower trade barriers not only between themselves but with the 11 other European nations with whom they are associated in the Organization for European Economic Cooperation and then to lower barriers with the nations in the dollar area and those in the sterling area not connected with OEEC.

But while working out the many problems of unifying their own countries economically, the six appear to outsiders to be chiefly, and understandably, interested in the greatest good for themselves.

The products, economies, trade and currency positions of the six vary widely. Officials of the common market are struggling with the problem of unification—moving slowly and through an almost endless series of conferences.

The 11 OEEC members not in the common market, but heavy traders with it, are worried lest they, like the Americans, see their trade hamstrung. At the moment negotiations between the six and the 11 seem stalemated—but here, too, a spirit of horse trading appears to be building up.

At the headquarters here of the common market, officials admit the problems, internal and external, but insist that in the long run the interests of American businessmen won't be hurt.

But Americans, watching their export markets decline in many parts of the world, aren't so sure. Combined, the six nations will form an industrial unit equal in world trade terms with the United States and able to produce many goods cheaper.

BPW To Send Delegation To State Meeting

A nine-member delegation from the local BPW Club headed by Mrs. Ethel Lynn Wambaugh, president, and Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, president-elect, will attend the 39th annual state convention of the Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs May 15, 16 and 17 at Cincinnati.

Mrs. Wambaugh will serve on the floor tellers committee during business sessions of the convention, which will open Saturday morning with an address by Mrs. Chloe Maloney of Jackson, Ohio, president of the Ohio Federation.

Other members of the local delegation will participate in workshops in officers' leadership training, program planning, membership and federation and finance and public relations which will follow a luncheon Saturday.

In addition to Mrs. Wambaugh and Mrs. Dunlop, the local delegation includes Mrs. Gertrude Reese, Miss Helen Bibbee, Mrs. Helen Moore, Miss Helen Auld, Miss Rachel Ketchum, Mrs. Faye Wright and Mrs. Donna Allison.

Mrs. Agnes Merritt of Columbus, who is an unopposed candidate for the office of president of the Ohio Federation, will be an honor guest of the local club during its 20th anniversary banquet May 20 at the St. Aloysius School annex.

Priest Dies At 64

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The Rev. J. Harold Kaufman, administrator of St. Joseph's Catholic Church here for seven years, died Sunday at the parish house. He was 64. Born near Fostoria, he had served at Delphos, Holgate and Genoa, Ohio, before coming to St. Joseph's.

Brown Moves Into Spotlight

Brown's recent indications that he is beginning to take himself seriously in this connection have proved disturbing to some of the more active aspirants for the party's presidential nomination. They would like to annex California's hefty convention vote for themselves.

If Brown can get divergent California Democratic factions behind him for a favorite son designation he will be nominally in the race for the presidential nomination himself.

As long as he can keep the California delegation behind him, it won't be able to start a swing toward some major candidate for the top prize. In such a case Brown would be in a trading position that might make him an attractive candidate for second place.

With Brown keeping himself in the picture, presidential aspirants like Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Stuart Symington of Missouri have to be content with trying to build up second choice strength for themselves in California.

Brown's possible availability for second place rests to a great extent on what happens to Kennedy. Both are Roman Catholics and no one expects the Democrats to nominate an all-Catholic ticket.

If Kennedy fails to make the grade for the top nomination, however, Brown may benefit from the spreading belief that one of his faith has a much better chance of election now than Al Smith had in 1928.

The religious issue has been explored publicly so thoroughly in the last couple of years that many Democrats now feel they would be inviting charges of bigotry if they didn't pick a Catholic on one end of their ticket.

Traffic Fatalities Drop 19% In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio motorists were in for a pat on the back today after safety officials reported that traffic fatalities for the first quarter of 1959 had dropped 19 per cent below 1958's first-quarter figure.

The Department of Highway Safety said there were 327 traffic deaths in the first three months of 1959 compared with 404 for the same period last year.

The department reported a 21 per cent reduction in rural fatalities and a 16 per cent drop in urban road deaths.

Drivers in the 25-34 age bracket had the worst record with 36 deaths. Pedestrian fatalities were highest in the 65-74 age group with 27 killed.

14% Of Ohio School Districts Benefit From Federal Funds

By PHIL GUNBY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—About 14 per cent of Ohio's school districts are getting money from the U.S. government because of federal activities in their localities.

There may be a military base nearby. Or an atomic plant. Or a defense industry operating on a federal reservation.

Whatever the facility is, it has brought more families to the area—and consequently more youngsters who must go to school.

To help the school districts adjust to the increased enrollment and financial burden. Congress enacted two laws in 1950. One is Public Law 874, which provides money to help the districts cope with increased enrollment. The other is Public Law 815, which helps provide building and equipment.

By June 30, says A. D. St. Clair, the State Education Department official who supervises federal assistance, 157 of Ohio's 1,092 school districts will have received more than 20 million dollars under Public Law 874.

"And this doesn't represent the total amount received by the district in all cases," St. Clair points out, "because some get money in lieu of taxes lost when the federal government acquired the land."

About 38 million dollars in projects have been undertaken with the help of Public Law 815, St. Clair adds. From 1950 to this coming June 30, he figures the federal government has—or will have — provided $23,447,586 for buildings and equipment.

The districts themselves have—or will have — provided another $13,995,754, and the state has chipped in $372,000 between 1950 and 1956, primarily to help districts which didn't have the money to hold up their end of the deal. Another two million for equipment and land inprovements brings the total to slightly over 38 million.

The government bases its payments on the number of children from families connected with the federal project.

The government pays the whole average cost per pupil for every youngster who has a parent living and working on the federal facility. It pays half the cost for those who have a parent living on, but working off the facility, or living off, but working on, the facility.

However, the district must have an increase in enrollment of 3 per cent or more, and this must amount to 10 or more youngsters.

To get money under Public Law 815, the district must absorb a 3½ per cent enrollment increase, which the government figures can be expected annually. Then it will get $1,360 for every youngsters who has a parent living and working on the federal facility: half of that for those who live off but work on.

If it's a wealthy district it must shoulder the whole cost of new buildings and equipment. But if it can show it needs money, it will receive government aid.

If more and more youngsters pour in as a result of federal activities, the district can apply again, using the increases in enrollment since the last aid was received.

Water Board Asks Offers May 26 On Power, Chemicals

The Board of Public Utilities, which administers the city water department, said today it will open bids at noon May 26 on a year's supply of chemicals for use at the filtration plant and a 10-year contract for furnishing electric power.

The separate requests for bids were authorized in legislation enacted by Council April 20.

The chemicals on which the board will take bids include: 250 tons of hydrate or pebble lime, 250 tons of aluminum sulfate, 50 tons of activated carbon, 18,000 pounds of liquid chlorine and 5,000 pounds of sodium chlorite.

It also asked bids on 1,150 feet of 4-inch cast iron pipe, 1,000 feet of 6-inch cast iron pipe and 100 water meters.

The contract for a 10-year power supply will become effective Aug. 1, the board said in its call for bids. Although the Ohio Power Co. is the only concern that could file an offer, the law requires sealed bids.

John Randall Griffin, son of Gilbert and Ruth Griffin of Ridgeway Ave., born April 28, was crowned king and Kimberly Sue Vogt, daughter of William and Carol Vogt of Drury Ln., was queen.

Delmas Sanford, superintendent, was in charge.

The Rev. James Hunton is pastor.

Wellsville's Boat Club Completes Job At Dock

The club now is processing the old float dock, which was damaged by floods and ice last winter. The docks are at 18th St. The old lumber will be used as flooring on the main float.

Work parties will report each evening at 6, beginning Tuesday, according to Emmett Ketchum, commodore.

Big Four Aides

Newcomers Wait Diplomatic Duels

By BRACK CURRY

GENEVA (AP) — The titans of the postwar diplomatic duels — Molotov, Dulles, Acheson, Eden and Bidault—are in political obscurity or retirement.

The world is waiting to see how their successors will measure up in dealing with some of the crucial problems facing the world.

Christian A. Herter of the United States, Andrei Gromyko of the Soviet Union, Selwyn Lloyd of Britain and Maurice Couve de Murville of France — all are experienced diplomats but none has led his country's delegation at a Big Four parley before.

Herter, 64, is the dean of the group in age but the least experienced in international negotiations. Gromyko at 49 is the youngest but the veteran of the most conference tables. Lloyd is 54 and Couve de Murville 52.

Iron-visaged Gromyko was once called the boy wonder of the diplomatic world. Dark, heavy-set and square-shouldered, he is a veteran of Kremlin politics under Stalin, Malenkov and Khrushchev.

A man of impassive Slavic calm, Gromyko has big shoes to fill at this Geneva conference. Former Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was considered by many Western statesmen to be the most skillful professional diplomat of this century.

America's Herter has had only a few scant weeks to move out from under the towering shadow of John Foster Dulles into the limelight of the west's ranking diplomat.

At the Paris conference with Lloyd and Couve de Murville last month—his first diplomatic mission abroad after succeeding Dulles — Herter displayed calm and competence in helping to bridge allied differences.

Tall, lanky, Couve de Murville has served France in top diplomatic posts since World War II but has just begun to make big international headlines. He has turned in a topflight job of assignments ranging from secretary of the Free French "war commission" to trouble shooter for then Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and ambassador to Washington and Bonn.

Lloyd thinks and dressed like Eden. He was appointed minister of state at the Foreign Office when Sir Winston Churchill's Conservatives swept into power in 1951. Sent to Paris as a delegate to the U.N. Assembly, he quickly tangled with the Soviet Union's acid-tongued Andrei Vishinsky.

1st Communion Taken By 39 At Sacred Heart

A total of 39 young people took first Holy Communion Sunday morning at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church at Chester, where a May crowning was held in the afternoon.

Fifteen girls and 24 boys received Communion in the morning.

Karen Conklin, daughter of Atty. and Mrs. William Conklin, was May queen. She presented a bouquet of roses to the Blessed Virgin. Fr. Alphonsus Domnick crowned the Blessed Virgin.

Attendants were Anita Ludovici, Marcella Lyons, Mary Lou Devroye, Diana Milby, Mary Jo Biela and Sonia Szatkovski. Miss Florence Laneve was in charge, assisted by Miss Ann LaNeve.

Ohio Power's Executive Due At Chamber Dinner

Robert L. Wolf of Canton, director of area development for the Ohio Power Co., will be the principal speaker at the spring membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night, May 18, at the Country Club.

Associated with the utility for 18 years, Wolf has been in industrial development work for 11 years. In addition to his work in the company's industrial location program, he also is active in state, regional and national industrial development programs.

Wolf's address will follow a buffet dinner at 6:30. The Chamber's industrial development committee, of which C. Walter Ashbaugh is chairman, is in charge of the program. The dinner is being arranged by the banquet and entertainment committee, headed by John Pinney.

Following Wolf's address, there will be a panel discussion featuring industrial development executives of three other area utilities and Walter Myers Jr., executive director of the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council.

Others participating will be Walter Durkin of Wheeling, area development manager in the West Virginia Panhandle for the Monongahela Power Co.; Clayton Gill of the industrial department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. at Pittsburgh, and Kenneth Harsh, representing the industrial development department of the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

Wolf is vice chairman of the industrial development committee of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and chairman of its industrial financing committee. He also is president of the Great Lakes State Industrial Development Council — an organization devoted to the advancement of the industrial development profession and promotion of industrial location in five states — and is a member of the American Industrial Development Council, the Society of Industrial Realtors and the National Industrial Zoning Council.

A native of Canton, Wolf joined Ohio Power's civil engineering section there in 1940. He was transferred to the commercial department in 1947 and worked as assistant industrial development consultant until being named industrial development consultant in March 1956. He was promoted to his present post in February 1957.

During World War II, Wolf was a patrol plane commander in the Navy for three years, flying 72 missions in the Pacific Theater. He was recalled to active duty in the Naval Air Reserve in 1952 and served as air intelligence officer and patrol plane commander in the Canal Zone for 18 months.

Fire Hits Church In Mount Lebanon

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Some 2,000 worshippers were driven out of St. Bernard's Roman Catholic Church by fire Sunday. No one was hurt and all sacred vessels were saved.

Assistant Fire Chief Sam Hasley of Mount Lebanon, where the church is located, said the blaze was caused by an arsonist. He said three separate fires were set in the lower level of the church.

The fire broke out after 11 a. m. services had started. The Rev. John Dompka was celebrating Mass in the upper level of the church and the Rev. Joseph Meindl was celebrating Mass in the lower level.

Father Dompka completed his service, but the blaze interrupted Mass in the lower level. The parishioners filed out of the burning church without incident.

Hasley estimated damage at between $10,000 and $15,000. He said one fire was started in a locker room, another in a section of a library and the third in a section where priests store their vestments.

The lichen, a widely-known plant, has no true roots, stems or leaves.

Surplus Food Will Be Used By Cuyahoga

It is the first time since the depression of the 1930s that surplus foods have been used here.

County Welfare Director John J. Schaffer said food will go to some 30,000 persons on poor and soldiers relief or who are blind, dependent children or disabled.

Poor relief rolls reached a peak of 6,600 cases April 6. When the recession started, the count had 3,000 poor relief cases.

Once the program begins to work smoothly, said the director, it may be expanded to include persons drawing unemployment compensation.

He said surpluses had not been used earlier because "We hate to see people stand in line to pick up their commodities."

The program will cost the county $7,000 to $8,000 a month.

First distribution will consist, for a family of four, of five pounds of corn meal, four pounds of butter, 10 pounds of flour, three pounds of rice and 4½ pounds of dried milk.

First Woman Admitted By Pittsburgh Union

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Local 249, General Teamsters, observed Mother's Day Sunday by admitting the first woman member.

The only woman among the 10,000 members is Mrs. Irene Pavlik, 33-year-old mother of two girls and a clerk in an auto supply firm's warehouse.

"She's a mother and it was Mother's Day," remarked one official. Fagan said: "Everyone makes changes. Maybe some day we'll have 10,000 women members."

Tire Blows; 2 Killed

HAWTHORNE, Nev. (AP)—Alfred Howard Fuller, 47, president of the Fuller Brush Co., and his wife, Dora, 46, were killed Saturday when their sports car blew a tire and hurtled out of control in the desert about 30 miles east of here. Fuller, who was born in Hartford, Conn., was the son of Alfred C. Fuller, founder of the firm.

Accused Slayer Visits Mom, Returns To Jail After Break

That was the way redhaired Billy Glenn Newhouse—accused of murder, kidnaping and rape — explained his escape from the ancient St. Francois County jail on Mother's Day.

Newhouse came back to jail of his own accord, flanked by his mother and two aunts, about nine hours after the escape was discovered. Three men who fled with him are at large.

Newhouse, 22, is to go on trial Thursday on a charge of murdering his uncle a year ago.

He walked into the office of Sheriff Clay H. Mullins Sunday and said: "I realized I made a mistake and wanted to come back."

One of the two aunts with him was Evelyn Greco, 42, of St. Louis, who persuaded him to surrender to a posse in a wooded area last year.

His mother, Virginia Newhouse, 40, and Miss Iva Gibson, 44, of St. Louis, also were with him.

Mrs. Greco said Newhouse telephoned her from a service station in St. Louis and told her he wanted to go back.

She said: "He said he wanted to see his mom for Mother's Day and he knew he had done wrong."

Ohio Power's Executive Due At Chamber Dinner

Robert L. Wolf of Canton, director of area development for the Ohio Power Co., will be the principal speaker at the spring membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night, May 18, at the Country Club.

Associated with the utility for 18 years, Wolf has been in industrial development work for 11 years. In addition to his work in the company's industrial location program, he also is active in state, regional and national industrial development programs.

Wolf's address will follow a buffet dinner at 6:30. The Chamber's industrial development committee, of which C. Walter Ashbaugh is chairman, is in charge of the program. The dinner is being arranged by the banquet and entertainment committee, headed by John Pinney.

Following Wolf's address, there will be a panel discussion featuring industrial development executives of three other area utilities and Walter Myers Jr., executive director of the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council.

Others participating will be Walter Durkin of Wheeling, area development manager in the West Virginia Panhandle for the Monongahela Power Co.; Clayton Gill of the industrial department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. at Pittsburgh, and Kenneth Harsh, representing the industrial development department of the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

Wolf is vice chairman of the industrial development committee of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and chairman of its industrial financing committee. He also is president of the Great Lakes State Industrial Development Council — an organization devoted to the advancement of the industrial development profession and promotion of industrial location in five states — and is a member of the American Industrial Development Council, the Society of Industrial Realtors and the National Industrial Zoning Council.

A native of Canton, Wolf joined Ohio Power's civil engineering section there in 1940. He was transferred to the commercial department in 1947 and worked as assistant industrial development consultant until being named industrial development consultant in March 1956. He was promoted to his present post in February 1957.

During World War II, Wolf was a patrol plane commander in the Navy for three years, flying 72 missions in the Pacific Theater. He was recalled to active duty in the Naval Air Reserve in 1952 and served as air intelligence officer and patrol plane commander in the Canal Zone for 18 months.

Fire Hits Church In Mount Lebanon

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Some 2,000 worshippers were driven out of St. Bernard's Roman Catholic Church by fire Sunday. No one was hurt and all sacred vessels were saved.

Assistant Fire Chief Sam Hasley of Mount Lebanon, where the church is located, said the blaze was caused by an arsonist. He said three separate fires were set in the lower level of the church.

The fire broke out after 11 a. m. services had started. The Rev. John Dompka was celebrating Mass in the upper level of the church and the Rev. Joseph Meindl was celebrating Mass in the lower level.

Father Dompka completed his service, but the blaze interrupted Mass in the lower level. The parishioners filed out of the burning church without incident.

Hasley estimated damage at between $10,000 and $15,000. He said one fire was started in a locker room, another in a section of a library and the third in a section where priests store their vestments.

The lichen, a widely-known plant, has no true roots, stems or leaves.

Surplus Food Will Be Used By Cuyahoga

It is the first time since the depression of the 1930s that surplus foods have been used here.

County Welfare Director John J. Schaffer said food will go to some 30,000 persons on poor and soldiers relief or who are blind, dependent children or disabled.

Poor relief rolls reached a peak of 6,600 cases April 6. When the recession started, the count had 3,000 poor relief cases.

Once the program begins to work smoothly, said the director, it may be expanded to include persons drawing unemployment compensation.

He said surpluses had not been used earlier because "We hate to see people stand in line to pick up their commodities."

The program will cost the county $7,000 to $8,000 a month.

First distribution will consist, for a family of four, of five pounds of corn meal, four pounds of butter, 10 pounds of flour, three pounds of rice and 4½ pounds of dried milk.

First Woman Admitted By Pittsburgh Union

The only woman among the 10,000 members is Mrs. Irene Pavlik, 33-year-old mother of two girls and a clerk in an auto supply firm's warehouse.

"She's a mother and it was Mother's Day," remarked one official. Fagan said: "Everyone makes changes. Maybe some day we'll have 10,000 women members."

Tire Blows; 2 Killed

HAWTHORNE, Nev. (AP)—Alfred Howard Fuller, 47, president of the Fuller Brush Co., and his wife, Dora, 46, were killed Saturday when their sports car blew a tire and hurtled out of control in the desert about 30 miles east of here. Fuller, who was born in Hartford, Conn., was the son of Alfred C. Fuller, founder of the firm.

Accused Slayer Visits Mom, Returns To Jail After Break

That was the way redhaired Billy Glenn Newhouse—accused of murder, kidnaping and rape — explained his escape from the ancient St. Francois County jail on Mother's Day.

Newhouse came back to jail of his own accord, flanked by his mother and two aunts, about nine hours after the escape was discovered. Three men who fled with him are at large.

Newhouse, 22, is to go on trial Thursday on a charge of murdering his uncle a year ago.

He walked into the office of Sheriff Clay H. Mullins Sunday and said: "I realized I made a mistake and wanted to come back."

One of the two aunts with him was Evelyn Greco, 42, of St. Louis, who persuaded him to surrender to a posse in a wooded area last year.

His mother, Virginia Newhouse, 40, and Miss Iva Gibson, 44, of St. Louis, also were with him.

Mrs. Greco said Newhouse telephoned her from a service station in St. Louis and told her he wanted to go back.

She said: "He said he wanted to see his mom for Mother's Day and he knew he had done wrong."

and fine for assault and battery in such cases. His bill would provide a penitentiary sentence.

Prison terms now are provided for assault to kill. Sweeney explained that a gap in the law fails to provide an adequate penalty for cases in which a victim is severely beaten and sometimes maimed if evidence shows there was no intent to kill.

A handful of other bills are up for action in the House and Senate. Both Houses face heavy schedules for hearings on pending measures.

Besides hearings on a number of administration tax measures, Senate committees will consider proposal to:

Ban discrimination in employment because of age, increase benefits for disabled workers, allow the State Supreme Court instead of voters to pick the chief justice, ban drag racing on highways, boost the pay of county officials on the basis of population and make the killing of game protectors a first degree murder offense.

House - approved measures up for Senate hearings would:

Authorize public housing officials to set aside units for the aged, ban motor scooter licenses for 16 and 17-year-olds and allow sheriffs to call on deputies of other counties for help.

House proposals up for hearings would:

Liberalize workmen's compensation benefits, provide four - year terms for state representatives and village councilmen, create an administration-backed department of industrial and economic development, provide for statewide regulations of watercraft, create an Ohio real estate commission, provide for splitting city income taxes with outside areas where taxpayers live, set up a seven-member welfare advisory board, enact a uniform commercial code and increase auto registration fees to $15 a year.

Senate-passed bills up for hearing in the House include a proposal to boost unemployment benefits and broaden the coverage on jobless workers.

Boy And Girl Chosen As Road-E-O Winners

Elwonger, a high school senior, compiled 479 points, and Miss Trapnell, a junior and a sister of Martha Trapnell, who was Ohio champion two years ago, posted 456 points to win the girls' division.

Elwonger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Elwonger of R. D. 1, and Miss Trapnell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Trapnell of W. North Ave. Both will go to the state competition June 7. Their prizes were $50 savings bonds.

Second place winners were Carole Ann Dyke, 450 points, and Jack Sutherin, 449 points, receiving $25 savings bonds, and third were Rae Lackner, 448 points, and Ted Fredericks, 444 points, awarded $10 cash.

The Wishful Public

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cancer Fund is $18.94 richer because of the public's penchant for tossing coins into fountains. The Renault display at the recent International Automobile show included a lily pond, which although not intended as a wishing well, turned out to be just that. The money was donated to the Cancer Fund.

Group Drops Its Long Fight Against SUB

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Information Committee (OIC), an employers' group, says it will direct its effort toward supporting a "reasonable" unemployment compensation law.

The committee's announcement came over the weekend as the OIC disclosed it is dropping its fight against Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB).

The decision apparently eliminates the last potential roadblock to distribution of about 25 million dollars in back SUB payments.

Organized mainly to fight the SUB plan, the OIC had been considering a lawsuit to block release of such funds. Payments had been held up while lawsuits were being argued in the last few years.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle signed an emergency bill last Thursday providing for the back payments immediately.

The OIC called the SUB bill unconstitutional because it excused SUB payments made earlier. Before the bill was passed, an amendment eliminated that retroactive feature.

Constitution Approved By Historical Society

About 20 attended a meeting of the Columbiana County Historical Association Friday night with Miss Martha McCloskey of East Palestine, when the constitution of the newly-formed group was approved and the name officially was adopted.

A discussion was held on East Palestine and New Waterford history and copies of a 19th Century New Waterford newspaper were displayed.

Plans were discussed for a tour of the route of Morgan's Raiders in July. Permanent officers will be named in October. Ed Pugh of Wellsville is acting chairman.

The next meeting will be at Salem in June. Harold Barth and Richard Wilson of East Liverpool attended.

Officers Chosen For Youth Group

Election of officers highlighted a youth rally of the Steubenville District of the Methodist Church Sunday afternoon at Camp Aldersgate, near Carrollton. Approximately 165 attended.

Elected were: Bob Elliott of Smithfield, president; Sally Snavely ball of Salem, vice-president Clara Ann Ward of Steubenville secretary, and Grey Schelling of Mingo Junction, treasurer.

Chairmen of various committees elected were: Gary Hicks of East Liverpool, publicity; Linda Ketchum of Wintersville, Christian faith; De Smith of Salem, Christian outreach; Fred Love of New Athens, Christian citizenship, and Dick Bonham of Wintersville, Christian fellowship.

A dinner and report meeting of the Steubenville district will be held tonight at the First Church at Toronto. District churches will send representatives.

Library Project Bids Received At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — The J. G. Madden & Son Co. submitted the lowest of five bids received by the War Memorial Library Board Saturday for construction of a new stock room and reading room for the library.

Atty. J. E. Bauknecht, chairman, said Madden bid $20,470 for the addition to the rear of the present $77,000 structure.

Other bidders were Lantz Construction Co. of Youngstown, $21,315; Byran Spaite Co. of East Palestine $22,848; James Taylor of East Palestine, $24,537, and K. & M. Construction of Lisbon, $37,715.

Funds for the project were provided by $12,000 from the will of the late Robert Forbes Chamberlain, matched by the board.

and fine for assault and battery in such cases. His bill would provide a penitentiary sentence.

Prison terms now are provided for assault to kill. Sweeney explained that a gap in the law fails to provide an adequate penalty for cases in which a victim is severely beaten and sometimes maimed if evidence shows there was no intent to kill.

A handful of other bills are up for action in the House and Senate. Both Houses face heavy schedules for hearings on pending measures.

Besides hearings on a number of administration tax measures, Senate committees will consider proposal to:

Ban discrimination in employment because of age, increase benefits for disabled workers, allow the State Supreme Court instead of voters to pick the chief justice, ban drag racing on highways, boost the pay of county officials on the basis of population and make the killing of game protectors a first degree murder offense.

House - approved measures up for Senate hearings would:

Authorize public housing officials to set aside units for the aged, ban motor scooter licenses for 16 and 17-year-olds and allow sheriffs to call on deputies of other counties for help.

House proposals up for hearings would:

Liberalize workmen's compensation benefits, provide four - year terms for state representatives and village councilmen, create an administration-backed department of industrial and economic development, provide for statewide regulations of watercraft, create an Ohio real estate commission, provide for splitting city income taxes with outside areas where taxpayers live, set up a seven-member welfare advisory board, enact a uniform commercial code and increase auto registration fees to $15 a year.

Senate-passed bills up for hearing in the House include a proposal to boost unemployment benefits and broaden the coverage on jobless workers.

Boy And Girl Chosen As Road-E-O Winners

Elwonger, a high school senior, compiled 479 points, and Miss Trapnell, a junior and a sister of Martha Trapnell, who was Ohio champion two years ago, posted 456 points to win the girls' division.

Elwonger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Elwonger of R. D. 1, and Miss Trapnell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Trapnell of W. North Ave. Both will go to the state competition June 7. Their prizes were $50 savings bonds.

Second place winners were Carole Ann Dyke, 450 points, and Jack Sutherin, 449 points, receiving $25 savings bonds, and third were Rae Lackner, 448 points, and Ted Fredericks, 444 points, awarded $10 cash.

The Wishful Public

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cancer Fund is $18.94 richer because of the public's penchant for tossing coins into fountains. The Renault display at the recent International Automobile show included a lily pond, which although not intended as a wishing well, turned out to be just that. The money was donated to the Cancer Fund.

Group Drops Its Long Fight Against SUB

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Information Committee (OIC), an employers' group, says it will direct its effort toward supporting a "reasonable" unemployment compensation law.

The committee's announcement came over the weekend as the OIC disclosed it is dropping its fight against Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB).

The decision apparently eliminates the last potential roadblock to distribution of about 25 million dollars in back SUB payments.

Organized mainly to fight the SUB plan, the OIC had been considering a lawsuit to block release of such funds. Payments had been held up while lawsuits were being argued in the last few years.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle signed an emergency bill last Thursday providing for the back payments immediately.

The OIC called the SUB bill unconstitutional because it excused SUB payments made earlier. Before the bill was passed, an amendment eliminated that retroactive feature.

Constitution Approved By Historical Society

About 20 attended a meeting of the Columbiana County Historical Association Friday night with Miss Martha McCloskey of East Palestine, when the constitution of the newly-formed group was approved and the name officially was adopted.

A discussion was held on East Palestine and New Waterford history and copies of a 19th Century New Waterford newspaper were displayed.

Plans were discussed for a tour of the route of Morgan's Raiders in July. Permanent officers will be named in October. Ed Pugh of Wellsville is acting chairman.

The next meeting will be at Salem in June. Harold Barth and Richard Wilson of East Liverpool attended.

Officers Chosen For Youth Group

Election of officers highlighted a youth rally of the Steubenville District of the Methodist Church Sunday afternoon at Camp Aldersgate, near Carrollton. Approximately 165 attended.

Elected were: Bob Elliott of Smithfield, president; Sally Snavely ball of Salem, vice-president Clara Ann Ward of Steubenville secretary, and Grey Schelling of Mingo Junction, treasurer.

Chairmen of various committees elected were: Gary Hicks of East Liverpool, publicity; Linda Ketchum of Wintersville, Christian faith; De Smith of Salem, Christian outreach; Fred Love of New Athens, Christian citizenship, and Dick Bonham of Wintersville, Christian fellowship.

A dinner and report meeting of the Steubenville district will be held tonight at the First Church at Toronto. District churches will send representatives.

Library Project Bids Received At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — The J. G. Madden & Son Co. submitted the lowest of five bids received by the War Memorial Library Board Saturday for construction of a new stock room and reading room for the library.

Atty. J. E. Bauknecht, chairman, said Madden bid $20,470 for the addition to the rear of the present $77,000 structure.

Other bidders were Lantz Construction Co. of Youngstown, $21,315; Byran Spaite Co. of East Palestine $22,848; James Taylor of East Palestine, $24,537, and K. & M. Construction of Lisbon, $37,715.

Funds for the project were provided by $12,000 from the will of the late Robert Forbes Chamberlain, matched by the board.

White Sox Sweep Two From Tribe Behind Pierce, Wynn

Indians Still Hold First By 1½ Game Edge

CHICAGO (AP)—The Cleveland Indians still held first place in the American League by 1½ games today despite three straight losses to the Chicage White Sox.

The Sox won a doubleheader from the Indians Sunday to jump from fourth to second place.

The four-game series between the Indians and White Sox here was a replica of the one played earlier in Cleveland with Cleveland winning the first game and Chicago the next three. Chicago has accounted for six of the Tribe's nine losses.

Following an off day today, the Indians will meet the New York Yankees Tuesday night in the first of a two-game series which opens a nine-game eastern tour.

Cal McLish, who has a 4-0 record, will pitch the opener against the Yankees. He has been the Indians' only winning pitcher in their last five games.

Southpaw Billy Pierce went the distance in Sunday's opening game, won by the Sox 5-4 in 11 innings. Early Wynn shut out the Indians, 5-0, in the nightcap. It was the first time the Indians had been shut out this season.

In the opener, pinch hitter Billy Goodman and Bubba Phillips singled home runs in the bottom half of the 11th inning after Cleveland had taken a 4-3 lead in the top half of the inning.

Phillips had tied the score at 3-3 with a home run in the eighth and his single in the 11th drove in the winning run.

Wynn had only one troublesome inning in gaining the 253rd victory of his major league career. That was the fourth, when Minnie Minoso led off with a single and Rocky Colavito followed with a double. However, the veteran hurler got out of the jam and didn't allow a hit the rest of the way. He gave up only four hits, struck out five batters and walked but one in beating his former teammates the second time this season.

Dick Brodowski, who relieved Jim Grant in the eighth inning, was the loser in the opener and now has a 2-2 record. Mike Garcia took the second loss. He is now 0-2.

3 Passengers Drown As Motorboat Sinks

HAYTI, Mo. (AP)—Three passengers drowned Sunday when a speeding motorboat suddenly was swamped. Three others survived the accident on Wolf Bayou.

The dead were William Junior White, 20; his brother, William Wylie White, 14, and Nina Stumbaugh, 16. All three lived near Portageville, Mo.

Witnesses said the boat suddenly dipped under water as it sped along the bayou.

Two Champs Warm Up For Bouts Ahead

By The Associated Press

This is warmup week for world bantamweight champion Alphonse Halimi of France and Yvon Durelle, the Canadian and British Empire light heavyweight king.

Durelle, the rugged fighting fisherman from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., shakes off his ring rust at Caribou, Me., Tuesday night. Yvon faces Tinker Picot of Dorchester, Mass., in a 10 rounder.

The Canadian hasn't fought since he was kayoed in the 11th round of a title thriller by old Archie Moore at Montreal last Dec. 10. Moore risks his crown again with Yvon at Montreal, July 15.

Welterweight contenders Ralph Dupas and Charley Scott clash in the Wednesday night television (ABC, 9 p.m., EST) 10 at the Chicago Stadium.

Scott, a hard-hitting, 22-year-old Philadelphian, soared into a No. 7 ranking by twice beating Cuba's Ike Logart. Dupas, New Orleans speed boy, snapped a two-fight losing streak last March 14 by whipping Jamaica's Gerald Gray. Dupas is ranked second by the NBA and fourth by Ring.

Short Wins 1 To 0 In Buffalo Debut

By The Associated Press

Chris Short took only two days to make his mark as an International League pitcher.

Short was sent to Buffalo on 24 hours recall by the Philadelphia Phillies Friday. Sunday he hurled a three hit, 1-0 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs after the Bisons had taken the opener of the doubleheader, 12-10.

He walked only two and struck out three in the seven inning game. The double victory gave Buffalo undisputed possession of second place in the IL.

The Marlins split with the tail-end Havana Sugar Kings, winning the nightcap 5-1 after dropping the opener 4-1. Richmond and Columbus split a twinbill, with Richmond winning the opener 3-2 and Columbus taking the second, 1-0.

Alex Olmedo Beaten By UCLA Tennis Star

It was the first time Olmedo had been beaten since his United States Davis Cup triumphs last year.

The scores were 6-4, 3-6, 0-6, 12-10 and 7-5.

Dodger Third Baseman Sent Back To Minors

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers, paring their roster to the legal limit of 25, have sent Jim Baxes to the minors.

The third baseman, who had hit .303 in 33 times at bat for the Dodgers this season, was sent Saturday to Spokane of the Pacific Coast League. Baxes, 30, hit 28 home runs for Spokane last season.

Hank Can Do No Wrong In Hitting Spree

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Hank Aaron is so hot at the plate that now he is coming up with a base hit when he doesn't want to swing at a pitch.

Hammerin' Hank couldn't hold up on what he considered a bad delivery Sunday and drove in the run which shoved the Milwaukee Braves back into first place in the National League race.

Aaron's bases-loaded, two - out single to right field boosted the Braves to a 2-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the nightcap of a doubleheader. The Tribe won the opener 12-4 to launch the twinbill sweep.

"I tried to hold up on the pitch, but I couldn't," Aaron said. "I did get good wood on the ball, though."

The hit threaded its way through the hole between first and second and boosted Hank's average to a mighty .485. He has connected safely 49 times in 101 official trips to the plate.

Hank picked up 3 singles in the first game and 2 in the second while extending his hitting streak to 16 consecutive contests. He has two or more hits in 17 of the Braves' 23 games.

$50 Fine Levied For Hitting Mays Angers Drysdale

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —Lanky Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers was a mighty unhappy pitcher today over that $50 fine for hitting Willie Mays.

"What are we supposed to do, throw everything down the pike and let the hitters dig in?" asked the big righthander.

Drysdale was fined by National League President Warren Giles for hitting Mays on the shoulder in the third inning of a Dodger-Giant game Saturday.

Plate umpire Frank Secory reported to the NL Office that, in his opinion, Drysdale threw deliberately at Mays.

"They're taking everything away from the pitcher and giving it to the batters," Drysdale complained. "I've got one way to pitch, and that's tight to right-handed batters. I'm going to pitch that way if it costs me $5,000 in fines."

Brookes' Bird First In Race From Newark

Second in the race sponsored by the East Liverpool Homing Club was Victor Giovenco's "Bright Eye", which was clocked in 2 hours, 11 minutes, 54 seconds.

"Red Comet", also owned by Giovenco, was third.

The next race will be Sunday from Newark.

Jockey agent Steve Vaonakis had booked mounts for five riders until he came up with a steady winner in Howard Grant of Cincinnati, the 1958 runner up to Willie Shoemaker.

Boston, Yanks Take Pair As Race Tightens

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Billy Pierce and Early Wynn, a pair of route-going pitchers in an era of relief-happy managers, have moved the Chicago White Sox within striking distance of the American League lead.

Although Pierce gave up 13 hits, he went all the way for the White Sox to beat Cleveland 5-4 in 11 innings Sunday, winning on a single by Bubba Phillips, who had tied the score with an eighth-inning homer.

Wynn, a 39-year-old professional, completed the job on the league-leading Indians with a four hit, 5-0 shutout. The Sox backed him up with a 13-hit attack including Del Ennis' first American League homer.

Detroit's Tigers continued to streak under new manager Jimmy Dykes, whipping Kansas City 7-6 for their seventh victory in eight starts under the new boss.

The New York Yankees proved they are not quite ready for burial by taking a pair from Washington 6-3 and 3-2, the second in 10 innings.

The Boston Red Sox also did their bit to tighten up the American League race, grabbing two from high-flying Baltimore 3-2 in 10 innings and 5-1. Don Buddin's first home run won the opener for Leo Kiely. Frank Bauman's three-run triple and six-hit pitching did the heavy work in the second.

As the Western teams head East for their first extended road trip, the distance from top to bottom in the league is only 6½ games.

The White Sox continued to torment the Indians whom they have beaten six times in eight starts. As a result, Chicago is only 1½ games out of first place.

Pinchhitter Billy Goodman drove in the tying run in the White Sox 11th after Cleveland had scored once. Phillips then singled home the winner to give Pierce the edge over Dick Brodowski.

Wynn had only one troublesome inning, the third, when Minnie Minoso singled and Rocky Colavito doubled. He tightened up and didn't allow another hit. Loser Mike Garcia never had another chance.

Dykes' Tigers won a battle of home runs from Kansas City. Charlie Maxwell, Lou Berberet and Rocky Bridges did the bombing for the Tigers although Roger Maris hit two for the A's.

Ryne Duren had to put down a ninth inning uprising at Yankee Stadium to save Whitey Ford in the first game. The Senators had scored twice and had two on with nobody out when Duren took over. He blew down the next three.

Norm Sibern's double, a sinking liner on which Jim Lemon missed a shoestring catch, won the second for the Yanks in the 10th inning, scoring Mickey Mantle who had singled off loser Cailo Pascual. Duke Maas was the winner in relief.

Buddin's 10th inning homer sealed the first victory for relief man Kiely of Boston. Bauman's triple led the second game attack that also included a homer by Frank Malzone. Jack Harshman and Hec Brown were the losers.

Kuharich Cites Weaknesses After Irish Spring Practice

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—After 20 days of spring drills, climaxed by the Varsity's 21-7 victory over the Old Timers, how does new coach Joe Kuharich appraise Notre Dame football?

"Well," he said, "our freshman squad over all leaves much to be desired for positions where we don't have veterans available to fill them.

"Among the newcomers who probably will be included on our top 22 playing squad next fall are quarterback Tom Jorling (Cincinnati), Tackle Joe Carollo (Wyandotte, Mich.) and guard Nick Buoniconti (Springfield, Mass.)

"Tackle George Williams, (Marshfield, Mass.) and fullback Mike Lind (Chicago) have knee injuries, but if they recover they should be among the first 22."

As for the main problems, Kuharich said:

"We have a fine passer in George Izo, but he hasn't too many good targets to throw to. We have no tackle to speak of outside letterman Joe Scibelli and our guards are not much better. We need offensive ends and our secondary defense is inexperienced. Fullback, tackle and ends posed a real serious problem."

The star of the team is Red Mack, a 175-pound sophomore halfback from Allison Park, Pa. He scored all three touchdowns against the Old Timers Saturday.

Saturday, the Irish used only three basic formations—the slot, one-man flanker with split ends and the tight T. It's the same style of attack employed by Kuharich when he coached the Washington Redskins.

Did Kuharich find things just about as he expected when he quit the Redskins to replace the fired Terry Brennan as head coach of his alma mater?

"That is an inner sanctum thought," he replied.

Milwaukee Golfer Sets Hot Pace To Capture Tourney

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C. (AP) —Three brilliant sub-par rounds for a record-setting 210 earned Joyce Ziske of Milwaukee, Wis., the Southern Pines Open Invitation golf title, her first tournament victory since 1956.

The bespectacled pro won $997.50 as she tallied three birdies on the front nine Sunday and ended with a 70 and a Ladies Professional Golf Assn. record over 54 holes. Her earlier rounds were 69 and 71 over a par-72 course.

Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., and Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., finished in a second place tie at 213 for $683.50 of the $6,000 pot. Joanne Prentice of Birmingham, Ala., was fourth with a 218 and Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S. C., was fifth with 220 to earn $427.50.

Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., Wiffi Smith of St. Clair, Mich., and Marilynn Smith of Wichita, Kan., finished at 222 for a 3-way tie for sixth place. Each earned $332.17.

Batting — Hank Aaron, Braves, collected five hits in 10 trips during double sweep over Cincinnati, boosting average to .485. His ninth inning single broke a tie and won the second game, 2-1.

West Virginia Schools Hold Spring Meeting

Probably the most important action of the session will be a decision on whether to keep the conference basketball tournament at Buckhannon.

The conference has been asked to move the post-season event to three new sites—Charleston, Weston and Davis & Elkins College.

Charleston's Civic Center has a seating capacity of 6,400 for basketball, while the Weston field house can accommodate 3,000 and the D & E field house 3,500.

Windhorn Shifted To Denver Bears

DENVER (AP) — Outfielder Gordon Windhorn, who won the American Assn. batting title last year, will return to the Denver Bears, General Manager Bob Howsam announced today.

He trained with the Yankees this spring, although the property of Richmond, and was named the top rookie in the camp.

Yale football coach Jordan Olivar never played the sport in high school. He was a soccer player. He later played tackle for Villanova.

Cincy's Power Fails In 2nd Game Sunday

The Reds had won three straight —two from Milwaukee's powerful Braves—and King said:

"Our pitchers don't have to worry if the opposition scores some runs early. We are an explosive outfit and can come up with the big inning x x x.

"I've contended all along that our pitching would be better than most persons believe."

King's comments were correct enough at the time, but a trifle premature. The Braves pounded Cincinnati, 12-4, in Sunday's opener and slipped past the Reds, 2-1, in the nightcap.

The second game was tense. Redleg southpaw Joe Nuxhall dueled all the way with Carleton Willey, giving up 10 hits while the Reds collected 8.

But the only telling Rhinelander hit was Frank Robinson's homer in the second inning.

Milwaukee tied it in the third when John O'Brien walked and singled by Hank Aaron and Joe Adcock brought him home.

The decisive marker came in the ninth. Two singles around a force out put johnny Logan on third base and after a walk and a foul-out, Aaron singled in the winning run.

The Rhinelanders outhit Milwaukee 14 - 11 in the opener, but couldn't make many runs from it, collecting two each in the first and eighth innings.

Milwaukee went to work on starter Don Newcombe and chased him after the seventh.

The Braves had only a 5-4 edge going into the eighth, but then broke loose. Five hits—all singles—plus two walks and two Redleg errors, brought in seven runs and pulled the game out of Cincinnati's reach.

White Sox Sweep Two From Tribe Behind Pierce, Wynn

CHICAGO (AP)—The Cleveland Indians still held first place in the American League by 1½ games today despite three straight losses to the Chicage White Sox.

The four-game series between the Indians and White Sox here was a replica of the one played earlier in Cleveland with Cleveland winning the first game and Chicago the next three. Chicago has accounted for six of the Tribe's nine losses.

Following an off day today, the Indians will meet the New York Yankees Tuesday night in the first of a two-game series which opens a nine-game eastern tour.

Cal McLish, who has a 4-0 record, will pitch the opener against the Yankees. He has been the Indians' only winning pitcher in their last five games.

Southpaw Billy Pierce went the distance in Sunday's opening game, won by the Sox 5-4 in 11 innings. Early Wynn shut out the Indians, 5-0, in the nightcap. It was the first time the Indians had been shut out this season.

In the opener, pinch hitter Billy Goodman and Bubba Phillips singled home runs in the bottom half of the 11th inning after Cleveland had taken a 4-3 lead in the top half of the inning.

Phillips had tied the score at 3-3 with a home run in the eighth and his single in the 11th drove in the winning run.

Wynn had only one troublesome inning in gaining the 253rd victory of his major league career. That was the fourth, when Minnie Minoso led off with a single and Rocky Colavito followed with a double. However, the veteran hurler got out of the jam and didn't allow a hit the rest of the way. He gave up only four hits, struck out five batters and walked but one in beating his former teammates the second time this season.

Dick Brodowski, who relieved Jim Grant in the eighth inning, was the loser in the opener and now has a 2-2 record. Mike Garcia took the second loss. He is now 0-2.

Two Champs Warm Up For Bouts Ahead

By The Associated Press

This is warmup week for world bantamweight champion Alphonse Halimi of France and Yvon Durelle, the Canadian and British Empire light heavyweight king.

Halimi, the squat, 27-year-old Parisian, takes on Manila's Al Asuncion in a non-title 10 rounder at Paris' Sports Palce tonight. This is the champ's sixth and final tuneup for a title defense against Mexico's Jose Becerra at Los Angeles, July 8.

Durelle, the rugged fighting fisherman from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., shakes off his ring rust at Caribou, Me., Tuesday night. Yvon faces Tinker Picot of Dorchester, Mass., in a 10 rounder.

The Canadian hasn't fought since he was kayoed in the 11th round of a title thriller by old Archie Moore at Montreal last Dec. 10. Moore risks his crown again with Yvon at Montreal, July 15.

Welterweight contenders Ralph Dupas and Charley Scott clash in the Wednesday night television (ABC, 9 p.m., EST) 10 at the Chicago Stadium.

Scott, a hard-hitting, 22-year-old Philadelphian, soared into a No. 7 ranking by twice beating Cuba's Ike Logart. Dupas, New Orleans speed boy, snapped a two-fight losing streak last March 14 by whipping Jamaica's Gerald Gray. Dupas is ranked second by the NBA and fourth by Ring.

Short Wins 1 To 0 In Buffalo Debut

By The Associated Press

Chris Short took only two days to make his mark as an International League pitcher.

Short was sent to Buffalo on 24 hours recall by the Philadelphia Phillies Friday. Sunday he hurled a three hit, 1-0 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs after the Bisons had taken the opener of the doubleheader, 12-10.

He walked only two and struck out three in the seven inning game. The double victory gave Buffalo undisputed possession of second place in the IL.

The Marlins split with the tail-end Havana Sugar Kings, winning the nightcap 5-1 after dropping the opener 4-1. Richmond and Columbus split a twinbill, with Richmond winning the opener 3-2 and Columbus taking the second, 1-0.

Alex Olmedo Beaten By UCLA Tennis Star

It was the first time Olmedo had been beaten since his United States Davis Cup triumphs last year.

The scores were 6-4, 3-6, 0-6, 12-10 and 7-5.

Dodger Third Baseman Sent Back To Minors

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers, paring their roster to the legal limit of 25, have sent Jim Baxes to the minors.

The third baseman, who had hit .303 in 33 times at bat for the Dodgers this season, was sent Saturday to Spokane of the Pacific Coast League. Baxes, 30, hit 28 home runs for Spokane last season.

Hank Can Do No Wrong In Hitting Spree

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Hank Aaron is so hot at the plate that now he is coming up with a base hit when he doesn't want to swing at a pitch.

Hammerin' Hank couldn't hold up on what he considered a bad delivery Sunday and drove in the run which shoved the Milwaukee Braves back into first place in the National League race.

Aaron's bases-loaded, two - out single to right field boosted the Braves to a 2-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the nightcap of a doubleheader. The Tribe won the opener 12-4 to launch the twinbill sweep.

The hit threaded its way through the hole between first and second and boosted Hank's average to a mighty .485. He has connected safely 49 times in 101 official trips to the plate.

Hank picked up 3 singles in the first game and 2 in the second while extending his hitting streak to 16 consecutive contests. He has two or more hits in 17 of the Braves' 23 games.

$50 Fine Levied For Hitting Mays Angers Drysdale

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —Lanky Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers was a mighty unhappy pitcher today over that $50 fine for hitting Willie Mays.

"What are we supposed to do, throw everything down the pike and let the hitters dig in?" asked the big righthander.

Drysdale was fined by National League President Warren Giles for hitting Mays on the shoulder in the third inning of a Dodger-Giant game Saturday.

Plate umpire Frank Secory reported to the NL Office that, in his opinion, Drysdale threw deliberately at Mays.

"They're taking everything away from the pitcher and giving it to the batters," Drysdale complained. "I've got one way to pitch, and that's tight to right-handed batters. I'm going to pitch that way if it costs me $5,000 in fines."

Brookes' Bird First In Race From Newark

Second in the race sponsored by the East Liverpool Homing Club was Victor Giovenco's "Bright Eye", which was clocked in 2 hours, 11 minutes, 54 seconds.

Boston, Yanks Take Pair As Race Tightens

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Billy Pierce and Early Wynn, a pair of route-going pitchers in an era of relief-happy managers, have moved the Chicago White Sox within striking distance of the American League lead.

Although Pierce gave up 13 hits he went all the way for the White Sox to beat Cleveland 5-4 in 11 innings Sunday, winning on a single by Bubba Phillips, who had tied the score with an eighth-inning homer.

Wynn, a 39-year-old professional, completed the job on the league-leading Indians with a four hit, 5-0 shutout. The Sox backed him up with a 13-hit attack including Del Ennis' first American League homer.

Detroit's Tigers continued to streak under new manager Jimmy Dykes, whipping Kansas City 7-6 for their seventh victory in eight starts under the new boss.

The New York Yankees proved they are not quite ready for burial by taking a pair from Washington 6-3 and 3-2, the second in 10 innings.

The Boston Red Sox also did their bit to tighten up the American League race, grabbing two from high-flying Baltimore 3-2 in 10 innings and 5-1. Don Buddin's first home run won the opener for Leo Kiely. Frank Bauman's three-run triple and six-hit pitching did the heavy work in the second.

The White Sox continued to torment the Indians whom they have beaten six times in eight starts. As a result, Chicago is only 1½ games out of first place.

Pinchhitter Billy Goodman drove in the tying run in the White Sox 11th after Cleveland had scored once. Phillips then singled home the winner to give Pierce the edge over Dick Brodowski.

Wynn had only one troublesome inning, the third, when Minnie Minoso singled and Rocky Colavito doubled. He tightened up and didn't allow another hit. Loser Mike Garcia never had another chance.

Dykes' Tigers won a battle of home runs from Kansas City. Charlie Maxwell, Lou Berberet and Rocky Bridges did the bombing for the Tigers although Roger Maris hit two for the A's.

Ryne Duren had to put down a ninth inning uprising at Yankee Stadium to save Whitey Ford in the first game. The Senators had scored twice and had two on with nobody out when Duren took over. He blew down the next three.

Norm Sibern's double, a sinking liner on which Jim Lemon missed a shoestring catch, won the second for the Yanks in the 10th inning, scoring Mickey Mantle who had singled off loser Cailo Pascual. Duke Maas was the winner in relief.

Buddin's 10th inning homer sealed the first victory for relief man Kiely of Boston. Bauman's triple led the second game attack that also included a homer by Frank Malzone. Jack Harshman and Hec Brown were the losers.

Kuharich Cites Weaknesses After Irish Spring Practice

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—After 20 days of spring drills, climaxed by the Varsity's 21-7 victory over the Old Timers, how does new coach Joe Kuharich appraise Notre Dame football?

"Well," he said, "our freshman squad over all leaves much to be desired for positions where we don't have veterans available to fill them.

"Among the newcomers who probably will be included on our top 22 playing squad next fall are quarterback Tom Jorling (Cincinnati), Tackle Joe Carollo (Wyandotte, Mich.) and guard Nick Buoniconti (Springfield, Mass.)

"Tackle George Williams, (Marshfield, Mass.) and fullback Mike Lind (Chicago) have knee injuries, but if they recover they should be among the first 22."

As for the main problems, Kuharich said:

"We have a fine passer in George Izo, but he hasn't too many good targets to throw to. We have no tackle to speak of outside letterman Joe Scibelli and our guards are not much better. We need offensive ends and our secondary defense is inexperienced. Fullback, tackle and ends posed a real serious problem."

The star of the team is Red Mack, a 175-pound sophomore halfback from Allison Park, Pa. He scored all three touchdowns against the Old Timers Saturday.

Saturday, the Irish used only three basic formations—the slot, one-man flanker with split ends and the tight T. It's the same style of attack employed by Kuharich when he coached the Washington Redskins.

Did Kuharich find things just about as he expected when he quit the Redskins to replace the fired Terry Brennan as head coach of his alma mater?

"That is an inner sanctum thought," he replied.

Milwaukee Golfer Sets Hot Pace To Capture Tourney

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C. (AP) —Three brilliant sub-par rounds for a record-setting 210 earned Joyce Ziske of Milwaukee, Wis., the Southern Pines Open Invitation golf title, her first tournament victory since 1956.

The bespectacled pro won $997.50 as she tallied three birdies on the front nine Sunday and ended with a 70 and a Ladies Professional Golf Assn. record over 54 holes. Her earlier rounds were 69 and 71 over a par-72 course.

Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., and Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., finished in a second place tie at 213 for $683.50 of the $6,000 pot. Joanne Prentice of Birmingham, Ala., was fourth with a 218 and Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S. C., was fifth with 220 to earn $427.50.

Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., Wiffi Smith of St. Clair, Mich., and Marilynn Smith of Wichita, Kan., finished at 222 for a 3-way tie for sixth place. Each earned $332.17.

Batting — Hank Aaron, Braves, collected five hits in 10 trips during double sweep over Cincinnati, boosting average to .485. His ninth inning single broke a tie and won the second game, 2-1.

West Virginia Schools Hold Spring Meeting

Probably the most important action of the session will be a decision on whether to keep the conference basketball tournament at Buckhannon.

The conference has been asked to move the post-season event to three new sites—Charleston, Weston and Davis & Elkins College.

Charleston's Civic Center has a seating capacity of 6,400 for basketball, while the Weston field house can accommodate 3,000 and the D & E field house 3,500.

Windhorn Shifted To Denver Bears

DENVER (AP) — Outfielder Gordon Windhorn, who won the American Assn. batting title last year, will return to the Denver Bears, General Manager Bob Howsam announced today.

He trained with the Yankees this spring, although the property of Richmond, and was named the top rookie in the camp.

Yale football coach Jordan Olivar never played the sport in high school. He was a soccer player. He later played tackle for Villanova.

Cincy's Power Fails In 2nd Game Sunday

The Reds had won three straight —two from Milwaukee's powerful Braves—and King said:

"Our pitchers don't have to worry if the opposition scores some runs early. We are an explosive outfit and can come up with the big inning x x x.

"I've contended all along that our pitching would be better than most persons believe."

King's comments were correct enough at the time, but a trifle premature. The Braves pounded Cincinnati, 12-4, in Sunday's opener and slipped past the Reds, 2-1, in the nightcap.

The second game was tense. Redleg southpaw Joe Nuxhall dueled all the way with Carleton Willey, giving up 10 hits while the Reds collected 8.

But the only telling Rhinelander hit was Frank Robinson's homer in the second inning.

Milwaukee tied it in the third when John O'Brien walked and singled by Hank Aaron and Joe Adcock brought him home.

The decisive marker came in the ninth. Two singles around a force out put johnny Logan on third base and after a walk and a foul-out, Aaron singled in the winning run.

The Rhinelanders outhit Milwaukee 14 - 11 in the opener, but couldn't make many runs from it, collecting two each in the first and eighth innings.

Milwaukee went to work on starter Don Newcombe and chased him after the seventh.

The Braves had only a 5-4 edge going into the eighth, but then broke loose. Five hits—all singles —plus two walks and two Redleg errors, brought in seven runs and pulled the game out of Cincinnati's reach.

Braves Even Score With Reds In 12-4 And 2-1 Victories

Bob Friend Drops Sixth To Phillies

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Aaron's .485 average is the best in the majors and his 49 hits are high for both leagues. Mathews tops the big show with 11 home runs and 27 runs scored.

Los Angeles climbed into second place for a 3-2 victory over San Francisco, made possible by Clem Labine's second game-saving relief job in two days. Labine turned in two scoreless innings, preserving Johnny Podres' fourth victory.

The Phillies and Pirates ran afoul of that Sunday curfew rule in Pittsburgh. After the Phils handed Bob Friend his sixth straight defeat 6-3 in the opener, the Pirates had opened up a 6-4 lead on Smoky Burgess' hitting when curfew sounded. They were in the last of the eighth, so the game must be completed July 21 before it goes into the standings.

Down-trodden St. Louis finally won a series, splitting two with Chicago for a 3-2 edge in a five-game series. Although Bobby Thomson hit two homers and drove in six runs, it took an 11th inning homer by Earl Averill to give the Cubs a 10-9 edge in the opener. Gino Cimoli, who had a big hitting day, teamed up with Curt Flood in some ninth inning heroics to give St. Louis the second, 8-7.

Milwaukee had lost the first two games of the series to the Reds but dropped the visitors into third place by taking the doubleheader. Bob Rush won the first from Newk with help from Don McMahon, and Carl Willey outpitched Joe Nuxhall in a fine duel.

Rip Repulski and Charlie Neal homered for the Dodgers and Felipe Alou for the Giants before a San Francisco sellout of 22,641. Alou's homer following a towering double by Willie Mays in the eighth prompted Manager Walter Alston to bring in Labine.

In that suspended game at Pittsburgh, Burgess had driven in four runs with a three-run pinch homer and a double when curfew intervened. The opener was delayed for 15 minutes at the start and was held up again for 55 minutes by rain.

There was an oddity in the St. Louis-Chicago doubleheader. Lirdy McDaniel of the Cards lost the first and won the second, both on relief. It was the same story for Chicago's Elmer Singleton who came from the bullpen to win the first and then lost the second.

'Catfish' Clocked In 49.1 For 440

CHARLESTON (AP) — Charleston, unbeaten in six meets this year, and defending champion Dunbar came out of a regional qualifying activity in excellent positions to battle it out for the state high school track crown here Saturday.

Although Huntington, Parkers-Elkins and Wheeling managed to qualify a large number of entries for the 45th championship meet, those schools apparently do not have the quality present among the Charleston and Dunbar thinclads.

Regional meets at Charleston, Huntington and Wheeling qualified the first four places in each of 15 events. The regionals at Beckley and Elkins qualified the first three places and the one at Martinsburg produced qualifiers from the first two places.

Charleston qualified 16 individual places and all three relay teams, while Dunbar qualified 13 individuals and three relays.

Huntington had no less than 19 individual qualifying places and three relay teams. Parkersburg did well with 15 individuals and three relays.

The most impressive efforts in the regionals were turned in by John Minichan of Huntington East, Phil Edwards of Morgantown, Bill Hearst of Wellsburg, and Harry Daniels of Huntington.

Minichan put the shot 53 feet, 11 inches, which easily was better than the state record of 52 feet, 6 inches.

Hearst scampered the 440-yard dash in a sparkling 49.1 seconds at the Wheeling regional. That effort compared to the state record of 50 seconds flat.

Edwards' broad jump in the Elkins regional of 21 feet, 1½ inches stamped him as a state meet favorite in the event. Joe Hickey of Huntington jumped 20 feet, 10 inches.

Daniels turned in a nifty half-mile time of 2 minutes, 1.8 seconds in the Huntington regional. But Daniels can expect stiff competition from Charleston's Doug Kersey, and Tony Gordon of Wheeling and possibly Bill Caperton of Mount Hope.

Another state record possibility besides Minichan and Hearst is Keith Locke, the Huntington Miler. Locke set a state record last year when he ran the mile in 4 minutes, 34 seconds. He turned in a 4:37.5 in the regional but will go all out Saturday to better his own mark.

Elkins qualified 15 individuals and two relays for the state meet, while Morgantown qualified 10 individuals and three relays.

Mount Hope and Oak Hill led the qualifying breakdown at Beckley. Wheeling qualified 12 individual places and three relay teams.

Nearly Four Times As Much

Racing Has Invested More In Plants Than Baseball

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

By summer's end, approximately 29 million dollars will have been spent in five years on improving old major league ball parks and building one new stadium.

During the same period, thoroughbred and harness racing will have spent 113 million dollars in the same regions.

Racing has made such rapid strides in luring people to parimutuel windows all over the country in the last few years that baseball is a worried sport. Not since 1923, when Yankee Stadium opened, has a new ballpark been built with private funds.

In New York City, a three-team baseball town two years ago, racing in the last three years has spent almost 80 million dollars for two new plants and the refurbishing of two others.

NEW AQUEDUCT, where thoroughbred racing will be resumed Sept. 14, is costing 34 million dollars. Six million dollars has been spent at Belmont Park. For trotting fans, the new Roosevelt Raceway at Westbury was built two years ago at a cost of 19½ million. Last year refurbished Yonkers opened after spending 18 million dollars.

—:—

A bill passed by the state legislature in 1956 enabled harness tracks to share equally with the state in the gambling revenue above the amount it received from the tracks in 1955. The theory was that the state will eventually gain revenue from bigger and more modern tracks. New York this year will turn back to Roosevelt and Yonkers a total of 7½ million dollars which is earmarked for improvements already made.

Baseball has no such gambling revenue, and where baseball men are seeking new municipal parks they want a number of concessions such as low rental or parking or food concessions.

There is talk of New American League ball parks in Chicago and Washington and National League stadiums in Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis. But baseball seems to be running around in circles in its rebuilding and expansion ideas.

Only the 15 million dollar Candlestick Park in San Francisco is under way. September has been set as completion date. The only private stadium on the drawing board is the 12 million dollar Los Angeles Dodger park in Chavez Ravine. It's doubtful that it can be built in time for the 1960 season.

MAJOR league officials are watching with keen interest the 10-team American Assn. since Houston, Fort Worth and Dallas were admitted. Wichita was dropped. If expansion comes to the majors it probably will be in the form of two 10 - team leagues. Two teams in Texas cities could be admitted to form a natural rivalry. Two more teams could be added from the far west, midwest or Canada.

Meanwhile, racing is expanding. At Florence, Ky., 12 miles from Cincinnati, the new 4 million dollar Latonia racetrack is scheduled to open Aug. 27.

Within easy access to Philadelphia, Delaware Park in the last five years has spent 5½ million dollars on its racing plant and Garden State at Camden, N. J., another million.

In California, Santa Anita and Hollywood Park have spent a combined 4½ million dollars over the same period.

While Chicago's two ball parks have spent about 1 million in improvements, Chicago's racetracks—Arlington Park and Washington Park—have tossed 11 million dollars into modern conveniences.

Tracks in Boston, Lincoln, R. I., and Salem, N. H., have expended 4 million. And at Timonium, the half-mile track near Baltimore, 2 million has been spent for a new grandstand.

What baseball would like to do—expand—will take much time and plenty of money. What the sport seems to need are a few parks" like the "dream tracks" recently erected for New York's thoroughbred and harness fans.

Golfers Try Again Today In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA City. (AP) — There's nothing like a rainy day for golf talk and that's exactly what happened after the final round of the $25,000 Oklahoma City Open Tournament was rained out Sunday.

Locker room conversation pointed out that Palmer was the 54-hole leader at Houston earlier this year and missed winning, and and that he was co-leader at the Master's only to lose out in the final round.

Old Grads Top WVU Gridders

MORGANTOWN (AP) — A 51-yard scoring play early in the second period was about the size of West Virginia University's offensive punch against a formidable alumni football team.

The alumni was led by three former Mountaineers now in the professional ranks — Sam Huff, Larry Krutko and Joe Marconi.

Quarterback Danny Williams of Beckley engineered the WVU scoring play when he started a wide end sweep. Williams lateraled to halfback Dick Herrig of Point Pleasant, who raced for the touchdown.

Hillen recovered a varsity fumble on the WVU 14 to set up the first alumni score. Dick Nicholson rammed for eight yards, Krutko banged to the two and Nicholson scored from there.

Hillen landed on another fumble after the ensuing kickoff, this time at the varsity 20. Mel Reight of last season's team raced 15 yards for the second touchdown.

Connolly, who never received a varsity letter at WVU, passed to Ralph Anastasio in the fourth quarter on a 42-yard scoring play.

The varsity completed only two of 18 passes. Williams, who will be a junior next season, completed both passes in 13 attempts.

148 Games Without An Error Bring Berra Fielding Record

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Yogi Berra has quit keeping count of all his baseball records but he's pretty fond of his newest one — 148 straight games behind the plate without an error.

"All my other records have had to do with batting," the squat, hunch-shouldered catcher of the New York Yankees said today. "This one is in fielding. It shows I'm not such a clumsy ox, after all."

Yogi recalled that when he first came to the Yankees in 1946 his bosses cringed when he put on the pads to catch.

"I must have been pretty raw and rough around the edges," he said. "Bill Dickey worked hard with me. If I've learned anything as a catcher Bill deserves most of the credit."

Berra caught both ends of a doubleheader against Washington, swept by the Yankees 6-3 and 3-2, the latter in 10 innings. He surpassed the old mark of 147 errorless games set by an ex-Yankee, Buddy Rosar, with the Philadelphia Athletics from 1945 to 1947.

Yogi's current mark started in 1957 and covers 970 chances. He doesn't recall the last error he made.

"All I know is I'll be 34 years old Tuesday and I feel great," he said. "I figure I have at least two more years in my system, maybe more. I have to take it from year to year, depending on how I feel. Now I've never felt better."

He has a good-sized list of records, most of them in the World Series. He has hit more home runs than any major league catcher—285. In the World Series he has surpassed famed old Yankees like Babe Ruth and Joe DiMaggio in several categories.

Los Angeles climbed into second place for a 3-2 victory over San Francisco, made possible by Clem Labine's second game-saving relief job in two days. Labine turned in two scoreless innings, preserving Johnny Podres' fourth victory.

The Phillies and Pirates ran afoul of that Sunday curfew rule in Pittsburgh. After the Phils handed Bob Friend his sixth straight defeat 6-3 in the opener, the Pirates had opened up a 6-4 lead on Smoky Burgess' hitting when curfew sounded. They were in the last of the eighth, so the game must be completed July 21 before it goes into the standings.

Down-trodden St. Louis finally won a series, splitting two with Chicago for a 3-2 edge in a five-game series. Although Bobby Thomson hit two homers and drove in six runs, it took an 11th inning homer by Earl Averill to give the Cubs a 10-9 edge in the opener. Gino Cimoli, who had a big hitting day, teamed up with Curt Flood in some ninth inning heroics to give St. Louis the second, 8-7.

Milwaukee had lost the first two games of the series to the Reds but dropped the visitors into third place by taking the doubleheader. Bob Rush won the first from Newk with help from Don McMahon, and Carl Willey outpitched Joe Nuxhall in a fine duel.

Rip Repulski and Charlie Neal homered for the Dodgers and Felipe Alou for the Giants before a San Francisco sellout of 22,641. Alou's homer following a towering double by Willie Mays in the eighth prompted Manager Walter Alston to bring in Labine.

In that suspended game at Pittsburgh, Burgess had driven in four runs with a three-run pinch homer and a double when curfew intervened. The opener was delayed for 15 minutes at the start and was held up again for 55 minutes by rain.

There was an oddity in the St. Louis-Chicago doubleheader. Lindy McDaniel of the Cards lost the first and won the second, both on relief. It was the same story for Chicago's Elmer Singleton who came from the bullpen to win the first and then lost the second.

Nearly Four Times As Much

Racing Has Invested More In Plants Than Baseball

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

By summer's end, approximately 29 million dollars will have been spent in five years on improving old major league baseball parks and building one new stadium.

During the same period, thoroughbred and harness racing will have spent 113 million dollars in the same regions.

Racing has made such rapid strides in luring people to parimutuel windows all over the country in the last few years that baseball is a worried sport. Not since 1923, when Yankee Stadium opened, has a new ballpark been built with private funds.

In New York City, a three-team baseball town two years ago, racing in the last three years has spent almost 80 million dollars for two new plants and the refurbishing of two others.

NEW AQUEDUCT, where thoroughbred racing will be resumed Sept. 14, is costing 34 million dollars. Six million dollars has been spent at Belmont Park. For trotting fans, the new Roosevelt Raceway at Westbury was built two years ago at a cost of 19½ million. Last year refurbished Yonkers opened after spending 18 million dollars.

—:—

A bill passed by the state legislature in 1956 enabled harness tracks to share equally with the state in the gambling revenue above the amount it received from the tracks in 1955. The theory was that the state will eventually gain revenue from bigger and more modern tracks. New York this year will turn back to Roosevelt and Yonkers a total of 7½ million dollars which is earmarked for improvements already made.

Baseball has no such gambling revenue, and where baseball men are seeking new municipal parks they want a number of concessions such as low rental or parking or food concessions.

There is talk of New American League ball parks in Chicago and Washington and National League stadiums in Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis. But baseball seems to be running around in circles in its rebuilding and expansion ideas.

Only the 15 million dollar Candlestick Park in San Francisco is under way. September has been set as completion date. The only private stadium on the drawing board is the 12 million dollar Los Angeles Dodger park in Chavez Ravine. It's doubtful that it can be built in time for the 1960 season.

In New York City, a committee is talking about a third major league, but the chances seem remote.

MAJOR league officials are watching with keen interest the 10-team American Assn. since Houston, Fort Worth and Dallas were admitted. Wichita was dropped. If expansion comes to the majors it probably will be in the form of two 10 - team leagues. Two teams in Texas cities could be admitted to form a natural rivalry. Two more teams could be added from the far west, midwest or Canada.

Meanwhile, racing is expanding. At Florence, Ky., 12 miles from Cincinnati, the new 4 million dollar Latonia racetrack is scheduled to open Aug. 27.

Within easy access to Philadelphia, Delaware Park in the last five years has spent 5½ million dollars on its racing plant and Garden State at Camden, N. J., another million.

In California, Santa Anita and Hollywood Park have spent a combined 4½ million dollars over the same period.

While Chicago's two ball parks have spent about 1 million in improvements, Chicago's racetracks—Arlington Park and Washington Park—have tossed 11 million dollars into modern conveniences.

Tracks in Boston, Lincoln, R. I., and Salem, N. H., have expended 4 million. And at Timonium, the half-mile track near Baltimore, 2 million has been spent for a new grandstand.

What baseball would like to do—expand—will take much time and plenty of money. What the sport seems to need are a few parks" like the "dream tracks" recently erected for New York's thoroughbred and harness fans.

'Catfish' Clocked In 49.1 For 440

CHARLESTON (AP) — Charleston, unbeaten in six meets this year, and defending champion Dunbar came out of a regional qualifying activity in excellent positions to battle it out for the state high school track crown here Saturday.

Although Huntington, Parkers-Elkins and Wheeling managed to qualify a large number of entries for the 45th championship meet, those schools apparently do not have the quality present among the Charleston and Dunbar thinclads.

Regional meets at Charleston, Huntington and Wheeling qualified the first four places in each of 15 events. The regionals at Beckley and Elkins qualified the first three places and the one at Martinsburg produced qualifiers from the first two places.

Charleston qualified 16 individual places and all three relay teams, while Dunbar qualified 13 individuals and three relays.

Huntington had no less than 19 individual qualifying places and three relay teams. Parkersburg did well with 15 individuals and three relays.

In the Huntington regional, Huntington East qualified 12 individual places and two relays.

Stonewall Jackson finished behind Charleston and Dunbar here with 11 individual places and three relays. The Generals figure to be among the top five in Saturday's state meet.

The most impressive efforts in the regionals were turned in by John Minichan of Huntington East, Phil Edwards of Morgantown, Bill Hearst of Wellsburg, and Harry Daniels of Huntington.

Minichan put the shot 53 feet, 11 inches, which easily was better than the state record of 52 feet, 6 inches.

Hearst scampered the 440-yard dash in a sparkling 49.1 seconds at the Wheeling regional. That effort compared to the state record of 50 seconds flat.

Edwards' broad jump in the Elkins regional of 21 feet, 1½ inches stamped him as a state meet favorite in the event. Joe Hickey of Huntington jumped 20 feet, 10 inches.

Daniels turned in a nifty half-mile time of 2 minutes, 1.8 seconds in the Huntington regional. But Daniels can expect stiff competition from Charleston's Doug Kersey, and Tony Gordon of Wheeling and possibly Bill Caperton of Mount Hope.

Another state record possibility besides Minichan and Hearst is Keith Locke, the Huntington Miler. Locke set a state record last year when he ran the mile in 4 minutes, 34 seconds. He turned in a 4:37.5 in the regional but will go all out Saturday to better his own mark.

Elkins qualified 15 individuals and two relays for the state meet, while Morgantown qualified 10 individuals and three relays.

Mount Hope and Oak Hill led the qualifying breakdown at Beckley. Wheeling qualified 12 individual places and three relay teams.

Golfers Try Again Today In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA City. (AP) — There's nothing like a rainy day for golf talk and that's exactly what happened after the final round of the $25,000 Oklahoma City Open Tournament was rained out Sunday.

Locker room conversation pointed out that Palmer was the 54-hole leader at Houston earlier this year and missed winning, and and that he was co-leader at the Master's only to lose out in the final round.

Old Grads Top WVU Gridders

MORGANTOWN (AP) — A 51-yard scoring play early in the second period was about the size of West Virginia University's offensive punch against a formidable alumni football team.

End Bill Hillen recovered two varsity fumbles that triggered alumni touchdowns in the third quarter.

The prospective Mountaineer gridders of next fall could move out of their own territory only on one occasion in the second half.

The alumni was led by three former Mountaineers now in the professional ranks — Sam Huff, Larry Krutko and Joe Marconi.

Quarterback Bob Connolly and Hillen also were standouts for the old grads.

Quarterback Danny Williams of Beckley engineered the WVU scoring play when he started a wide end sweep. Williams lateraled to halfback Dick Herrig of Point Pleasant, who raced for the touchdown.

Hillen recovered a varsity fumble on the WVU 14 to set up the first alumni score. Dick Nicholson rammed for eight yards, Krutko banged to the two and Nicholson scored from there.

Nicholson ran for the two-point conversion and the Mountaineer varsity was through.

Hillen landed on another fumble after the ensuing kickoff, this time at the varsity 20. Mel Reight of last season's team raced 15 yards for the second touchdown.

Connolly, who never received a varsity letter at WVU, passed to Ralph Anastasio in the fourth quarter on a 42-yard scoring play.

The varsity completed only two of 18 passes. Williams, who will be a junior next season, completed both passes in 13 attempts.

148 Games Without An Error Bring Berra Fielding Record

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Yogi Berra has quit keeping count of all his baseball records but he's pretty fond of his newest one — 148 straight games behind the plate without an error.

"All my other records have had to do with batting," the squat, hunch-shouldered catcher of the New York Yankees said today. "This one is in fielding. It shows I'm not such a clumsy ox, after all."

Yogi recalled that when he first came to the Yankees in 1946 his bosses cringed when he put on the pads to catch.

"I must have been pretty raw and rough around the edges," he said. "Bill Dickey worked hard with me. If I've learned anything as a catcher Bill deserves most of the credit."

Berra caught both ends of a doubleheader against Washington, swept by the Yankees 6-3 and 3-2, the latter in 10 innings. He surpassed the old mark of 147 errorless games set by an ex-Yankee, Buddy Rosar, with the Philadelphia Athletics from 1945 to 1947.

Yogi's current mark started in 1957 and covers 970 chances. He doesn't recall the last error he made.

"All I know is I'll be 34 years old Tuesday and I feel great," he said. "I figure I have at least two more years in my system, maybe more. I have to take it from year to year, depending on how I feel. Now I've never felt better."

He has a good-sized list of records, most of them in the World Series. He has hit more home runs than any major league catcher—285. In the World Series he has surpassed famed old Yankees like Babe Ruth and Joe DiMaggio in several categories.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale

A Formula For Dealing With Difficulties

A very interesting man I know has overcome a number of difficulties, including some that have been particularly formidable. He is what you might call an expert in handling the difficult. He has worked out techniques for so doing that really seem to work. I asked him to outline his formula for dealing with difficulties. Could he state it simply so that it might be useful to other people? "Sure," he answered, "my formula is simply this. First, sit down with your problem. Study it and see it as it really is. Bring it out of the nebulous. Clarify it. To accomplish this take a piece of paper and systematically write down all the elements of the problem. Then so organize them in an orderly, factual manner, that you can see exactly where you stand in relationship to these elements. In other words, take a problem apart and then you can put it together right."

Dr. Peale

—:—

"THEN," HE continued, "the next step is good, sound praying."

"What do you mean, 'sound praying'?" I asked.

"I mean," he told me, "saying to the Lord—and saying it honestly—that you want to solve the problem not the way you may think it ought to be, but whichever way He wants it to be solved.

"And, finally," he went on, "use sound thinking." By this he meant, "Leave out the emotional factors and get down to the facts of the case. If others are involved decide questions not on who is right but what is right."

I thought this a wonderful formula and told him so. And he told me how he had happened to hit upon it.

He was running a retail store and was having business troubles. His suppliers began to increase their prices and his costs were inching up little by little. He became afraid that his trade wouldn't stand these increases so he began to absorb them himself. Gradually his margin of profit vanished; he began to go into debt. He couldn't see any way out of his troubles.

Being a religious man he said to himself, "I must be praying wrong." He thought deeply about his method of prayer and realized that he had been praying negatively with fear instead of positively with faith. He saw that he had been thinking wrong, too. He had been thinking fear thoughts rather than positive thoughts. This had caused him to run away from economic facts in conducting his business affairs.

AND THEN he found the technique that reversed his situation and brought prosperity out of financial failure. Although he had thought of himself as a religious man, he realized he had been spending all his efforts upon getting, and too little upon giving. As a result he wasn't even getting.

He then remembered one of the greatest spiritual laws, namely: As you give, so shall you receive. So he decided to begin the practice of tithing. He started giving 10 per cent of his income to God through his church. It was mighty little at first because his returns were small, but it's the principle of the act, not the amount, that sets creative forces in motion.

As he changed his ways of praying, thinking and giving, the defeating sense of depression that had settled upon him gradually lifted; creative ideas began to flow freely once again, and soon he found new effective selling techniques that enabled him to revitalize his business. In time he became a successful businessman. From this experience he learned his practical formula that has stood him in good stead ever since.

1.—Isolate your problem: break it down into its elements. Get the mystery out of your problem. See it for what it is.

2.—Use "sound praying." Pray for guidance and inner calmness; ask the Lord how He wants the problem solved. That's the only way to be sure you have the right answer.

3.—Depending upon God's guidance, think your problem through, without emotion, and with full regard to the facts. That's "sound thinking."

4.—Give outgoingly and you will stimulate creative results.

Try this formula for yourself and you will be able to handle your difficulties with new skill.

Ailing Boy Enjoys Birthday Event He Wasn't To Reach

SOMERSET, Mass. (AP)—Some time ago doctors said Albert Pineault never would reach his 10th birthday.

So his 10th birthday was an especially gay one Sunday. Mayor John M. Arruda of neighboring Fall River cut the cake and Marines and soldiers gave him presents.

Albert is a victim of muscular dystrophy. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Brosseau of Somerset, have cared for him since birth.

Albert's brother, Roger, 8, suffers from the same illness, but it has not progressed as far as it has with his older brother. He lives with his parents in Fall River.

"Two weeks ago," Mrs. Brosseau said tearfully, "he told me he was ready to go to Heaven."

4 Dropped To Safety As Fire Sweeps Home

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 20-year-old youth caught four children dropped from a second floor window as a family of seven escaped from their burning home here Sunday.

Mrs. Martha Walters dropped her four youngest children, Joe, 11; Catherine, 6, and twins, Mark and Mike, 2, into the arms of a neighbor, Ed Naegele. Then she and two older children, Gary, 18, and Sharon, 16, jumped.

Firemen said the cause of the blaze, which caused an estimated $700 in damages was undetermined.

Windows Shine Again As Raise Ends Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Members of Building Service Employes Union, Local 48, return to their jobs with major window-cleaning firms here today under a new wage agreement.

The agreement, approved Sunday by the 275 window washers, calls for a wage increase of 11 cents an hour this year and an additional 10 cents next year. The old rate was $2.25 an hour.

The agreement ends a strike that began Monday.

Questioned In Fire

CLEVELAND (AP) — Arson investigators questioned three youths in connection with a spectacular blaze Saturday night and early Sunday at Puritas Springs Park, an amusement park overlooking Rocky River Valley. An official of the Puritas Land Co., which has purchased the 80-acre park for a housing or apartment development, said damage would run close to $30,000.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale

A Formula For Dealing With Difficulties

A very interesting man I know has overcome a number of difficulties, including some that have been particularly formidable. He is what you might call an expert in handling the difficult. He has worked out techniques for so doing that really seem to work. I asked him to outline his formula for dealing with difficulties. Could he state it simply so that it might be useful to other people? "Sure," he answered, "my formula is simply this. First, sit down with your problem. Study it and see it as it really is. Bring it out of the nebulous. Clarify it. To accomplish this take a piece of paper and systematically write down all the elements of the problem. Then so organize them in an orderly, factual manner, that you can see exactly where you stand in relationship to these elements. In other words, take a problem apart and then you can put it together right."

"THEN," HE continued, "the next step is good, sound praying."

"What do you mean, 'sound praying'?" I asked.

"I mean," he told me, "saying to the Lord—and saying it honestly—that you want to solve the problem not the way you may think it ought to be, but whichever way He wants it to be solved.

"And, finally," he went on, "use sound thinking." By this he meant, "Leave out the emotional factors and get down to the facts of the case. If others are involved decide questions not on who is right but what is right."

I thought this a wonderful formula and told him so. And he told me how he had happened to hit upon it.

He was running a retail store and was having business troubles. His suppliers began to increase their prices and his costs were inching up little by little. He became afraid that his trade wouldn't stand these increases so he began to absorb them himself. Gradually his margin of profit vanished; he began to go into debt. He couldn't see any way out of his troubles.

Being a religious man he said to himself, "I must be praying wrong." He thought deeply about his method of prayer and realized that he had been praying negatively with fear instead of positively with faith. He saw that he had been thinking wrong, too. He had been thinking fear thoughts rather than positive thoughts. This had caused him to run away from economic facts in conducting his business affairs.

AND THEN he found the technique that reversed his situation and brought prosperity out of financial failure. Although he had thought of himself as a religious man, he realized he had been spending all his efforts upon getting, and too little upon giving. As a result he wasn't even getting.

He then remembered one of the greatest spiritual laws, namely: As you give, so shall you receive. So he decided to begin the practice of tithing. He started giving 10 per cent of his income to God through his church. It was mighty little at first because his returns were small, but it's the principle of the act, not the amount, that sets creative forces in motion.

As he changed his ways of praying, thinking and giving, the defeating sense of depression that had settled upon him gradually lifted; creative ideas began to flow freely once again, and soon he found new effective selling techniques that enabled him to revitalize his business. In time he became a successful businessman. From this experience he learned his practical formula that has stood him in good stead ever since.

Anyone can use his formula with profit:

1.—Isolate your problem; break it down into its elements. Get the mystery out of your problem. See it for what it is.

2.—Use "sound praying." Pray for guidance and inner calmness; ask the Lord how He wants the problem solved. That's the only way to be sure you have the right answer.

3.—Depending upon God's guidance, think your problem through, without emotion, and with full regard to the facts. That's "sound thinking."

4.—Give outgoingly and you will stimulate creative results.

Try this formula for yourself and you will be able to handle your difficulties with new skill.

Ailing Boy Enjoys Birthday Event He Wasn't To Reach

SOMERSET, Mass. (AP)—Some time ago doctors said Albert Pineault never would reach his 10th birthday.

So his 10th birthday was an especially gay one Sunday. Mayor John M. Arruda of neighboring Fall River cut the cake and Marines and soldiers gave him presents.

Albert is a victim of muscular dystrophy. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Brosseau of Somerset, have cared for him since birth.

Albert's brother, Roger, 8, suffers from the same illness, but it has not progressed as far as it has with his older brother. He lives with his parents in Fall River.

"Two weeks ago," Mrs. Brosseau said tearfully, "he told me he was ready to go to Heaven."

4 Dropped To Safety As Fire Sweeps Home

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 20-year-old youth caught four children dropped from a second floor window as a family of seven escaped from their burning home here Sunday.

Mrs. Martha Walters dropped her four youngest children, Joe, 11; Catherine, 6, and twins, Mark and Mike, 2, into the arms of a neighbor, Ed Naegele. Then she and two older children, Gary, 18, and Sharon, 16, jumped.

Firemen said the cause of the blaze, which caused an estimated $700 in damages was undetermined.

Windows Shine Again As Raise Ends Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Members of Building Service Employes Union, Local 48, return to their jobs with major window-cleaning firms here today under a new wage agreement.

The agreement, approved Sunday by the 275 window washers, calls for a wage increase of 11 cents an hour this year and an additional 10 cents next year. The old rate was $2.25 an hour.

The agreement ends a strike that began Monday.

Questioned In Fire

CLEVELAND (AP) — Arson investigators questioned three youths in connection with a spectacular blaze Saturday night and early Sunday at Puritas Springs Park, an amusement park overlooking Rocky River Valley. An official of the Puritas Land Co., which has purchased the 80-acre park for a housing or apartment development, said damage would run close to $30,000.

FBI Picks Up German After Hunting 14 Years

CINCINNATI (AP) — "I never was a Nazi and never wanted to go back to Germany under any conditions."

That was the quiet statement in flawless English by a balding one-time German army officer, Lt. Kurt Rossmeisl, sought by the FBI for 14 years.

Rossmeisl, 52 and an expert linguist, said he faded into anonymity in Chicago and stayed there after escaping in August 1945, from prisoner-of-war Camp Butner, N. C. He finally surrendered to the FBI here Sunday. The Immigration and Naturalization Service holds a hearing today on his status.

The FBI turned over Rossmeisl to the Immigration and Naturalization Service, but he was released pending today's hearing. A spokesman for the service said Rossmeisl cannot be charged with illegal entry into the United States because he was properly admitted as a prisoner of war.

The spokesman also said the statute of limitations may have run out on prosecution for Rossmeisl's escape from the POW camp in 1945.

He said he had just returned from a Dutch East Indies plantation when he entered the German army in 1941.

"I was told that was the safest place to be," he said. "I was working in Holland when the Nazis took over the country. I went into the army as a private."

Rossmeisl said he was on kitchen police when a sergeant overheard him translating conversation between a Russian and a Czech.

"The next thing I knew, I was transferred to a language school in Berlin and a short time later commissioned a second lieutenant."

That led to duty as an interpreter in North Africa with Rommel's Akrika Korps. He was captured there.

Rossmeisl was at POW Camp McCain, Miss., for five months from October 1943, and then shifted to Butner.

"When the war was about over," he said, "I decided that I did not want to go back.

"I had received $20 a month as a POW lieutenant and had earned 80 cents a day doing extra work and thought I would use this money to escape with."

He made his way to nearby Danville, Va.

"I bought a new suit of clothes, shaved off my moustache and ditched the glasses," he said.

He headed straight for Chicago, took the name Frank Ellis and took the first of a series of jobs, including punch press operator, bartender, waiter and elevator operator.

Ill health finally ended his shadow life.

"I'm suffering from arthritis," he said, "and was advised to move to Arizona or New Mexico When I got to Cincinnati, I was broke and decided to give up running."

4 County Pupils Attain Ohio State Honor Roll

Two city pupils are among four from Columbiana County who attained the honor roll for the winter quarter at Ohio State University at Columbus.

They are Miss Ethelyn E. Exley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Exley of 1633 Holliday St., and James J. Hodge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Royd J. Hodge, 923 Bradshaw Ave.

Miss Exley is a senior in the school of nursing and was graduated in 1949 from East Liverpool High School.

Reservation Deadline Set For PTA's Dinner

Friday is the deadline for reservations for the annual dinner of the Hancock County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations May 19 at Swaney Memorial Library in New Cumberland.

Dr. Corma Mowrey, director of professional services for the West Virginia Education Association, will be speaker.

Reservations may be made through county PTA organizations or with Joseph Endry, president. The dinner is open to everyone interested in education, Endry said.

Book Reveals Nazis Read Secret Messages In 1941

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nazi Germany read secret U.S. State Department messages in 1941. Diplomatic papers discuss a German claim that spies picked up the messages.

The messages read by the Germans involved American attempts to keep French North Africa out of the Nazi camp. After the Nazis read the messages, Gen. Maxime Weygand lost his job as commander of North Africa for the Vichy government of unoccupied France.

Robert D. Murphy, now undersecretary of state, had sent the messages to Sumner Welles, who was undersecretary then in Washington. At that time, Murphy was counselor of the U.S. Embassy in Vichy.

Murphy told Washington of one explanation given by official informants. They told him the Germans were claiming "they have been kept accurately informed of all Weygand's conversations with us through a 'reliable Washington source.'"

A second possibility was that the Nazis had broken the State Department code. But, Murphy told Washington, his informants said this was not so.

Sunday, after publication of the papers, Murphy sent word to a newsman that he still was convinced the Nazis had not deciphered the code. But he was unable to say how the Germans did get the messages.

Mingo Deaths Believed Murder And Suicide

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Jefferson County authorities today are investigating an apparent murder and suicide. They said a druggist and his wife in nearby Mingo Junction were the victims.

The bodies of Horace Weals, 60, and his wife, Jacqueline, 59, were found slumped across the bed of their apartment Sunday. The wife had a bullet in the back of her head and Weals was shot through the mouth.

Motorist Held In Knife Brawl With Trucker

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—A Dayton motorist was held in jail today after a knife-slashing, teeth-kicking brawl with a truck driver he thought had forced him off a highway.

Senczysynk told state highway patrolmen Battig's car went off U.S. 25 south of Findlay as the motorist tried to pass the truck at a spot where the highway narrowed.

Ten miles further south, the trucker said, Battig flagged him down and stabbed him in the arm with a knife. Senczysynk retreated into his cab and kicked Battig in the face when the motorist broke the glass in the door, the trucker said.

Battig was arrested later by Patrolman John Butler near Beaverdam. He was brought to City Jail here.
